Naval Pact to Win; Vote Is Near

APPROVAL HELD CERTAIN; ACTION TODAY POSSIBLE

Dozen or Less Now Block Way.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 17.—[Special.]—The end of the fight over ratification of the navy limitation treaty is at hand. The vote is now looked for not later than next Tuesday and it may come as early as tomorrow or Saturday.

The treaty limiting the navies of the United States, Great Britain and Japan until Dec. 31, 1936, will be approved by the senate by a large margin over the requisite two-thirds majority. Not more than ten or twelve votes will be cast against it.

By holding the senate in night sessions and invoking cloture as a last resort if necessary, administration leaders plan to bring the debate to an end by Tuesday. It is apparent, however, that the opposition senators are now fighting with their backs to the wall, with Senator Hiram W. Johnson [Rep., Cal.] virtually the only one disposed to go to the last ditch.

This Is Crucial Day.

Tomorrow will be the crucial day for the opposition. If Senator Johnson should be left waging a single handed battle it would be only a question of hours before a vote would be forced.

With the approval, if not at the express direction, of President Hoover the cloture petition, which may be presented tomorrow, was circulated today and signed not only with the 16 names required for its submission, but with nearly the two-thirds majority required for its adoption.

With this instrument for forcing a vote on the treaty held in abeyance for the time being, Senator David A. Reed [Rep., Pa.] served notice in the senate when it adjourned at 5 p. m. that unless an agreement on a date for the vote should be reached in the meantime he will insist on continuous day and night sessions beginning tomorrow, and upon the senate convening at 10 instead of 11 a. m. daily beginning on Saturday.

Decide on Night Sessions.

Earlier in the day the administration leaders had decided to begin night sessions. When Senator Johnson, leader of the treaty opposition, heard of this move he denounced it as an outrage to compel the opposition senators to hold the floor until a late hour tonight in order to gain the delay necessary to enable Senator George H. Moses [Rep., N. H.] to reach Washington. Senator Moses, who was called away by a death in his family and is due back tomorrow morning, has prepared a speech against the treaty which he will deliver as soon as he returns.

Night Sessions Postponed.

Some of the pro-treaty senators also thought the move outrageous. Thereupon Senators Watson, Reed, Charles L. McNary [Rep., Ore.], Arthur H. Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.], Frederic C. Walcott [Rep., Conn.], and Simeon D. Fess [Rep., O.] went into a huddle and decided to postpone until tomorrow night the process of putting the screws on the opposition.

The decision to invoke cloture was reached at a conference between President Hoover and Senator Watson this morning. To meet the anticipated cry of "gag rule" from the opposition the state department issued a statement later in the day showing that 88 days have elapsed since the signing of the London treaty, whereas the Washington navy limitation treaty was approved by the senate 52 days after it was signed. The London treaty was before the foreign relations committee 18 days; the Washington treaty, 17 days. The London treaty has been debated 49½ hours up to date, while the debate on the Washington treaty consumed only 8 hours.

Johnson Opposes Plan.

Majority Leader Watson, as soon as the senate convened, disclosed the new program for speeding up ratification. He asked Senator Johnson if he would consent to limitation of debate beginning next Tuesday. Senator Johnson replied in the negative. Senator Watson accused the opposition of filibustering for the purpose of "dissipating a quorum" which is being held by a slender margin, and warned that to circumvent such

Miss Beulah Owens, 20 year old cashier of W. R. Neumann & Co., wholesale jewelers, on the thirteenth floor of the Butler building at 162 North State street, stepped into the wall vault yesterday afternoon and found herself locked in.

Two clerks in the office could not hear Miss Owens' cries. The interior of the vault is four by six feet, with steel and concrete walls. The imprisoned cashier tapped a burglar alarm and Capt. Daniel Gilbert and Lieut. David Schwartz of the Central district arrived within five minutes.

Lieut. Schwartz couldn't unlock the door, so he cupped his hands, and, placing his lips to the door, shouted:

"Can you give me the combination?"

Miss Owens had been locked in at 5 o'clock. Lieut. Schwartz estimated he must have the cashier out by 6, as the supply of oxygen could not last longer than an hour. It was 5:55 when he received the combination. At 5:58 the door swung open. Miss Owens was lying on the floor, exhausted, but still conscious. She was sent in a taxicab to her home at 4922 West Superior street. Physicians said she would suffer no ill effects.

The southwest wind, which occasionally afflicts Chicago with a spell of sultry weather, blew steadily all day yesterday and the temperature soared in consequence to sweltering altitudes. Cloudy and continued warm was predicted for today.

From the comfortable 60's of early morning, the mercury climbed thirty points, hitting a maximum of 92 between 4 and 5 p. m. The reading remained above 80 last night.

Auguring a continuance of the southwest wind today, the weather man, C. A. Donnel, hoped the heat might be broken by a thunder shower tonight and, if not then, by tomorrow. It is almost certain to be cooler tomorrow, he said.

Belle Gunness, Killer of 15, "Found" Again

La Porte, Ind., July 17.—(AP)—Mrs. Belle Gunness, who 22 years ago was accused of slaying between 15 and 20 men on her farm near here, was arrested today at Jackson, Miss., according to a telegram received at the sheriff's office.

Sheriff to Act Today.

Jackson, Miss., July 17.—(AP)—Sheriff Tom Moore of Hinds county late tonight denied he had arrested Mrs. Belle Gunness, but added that he expected to make the arrest tomorrow afternoon.

JACKSON SHERIFF TALKS.

Sheriff Tom Moore of Hinds county was reached by long distance telephone this morning at his home in Jackson, Miss., and the La porte dispatch read to him.

"Well, suh," drawled the sheriff, "I'm sure sorry that news got out. No, suh, Belle Gunness isn't under arrest. But I know where she is, and I'm a startin' at the crack of dawn to get her. I hope the story isn't printed. If it is she'll read it and escape.

"Yes, I did send a telegram to that sheriff at La Porte, but I wanted him to keep it secret. I've made all my plans. I got an extra tank of gasoline for my car and a road map. I got quite a drive to make.

Farm Hand Brings Clew.

"It was like this. There is a farm hand fellow that used to be a hired hand on Belle's place in Indiana. He's been working around down here, and it seems a few months ago he took a job for a woman who goes by the name of Mrs. J. B. Smith, who lives on a small plantation in Hinds county.

"Well, suh, this fellow, who had always been keepin' a weather eye out for Belle, gets suspicious as soon as he spots the Smith woman. But he says nothin'. Just keeps watchin' and workin'. He makes sure it's Belle. Then he comes to me and says, 'Sheriff, I've found the Gunness woman. I'll take you to her place, you can arrest her, and we'll split the rewards.' So that's how it happened, and we're leavin' in the mornin'."

In was in April of 1908 that discovery was made of the Gunness murder farm, two miles north of La Porte. The house had burned and the authorities, digging for evidence as to the cause of the fire, came across the bodies of several men. Later a private "cemetery" was found with more bodies.

The story, as eventually developed, was that Mrs. Gunness had a mania for killing men. She lured them through promises of marriage in matrimonial papers. Ray Lamphere, her hired man, was arrested and convicted of complicity in the murders. He died in prison.

Mrs. Gunness was at first believed to have died in the fire. As the months passed, however, stories began to circulate that she was alive. She was reported seen a dozen times, but always the stories were repudiated by the facts. She was 49 years old in 1908, which would make her age today 71. The general opinion remains that she was burned to death in the fire.

ROBBERS FIRE HIDDEN GUNS WHEN CAUGHT

Surrender, Then Turn On Captors.

Policeman John Guiltanane was killed and Policeman Anthony P. Wistort seriously wounded early this morning in a gun battle with two bandits they had surprised holding up a garage at 2343 West 111th street.

The policemen were attached to the Morgan Park station flivver squad. An oil station at 115th and Halsted streets had been robbed and they were touring the district in search of a small sedan with only one headlight burning. William Novack, the oil station attendant, had given them a description of the sedan and the bandits.

Find Robbers at Work.

They decided to visit the Morgan Park auto sales agency at the 111th street address and talk with Elisha Alford, colored night porter, on the chance he might have seen the robbers. The policemen drove up to the garage, parked their car outside, and went in.

Alford was standing face to the wall, hands in the air. A robber with gun drawn was searching him. Guiltanane and Wistort covered him with their revolvers and he surrendered without resistance. His partner, waiting outside in the sedan, was also captured.

In the meantime Policeman Fred Jergun, walking past a nearby corner, saw his comrades and hurried over. They asked him to go to the nearest box and ring for the wagon. He left.

Bandits Start Shooting.

Suddenly the bandits drew concealed guns and started shooting. Guiltanane fell dead with bullets in the head and lungs. Wistort was wounded in the abdomen. He was taken to the Little Company of Mary hospital in Evergreen Park, where it was said he probably would die.

Jurgen said he heard the shooting and began running back to the garage. But the bandits were too fleet of foot and were gone when he arrived. In a side pocket of the sedan Sergt. J. J. Kelly of the Morgan Park police found a state automobile license card issued to Andrew Vanosky, 1638 West 63d street. There was also a court probation card issued to Vanosky. Early this morning the police were searching for him.

SLAIN AS HE GOES FOR $10,000 PUT IN A CEMETERY

Monessen, Pa., July 18.—(AP)—An unidentified man was shot to death in a cemetery here early today after he had fatally wounded one of a group of state troopers watching a package containing $10,000 in marked money. The money was placed in the cemetery by W. F. Wright, furniture dealer, recent recipient of a death threat.

As the man entered the cemetery he was seized by Private Charles Stewart of the Pennsylvania state police. As they grappled the man shot the officer. Stewart died a short time later in a hospital.

As the man opened fire on the trooper other officers opened fire and the suspect fell dead.

Several weeks ago Wright received a letter demanding that he place $10,000 in the cemetery or he would be slain. The trap was arranged for this morning.

Five troopers went to the cemetery and lay in ambush. As the man entered the cemetery and moved toward the money he was accosted by Stewart.

Hold Up Couple in Auto and Drive Off with Car

Miss Aldean Gibboney, 20 years old, 1905 North Sawyer avenue, a graduate of the University of Chicago, and Joseph Newton, 21 years old, 3311 Dickens avenue, a graduate of John Marshall Law school, were held up last night while sitting in Newton's car, which was parked in front of the Gibboney home. After taking $1 and a fountain pen from Miss Gibboney and $5 from Newton, the two robbers ordered the couple from the car and drove away in it.

Former Holders to Seek Endurance Title Again

St. Louis, Mo., July 17.—(AP)—Forest O'Brine and Dale Jackson, who recently lost their refueling endurance flight record to the Hunter brothers at Chicago, announced today they would take off from Lambert-St. Louis field Monday at daybreak or shortly thereafter in an attempt to regain the record.

Fire Routs 500 in Gold Coast Apartments

Five hundred residents of 211 East Delaware place, a 17 story apartment building in the heart of the gold coast district, were driven to the street in their night clothing by a fire that filled the structure with smoke early this morning. Crowds from the Drake and other hotels and apartment buildings in the neighborhood watched the guests pouring from the structure with hastily gathered belongings.

Origin of Fire Mystery.

Firemen were undecided as to the origin of the blaze, which they believed might have been caused either by a faulty incinerator in the basement or a short circuit in an elevator shaft generator. The flames were confined to the basement but dense clouds of smoke poured through the building.

Clerks, bellboys, and other hotel employés raced through the corridors pounding on doors to arouse the guests and hustle them to the street. Among the first to be informed of the blaze were Charles H. Henry, owner of the apartments, and his family, who reside in the roof bungalow at the top of the building. Henry joined his staff in giving the alarm in the upper floors.

Elevators Shut Down.

He succeeded in arousing about 60 persons, but they and other tenants living near the top of the building found the elevator service shut off, they said, and were notified to go to the rear of the structure, where they descended by a fire escape. Several women guests were reported to have fainted during the descent and to have been carried to the ground.

For a time firemen feared that some of the tenants would become panic stricken and leap from their windows. Life nets were carried under the walls and the searchlights of automobiles in the surrounding streets were trained on the windows so that the firemen could keep watch.

MILLIONAIRE AND WIFE HELD UP IN EVANSTON HOME

A burglar broke into the residence of George B. Dryden, millionaire rubber manufacturer and sportsman, at 1314 Ridge avenue, Evanston, last night and was interrupted in his prowl when Mr. Dryden, his wife, Ellen, and their guest, Mrs. Martha Mathers, returned from a walk.

The Drydens and their guest returned home about 10 p. m. and spent 15 minutes chatting in the living room before retiring to the sleeping rooms upstairs. Discovering a bureau ransacked, Mrs. Mathers screamed.

At the same instance, Mr. Dryden, entering his room, confronted the burglar, masked and holding a pistol and flash light. He commanded Mr. Dryden to raise his hands and took his wallet containing $50 and a $1,000 diamond ring. Mrs. Dryden stepped in and he took a ring from her, but unintentionally dropped it on the floor instead of into his pocket.

The barking of a dog in the basement hastened his flight. He stepped through a window on the porch roof, leaped 18 feet to the grass and fled. Mr. Dryden pressed a burglar alarm button which brought the police.

Mrs. Charles H. Swift of 209 Lake Shore drive, known on the opera stage as Mme. Claire Dux, was taken to the Presbyterian hospital at 2 o'clock this morning for an emergency operation. She was said to have suffered an acute attack of appendicitis while attending the Ravinia opera.

Her husband, who is vice president of Swift & Co., first took her to the Evanston hospital, where a diagnosis was made. When it was seen that an operation was necessary he decided to remove her to the Presbyterian. It was said she had been subject to similar attacks, though in lighter form.

The Swifts' marriage in 1926 was one of the social events of the year. Mrs. Swift had had a distinguished career with the Chicago Civic Opera company as a lyric soprano and has an international reputation in the opera world.

Siegfried Wagner, Famous Composer's Son, Collapses

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BEYREUTH, Germany, July 17.—At the final dress rehearsal for the Wagner festival performances here today, Siegfried Wagner, son of the famous composer, collapsed from fatigue and was taken to a hospital. Tonight doctors reported a slight improvement. His wife, Winifred, escaped injury when the car she was driving to summon a physician crashed into another machine.

NIGHT PROWLERS LOOT FILES OF MRS. M'CORMICK

BY PARKE BROWN.

Just before the Chicago hearings of the Nye investigating committee came to an indefinite halt yesterday Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, whose expenditures in the Illinois senatorial primary were the subject of testimony for four days, confirmed rumors that her offices at her farm near Byron had been ransacked during the previous night.

Confining her replies to reporters' inquiries to a typewritten statement, she said that the prowlers "were not in search of money or other loot," and that the raid recalled the rifling of the private offices of several United States senators in Washington during recent months.

Nye Comments on Statement.

Chairman Gerald P. Nye, who conducted the Chicago inquiry single handed, was asked if he had any comment to make on Mrs. McCormick's statement after it had been read to him.

"No," he replied, "except to hope that the perpetrators will be caught and punished."

The reporters then tried to find and question the chief investigator for the committee. They were unable to reach him. Earlier in the afternoon a newspaper photographer had sought to snapshot him in the chambers adjoining the federal building court room where the hearings were held. He departed hastily with his hat before his face.

Baldwin Stays Under Cover.

The chief investigator, it was disclosed recently in Washington, is William Hunter Baldwin, former chief of the secret service of the Ku Klux Klan. Following this revelation and the protest of Senator Wagner of New York, Chairman Nye, who selected the committee staff, said that Baldwin would have to go, but later qualified that by saying the klansman had directed the sleuthing in Illinois and would have to be retained for a time because of that.

But during the four days of hearings in Chicago Baldwin did not appear in public. It was rumored repeatedly that he was in the rooms adjoining the hearing room, but efforts of photographers to find him failed day after day. The only time a glimpse of him was caught by one of them was just before reporters started to search for him.

Witness List Exhausted.

The list of witnesses subpœnaed by Chairman Nye and his staff was completely exhausted during the day, there being only a few whom the process servers did not find, and the North Dakota senator announced an indefinite recess in the Illinois inquiry, adding to newspaper men later that hearings here may be resumed about Aug. 8 or 10.

Much of the final day of the first series of hearings was devoted to tracing two checks of Col. Robert R. McCormick, which Chairman Nye said puzzled him. The first of these was the check for $2,500 sent to Mrs. McCormick last September, the proceeds of which were said to have been turned over to the Illinois Young People's Republican Clubs. The second was a check for $10,000, dated April 1, 1930, which Mrs. McCormick said she had cashed, retaining the money for her fall campaign, and therefore omitting the item from her accounting on the primary campaign.

Ward Committeemen Testify.

Most of the other testimony consisted of the examination of more Republican ward committeemen who, in series, denied they had received any campaign funds from Mrs. McCormick or her representatives.

But the last two witnesses of the day and of this stage of the inquiry were officials of the Commonwealth Edison company, a utility company controlled by Samuel Insull, whose large contributions to Frank L. Smith were responsible for the latter's being barred from the United States senate.

Chairman Nye already had said that the inquiry was about to close temporarily, and had announced the order in which the witnesses would be called. The final names on the roll were those of Edward J. Doyle, president of Commonwealth Edison, and James Cummings, assistant treasurer of the company. As Mr. Doyle's name was called a hush fell over the crowded courtroom.

In the unusual stillness the utility president advanced to the witness chair and was sworn. There were some preliminary questions and then this exchange:

Q.—Did you contribute to the campaign fund of any candidate for the United States senate? A.—No, sir.

Q.—Were you or the Commonwealth Edison company solicited by any candidate to contribute to a campaign fund? A.—No, sir.

Q.—Were contributions solicited by any agent or representative of any candidate? A.—No, sir.

Cummings Also Questioned.

There were a few more questions of the same sort answered in the same way. President Doyle was excused and Assistant Treasurer Cummings was called. He was asked approximately the same questions and gave exactly the same answers.

Then Chairman Nye called the name of Harold M. Beach. There was no answer. Mr. Beach was a candidate last April for the Democratic nomination for the senate. He received 12,868 votes. All of the other four candidates for the place ran ahead of him, the winner, James Hamilton Lewis, receiving 247,420 votes.

It was rumored around the court room that Mr. Beach had recommended the summoning of the Commonwealth Edison officials, but confirmation of the report could not be obtained from the committee's representatives.

Mrs. McCormick's Statement.

Mrs. McCormick's statement concerning the ransacking of her farm offices was as follows:

"My private offices at Rock River farms near Byron, Ill., were raided last night by men who broke in and made a thorough search of my correspondence files. Entrance was gained by cutting a screen and then forcing a window catch.

"In order to enter the men had to step on a window box in which geraniums are growing. The earth in this box was very moist and the raiders tracked mud over the floor over my private office in their search of my files.

"The raiders also broke a window pane in the office of my farm superintendent, Mr. H. W. Allyn, and unlocked the window. They made a less thorough search of Mr. Allyn's papers and correspondence.

She Employs Detectives.

"I have no clew to the perpetrators, but have employed detectives. The building in which my office is is not far from the foot of the hill upon which my home is located. Two of my children are now at the farm, awaiting the time when I can take them west on a long deferred vacation.

"Naturally the raid of last night has alarmed the household and I have two watchmen engaged to patrol the grounds around my home. I am also taking steps to have my Chicago offices in the London Guaranty building carefully guarded.

"The outrage of last night recalls the experience of several United States senators who have recently arisen on the floor of the senate to complain that their private offices in the senate office building have been broken into.

"The raiders last night were not in search of money or other loot because they did not break into the steel case in Mr. Allyn's office, contenting themselves with an examination of my correspondence."

Recalled to Hearing Stand.

Recalled to the stand at the Nye hearing in connection with Col. McCormick's $10,000 check, Mrs. McCormick said that she had directed that it be cashed and the money brought to her. She did not know at which bank it was presented and Chairman Nye then directed himself to the fact that it had been cashed at the Calumet National bank in the southern section of the city.

Later Lester B. Masters, vice president of the Calumet bank, appeared with records of the institution showing that the check had been cashed but including no item showing to whom the currency was handed. He said there was no way of establishing that fact officially from the bank's books.

In her testimony on this point Mrs. McCormick said that when the cash was given to her she put it aside with other late contributions she intended to use in her campaign next November.

"I talked with Col. McCormick and told him I was paying every cent of my own primary expenses," she explained," and he said: "Very well. Keep it and use it in the fall campaign."

Wait for Mrs. Reinecke.

The testimony concerning Col. McCormick's check made out to Mrs. McCormick for $2,500 last September indicated that she had turned the proceeds over to Mrs. Mabel G. Reinecke, now a member of the election board but prior to her appointment considered Mrs. McCormick's political right hand. John W. Rodgers, Mrs. McCormick's financial secretary, said that he cashed the check and turned the proceeds over to Mrs. Reinecke to be given later to one of the campaign auxiliary organizations.

On Oct. 4 Mrs. Reinecke handed to Clarence Avildsen, treasurer of the Illinois Young People's Republican clubs, the check of George W. Reinecke, her husband, without any statement whether the contribution came from any other source. It was credited on Mr. Avildsen's books to Mr. Reinecke.

A subpoena had been issued for Mrs. Reinecke and when Chairman Nye was notified she could not be found he announced the hearing would be recessed at the close of the day until she has been found.

Later, just before the final recess, he referred to this statement, saying he had lost part of his temper.

"I never have tried so diligently," he said, "as I have this week to be fair in the performance of the duty I saw as mine under the senate resolution."

Inquiry following the adjournment disclosed that Mr. and Mrs. Reinecke are believed to be on their ranch in Montana, where they spend their summer vacations.

Crowe and De Priest on Stand.

Among the fourth day witnesses were Robert E. Crowe, former state's attorney; State Representative Lottie Holman O'Neill, Speaker David E. Shanahan, Congressman Oscar De Priest, and Warren B. Douglas, a Deneen ward leader.

As ward committeemen, Mr. Crowe and Congressman De Priest said they had received no campaign funds for their own battles from Mrs. McCormick. Mrs. O'Neill said she thought Mrs. McCormick's workers in Du Page county had considerable money. She has attacked Mrs. McCormick publicly on several occasions. Attorney Douglas, now on the sanitary district pay roll, said the De Priest organization in the Third ward spent considerable money.

Speaker Shanahan Excused.

Speaker Shanahan's examination began on the subject of the 1928 state campaign which he managed, but when Mrs. McCormick called attention to the fact that she was a candidate for congress in that year and not for senator Mr. Shanahan was excused after saying that he believed she did not contribute to the 1928 campaign committee's funds.

Other witnesses who testified were Attorney Harry Biossat, T. S. O'Donnell, James Brockett, Joseph Doolittle and Reuben Kauffman, who were examined only briefly and then excused. Another group included John R. Palandech, manager of Mrs. McCormick's advertising in foreign language papers. August Fertig testified that Mrs. McCormick had been charged far above the usual rates for advertising in the foreign language papers.

Senator Norris May Run for Office as Independent

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

Washington, D. C., July 17.—[Special.]—Senator George W. Norris [Rep., Neb.], who bolted the Hoover ticket in 1928, is prepared to battle for reelection in November as an independent.

A ruling today by the secretary of state in Nebraska adverse to the protest against the candidacy of another George W. Norris, a grocery clerk, for the Republican senatorial nomination, is expected to mean an announcement tomorrow by Senator Norris of his withdrawal as a Republican candidate. Tomorrow is the last day for the filing of withdrawals for the Aug. 12 primary.

If Senator Norris runs as an independent it will mean a three-cornered contest in November, with William M. Stebbins, present state treasurer, as the probable Republican nominee and former Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock, who was chairman of the foreign relations committee during the Wilson administration, as the probable Democratic nominee. The fight is certain to attract nation-wide attention, as the defeat of Senator Norris would remove from the senate the recognized leader of the radical group.

May Lose Committee Power.

Even if Senator Norris should be reelected his power might be curtailed considerably, as his election as an independent would give excuse for refusal to recognize his seniority as a Republican on committees. Despite his irregularity, the Republican regulars have permitted him to hold the chairmanship of the important committee on judiciary, in which capacity he placed the Democratic-radical coalition in control of the Caraway lobby committee.

While reports from Nebraska indicate that the regular Republicans there are disturbed over the possibility that the Norris independent candidacy may injure their state ticket in November, the regulars in the senate are shedding no tears over the situation. Admittedly former Senator Hitchcock will have a better chance of election than the Republican senatorial nominee, but the Republican senate regulars probably would prefer Hitchcock to Norris, who is consistently anti-administration.

Until the present complication arose Senator Norris had been regarded as certain of reelection. Two or three years ago Senator Norris announced that he did not intend to be a candidate. He is 69 years of age, is nearing the end of his third six year term in the senate, and previously served ten years in the house, where he was a leader in the successful movement for the overthrow of "Cannonism." When reports were circulated that administration leaders were preparing to make a primary fight against him if he ran, Senator Norris announced that he did not propose to run away from a fight.

Considerable mystery attaches to the candidacy of the second George W. Norris, who is 32 years of age and has been employed in a chain grocery store in Broken Bow.

Young Candidate Disappears.

Young Norris, after filing his petition as a candidate, is reported to have quit his job and left with his wife and two young children for parts unknown. Before doing so he mailed a statement to the newspapers in which he said if elected he would support the Republican administration. There was a question as to whether his petition was filed early enough, but today's ruling settled the controversy. If Senator Norris were to remain as a primary candidate it would mean that two George W. Norrises would be on the Republican ballot, with consequent confusion and a splitting of votes and possible nomination of Stebbins, the candidate of the regulars.

Senator Norris stated definitely today that he did not propose to carry the matter into the courts, and there was every indication that he would announce tomorrow his withdrawal as a Republican candidate and his intention to file as an independent.

Senate Agents in Nebraska.

Lincoln, Neb., July 17.—(AP)—Attorney General C. A. Sorensen today said two agents for the United States senate campaign funds committee were in Nebraska gathering information for future inquiries by the committee.

He said one of the men had gone to Broken Bow, Neb., the home of George W. Norris, a grocery man who entered the Republican primary campaign for the senatorial nomination in opposition to Senator George W. Norris.

EARL CARROLL, THREE OF CAST HELD FOR TRIAL

New York, July 17.—[Special.]—Earl Carroll, sometimes referred to as the "knight of the bathtub," two of the featured show girls in his current "Vanities" and Jimmie Savo, his star comedian, must face trial before the justices of Special Sessions on charges of presenting a lewd, indecent and obscene theatrical performance.

Six other show girls arrested when the police raided the New Amsterdam theater, where the "Vanities" is playing, were freed of the "indecency" charges in Essex Market Magistrate's court today.

The girls held for trial with Carroll and Savo by Magistrate Maurice Gotlieb are Faith Bacon, who, the police testified, danced in the "Vanities" clad only in two waving ostrich feather fans, and Kay Carroll, the 22 year old actress who had a featured rôle in the much discussed "show window" scene of the revue.

Magistrate Gotlieb listened to testimony by Acting Police Captain James Coy, who directed the raid on the New Amsterdam, and to arguments by the array of defense counsel during two sessions of the hearing last week and early this week. Then he ordered the defense attorneys to submit briefs.

Magistrate Gotlieb, after announcing his decision, placed Carroll under $500 bail and continued the $500 bail under which Savo, Miss Bacon and Miss Carroll already were held. Carroll had been released in custody of his attorney after his arrest.

"I have examined very carefully the brief which was submitted to me so ably by counsel for the defense," Magistrate Gotlieb said. "This case has to do with the presentation of pictures whose principal characters are nude women.

"The acts testified to here concerned lewdness and indecency upon a public stage. It may be that the defendants will exonerate themselves before a higher court."

"U. S. of Europe" is Needless, British Reply to French

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 17.—French Foreign Minister Briand's proposed United States of Europe is "unnecessary and possibly a dangerous institution."

This is the view expressed by England in the reply which will be presented to the French government tonight by Lord Tyrrell, British ambassador to Paris.

The London government expresses the belief that M. Briand's purposes could be more effectively advanced by fitting the French proposals into the framework of the league of nations.

The publication of the British reply tonight caused a general surprise for, in addition to the well mannered rhetoric which diplomatic circles believed was all the note comprised, London makes several concrete suggestions.

Doesn't Want to Offend U. S.

The note accentuated, however, that the reply is "purely tentative pending careful and prolonged consideration and consultation with the governments of the commonwealth."

That England has no intention of offending the United States by allying herself with any such organization is clearly shown.

"His majesty's government thinks that it is possible that an exclusive and independent European union of the kind proposed might emphasize or create tendencies towards intercontinental rivalries and hostilities, which it is important in the general interest to diminish and avoid," the document says. "It is essential that measures taken for closer European coöperation should not cause the anxiety or resentment of any other continent."

The reply opens with the conventional tribute to the Briand proposal, stating that Great Britain sympathizes with any effort to strengthen safeguards against war and hopes that the French government may bring about a better understanding among the nations. But the document continues that England is not confident that "a mature examination will show that the establishment of a new and independent international institution is either necessary or desirable."

"Would Hurt League's Efficiency"

The reply goes on to say:

"Since the organs of the league of nations have already begun work on virtually the whole of a program of practical action, which the memorandum puts forward, it is difficult to see how these new European institutions could operate without creating confusion and perhaps rivalry which, however little it might be intended or desired, could hardly fail to diminish both the efficiency and the authority of the league of nations."

In closing the British reply suggests that France place the proposals on the agenda of the next league assembly in order that it may be discussed by all governments.

BRUNDIDGE WILL GO BEFORE GRAND JURORS TUESDAY

Rumor Examiner Reporter Will Be Named.

$55,825 IN REWARDS.

Rewards totaling $55,825 are offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer of Alfred Lingle, Tribune reporter. Of the $25,000 reward offered by The Tribune, $10,000 will be paid to any person who will give confidential information identifying the slayer of Lingle. All information should be sent to the headquarters established by State's Attorney Swanson in Room 503 Temple building, 77 West Washington street. Telephone State 3729.

Harry T. Brundidge, reporter for the St. Louis Star, notified the Cook county grand jury yesterday that he would appear before the jury next Tuesday to give testimony concerning his charges that certain Chicago newspaper men have been engaged in racketeering enterprises.

One of the newspaper men who will be named by Brundidge, according to reports which were current yesterday, is Ted Tod, crime reporter for the Chicago Herald and Examiner.

Investigators have reported that Tod, while employed by the Herald and Examiner to cover the Criminal courts building and the office of State's Attorney Swanson, was also on the pay roll of the Fairview-Kenwood club, the dog track operated by George [Bugs] Moran, notorious gang leader.

Blamed in Lingle Plot.

Moran, chieftain of the band which included the seven men slain in the St. Valentine's day massacre in 1929, is known as a deadly enemy of "Scarface Al" Capone. Moran also has been generally charged, along with various of his followers, with plotting the murder of Alfred (Jake) Lingle, reporter for THE TRIBUNE.

The name of Tod, Herald and Examiner reporter, brings an addition to the list of Chicago newspaper men who thus far have been reported as involved in the testimony which Brundidge is expected to give to the grand jury. Other newspaper men whose names have been mentioned in connection with Brundidge's expected testimony are Leland H. Reese, gang reporter for the Chicago Daily News, and Harry Read, city editor of the Chicago Evening American. Brundidge is also expected to reveal the facts which prompted him to write a story charging that Julius Rosenheim, murdered paid informant of the Daily News, was killed because he had been exacting tribute from gangsters and gamblers, under threat of exposing them in the columns of the Daily News.

Lives on Lake Shore Drive.

Tod, according to the reports of investigators, lives at 1400 Lake Shore drive, a cooperative apartment building tenanted mostly by families of considerable wealth. How the reporter maintains such a luxurious residence was not made plain.

Reports are to the effect that Tod frequently entertains on a somewhat lavish scale, serving liquor which he has told guests was provided by Bugs Moran.

Tod's joint employment by the Herald and Examiner and the gangster Moran existed, the investigators asserted, at a time when State's Attorney Swanson was engaged in a campaign to close the various dog tracks in Cook county, and particularly the Fairview dog track operated by Bugs Moran.

Raids on Dog Tracks.

The state's attorney was then directing a series of raids on the tracks, collecting evidence of gambling and fraud, and was appearing frequently in the courts, to which Moran had applied for an injunction to restrain Mr. Swanson from continuing his prosecutions.

At this time, according to the investigators, John Northup, first assistant state's attorney, who was in charge of the matter, found it necessary to guard against his plans being learned by Tod, in the fear that the plans would be revealed to the operators of the dog track.

Tod's connection with the track, it is reported, was that of publicity agent. He sent out entries for the races to the daily papers, and also took care of advertising, preparing this material and delivering it to the newspaper offices.

The Herald and Examiner reporter was also engaged nights at the track, and he had access to the betting rings, appearing to be engaged in figuring up the odds on the different dogs in races, it is said.

During this time Tod held frequent conferences with William O'Brien, an official of the track, and with Bugs Moran himself, it is reported.

Foreman Gets Message.

The message saying that Brundidge would appear before the grand jury next Tuesday was received by Bernard De Vry, foreman of the jury.

State's Attorney Swanson, in an interview with newspaper men yesterday, was asked whether he had any objection to the grand jury calling as witnesses former Police Commissioner Russell and former Chief of Detectives Stege. Reports have been circulated by some of the Chicago newspapers that the grand jury plans to call Russell and Stege and others in the hope of obtaining information in the murder of Lingle.

"I regard that question as somewhat insulting," Mr. Swanson retorted. "I cannot object to any witness being called. But I have the promise of the grand jury, given after it had taken a vote in the matter, that it will not call anybody if it might in any way be a hindrance to the investigation of the Lingle murder.

"Would Avoid Questioning."

"However, if a witness is called who might give testimony of material benefit which might harm my investigation if the testimony were to become public, I would ask the grand jury not to question him at this time."

Answering published rumors that Charles F. Rathbun, member of THE TRIBUNE law firm and assistant state's attorney in charge of the investigation, had objected to the grand jury calling witnesses, Mr. Swanson said no such objection had been made. Mr. Rathbun had called upon another matter entirely, and voiced no comment on the calling of witnesses by the grand jury, the state's attorney said.

Report on Foster Train.

Associated Press dispatches yesterday carried the information that the train on which Frank Foster, Chicago gangster under indictment for the murder of Lingle, is being returned here from Los Angeles had stopped at Albuquerque, N. M., yesterday afternoon, but that Foster was not allowed to leave the train.

The dispatch said Foster's wife, who had boarded the same train despite the secrecy supposed to have surrounded Foster's departure, strolled out upon the platform during the stop at Albuquerque, but declined to make any comment.

ENGLISH BARMAID IS "BOTH A LADY AND A BARRIER TO DRY LAW"

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, July 17.—As long as England has her barmaids, there will be no prohibition here, Councillor Joseph Wilson of Sunderland today told a member of the royal commission on licensing. He was replying to an opinion expressed by Sir Herbert Lawrence, chairman of Vickers, Ltd., that the barmaid's presence did much to attract young men who otherwise wouldn't visit public houses.

"The English barmaid is a lady," Wilson gallantly asserted, "and forms a real barrier in this country against prohibition. An Englishman is a decent drinker and traditionally respects women.

"But," he added, "the Scotchman isn't so fine—hence the well nigh total absence of barmaids in Scotland."

At least one observer, however, forwarded the suggestion that Scotland's scarcity of barmaids may be accounted for by the scarcity of tips.

MORELAND WINS OVER MICHAELSON AS RECOUNT ENDS

Check "Leaky Trunk" in Congress Race.

James C. Moreland, defeated in election returns for the Republican nomination for congressman from the Seventh district, yesterday was declared the winner by the board of election commissioners after the final tabulation of figures in the recount of the April vote. Moreland's lead over Congressman M. A. "Leaky Trunk" Michaelson was placed at 555 votes in the recount.

The figures announced by the canvassing board show Moreland made a net gain of 611 votes to offset the 56 vote margin which the original returns gave Michaelson. In the canvass of all precincts Moreland gained 544 votes and lost 320, while Michaelson gained only 386 votes, while losing 773, for a net loss of 387 votes.

Made in Precincts He Chose.

All of Moreland's gains were made in the first three days of the recount when 199 precincts were counted. Moreland last night said his gains were made in the precincts which he picked out. In fifty precincts which the Michaelson forces chose to test the need of a recount the result gave Moreland a gain of 10 votes.

Next week the report of the canvassers will be given to Circuit Judge Friend, who ordered the recount. It is expected he will then direct the election commissioners to issue a certificate of election to Moreland. According to Chairman Maguire of the election board, Judge Friend's decision will be final.

Predict Court Action.

There are still 400 contested ballots to be examined, but these will in no way change Moreland's standing, according to his attorney, Cornelius J. Harrington.

As the result of the discrepancies and indications of fraud, the election board is compiling a list of judges and clerks in the precincts showing the most errors, as it is regarded probable that they will be summoned into court when the report of the recount is submitted to the court.

The canvass showed that part of the ballots chalked up for Michaelson had not been marked on congressman, the recount showing 76 ballots blank on this place.

King Alfonso Unhurt as Autos Crash in London

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 17.—King Alfonso of Spain had a narrow escape from injury in Hyde Park today while hurrying to a farewell luncheon with King George and Queen Mary at Buckingham palace. The accident occurred when the rear bumper of his car caught in the front fender of a small automobile driven by a woman. Flying glass showered the king, but he was unhurt. The woman also escaped without injury

EXPECT TO PAY CITY TEACHERS BY TOMORROW

Officials Hope to Sell Tax Warrants to Bankers.

Hope that the 13,000 Chicago teachers and the civil service employés of the board of education will be given salary checks, now three weeks overdue, late today or early tomorrow was expressed last night by President Caldwell of the school board. Funds for the pay roll will be obtained from the sale of $7,000,000 in 1930 tax anticipation warrants.

The total needed for all salaries to July 31 is $4,606,000. The board has $3,326,820 in cash for salary purposes. This morning $43,000 tuition from summer schools will be added to the educational fund. Yesterday $12,000,000 for the redemption of 1928 tax anticipation warrants became available and little doubt was felt that bankers would be willing to accept the 1930 warrants to replace those redeemed.

Meyers Expects Sale.

Lewis E. Meyers, chairman of the special committee handling the pay roll, said, after negotiating all day with Chicago bankers, that definite word would be received today, and he believed the sale would be effected. Caldwell said all the facilities of the board's business office will be held ready and within two hours of the receipt of notification of sale all checks will be mailed.

The city police and firemen will be paid today from money taken from miscellaneous revenues and special funds. Indications were that the other city employés will have to wait for their pay until after the July 29 meeting of the council when the aldermen will pass tax levy ordinances permitting the sale of additional 1930 tax warrants.

Will Return $39,000,000.

Silas H. Strawn, chairman of the citizens' committee, yesterday notified investors who pledged $74,000,000 for the financial relief of local governmental bodies early this year through the Cook County Taxpayers' Warrant trust, that 75 per cent of the principal advanced by them on 1930 tax anticipation warrants will be returned at once. Payment will be made on presentation and indorsement of certificates at the Chicago Title and Trust company.

Of the relief sum $53,000,000 was invested in 1928 tax anticipation warrants by the management committee. The 75 per cent to be returned will amount to approximately $39,000,000. All of the 1928 warrants purchased by the warrant trust have been sold, Mr. Strawn said. There is now in the fund $8,500,000 worth of county warrants for 1929 and 1930 and $4,400,000 of school warrants for 1930.

To Sell $3,000,000 Warrants.

An arrangement for the sale of $3,000,000 in 1928 tax anticipation warrants to the Foreman-State National bank was announced yesterday by City Treasurer Peterson. This money will not be used to pay city employés, as it belongs to a number of bond and special funds.

The city received $15,000,000 in 1928 taxes from County Treasurer Harding yesterday. This fund was used to retire $11,000,000 worth of outstanding 1928 tax warrants and most of the remainder will be used for the same purpose in the next few days. The city so far has received $43,000,000 from the 1928 taxes.

WOMAN SLEUTH IS SLAIN; $7,000 IN GEMS MISSING

Saugus, Mass., July 17.—[Special.]—A pouch containing $7,000 worth of jewels which Mrs. Edith Thompson, 51 years old, widely known Boston detective, had worn about her neck since her dead sweetheart had bequeathed them to her, was missing today when police found the body of the woman in her home, apparently a victim of a murdering robber. Her body, crushed and battered, was found in the sun parlor of her Saugus home by Chief of Police Roland Mansfield.

Police were looking tonight for Bernard Thompson, 22, a nephew of the woman, who was the last person seen with her.

Mrs. Thompson was granted a divorce from a man named Wright in 1904 and resumed her maiden name of Edith Thompson.

Paris "Play Boy" Accused of $500,000 Fraud by Woman

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, July 17.—A Venezuelan society boy, Lauriano Carlos Villanueva, occupying the dual job of commercial attaché to the Venezuelan legation and counter clerk at the National City bank's Paris branch, today was accused by a Mme. Gomez, also of Venezuela, of defrauding her, as well as her mother and several friends, out of $500,000.

Villanueva was last seen July 7, when he was reported to have taken a train to Spain. His wife and daughter disappeared from their apartment a fortnight before. The department of justice has begun an inquiry.

The counselor of the Venezuela legation, Señor Gardenas, complained at the bank the day after Villanueva's disappearance that his account was lacking several thousand francs, and when he was confronted with checks against withdrawals, he alleged they were forged.

Acted as Financial Adviser.

Then Mme. Gomez and her friends produced deposit slips for huge sums, which the bank recognized as spurious. The investigation discloses that Villanueva acted as adviser to the women in investments, market speculations, and depositing their funds. He was reported a daily visitor at Wall street brokerage agencies here, where he played the market heavily.

He was also a member of several gambling clubs, including Le Cercle Haussman, where, it is stated, he lost heavily almost every night at baccarat.

On instructions from the Venezuelan legation the ministry of foreign affairs today lifted diplomatic immunity from him and a search throughout Europe has been started for the missing man.

He is the son of a former Venezuelan chargé d'affaires here. He is known to have entertained lavishly, giving banquets to members of South and Central American diplomatic corps.

Bank Makes Statement.

New York, July 17.—(AP)—The National City bank today issued the following statement regarding the disappearance in Paris of Lauriano Carlos Villanueva, an official in their Latin-American department in the Paris branch:

"We are advised by our Paris office that following the unexplained disappearance of one of their employés, who hitherto had borne an excellent reputation, reputed irregularities have been reported to them in the employé's financial dealings with certain personal clients of his. The amount involved appears to be close to $500,000. From the report received at head office it does not appear that the bank is liable. If liability should develop it is covered by insurance."

3 FINGER JACK NAMED IN NEW GUN INDICTMENT

CRIMINAL COURT.

Frank Masi and Leroy Thedens, larceny, sentenced to 1 year each in the Bridewell by Judge D. J. Normoyle.

Alese Redding, murder, sentenced 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary by Judge Peter Schwaba.

William J. (Three Fingered Jack) White, former convict and business agent for the coal teamsters' union, was named in a new indictment for carrying concealed weapons yesterday. His bond was set at $10,000 on the new indictment. A similar indictment against him has been pending for several months and the case is scheduled to go to trial next week.

Sergt. Fred Molkentine, who arrested White in Riverside Tuesday night, was the main witness before the grand jury. He told of finding White, who is listed as one of the 28 public enemies by the Chicago crime commission, in an automobile carrying a .45 caliber revolver. White was intoxicated.

JURY IN BEGLEY TRIAL LOCKED UP WITHOUT VERDICT

Apparently deadlocked after six and a half hours of deliberation, the jury in the trial of Police Sergt. William Begley, who is charged with trying to extort $500 from Jean Hassewer, a cabinet maker, was locked up for the night at 10 o'clock last night.

It is charged that Begley demanded money from Hassewer for the promise of "protecting" him from arrest after the cabinet maker had invested money in a scheme to make counterfeit money. Before the case had reached the trial stage Hassewer was found slain in his shop at 5642 Lake Park avenue.

If he is found guilty Begley faces a prison term of one to five years and a fine of $1,000. Assistant State's Attorney C. Wayland Brooks prosecuted the case.

GETS $125 IN HOLDUP.

Three men robbed a haberdashery at 6647 Belmont avenue early last night and escaped with $125. Julian Segil, 2737 Arthur avenue, the owner, and two clerks were forced to lie on the floor.

DR. SHAW FINDS TREE SITTING IS NORMAL URGE

City Seeks Police Cure for Marathons.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

The criminal law and sociology introduced new angles yesterday into the epidemic of tree sitting marathons in which a couple of hundred boys of Chicago and the middle west are participating.

While the Chicago contingent cooked uncomplainingly in the top of the family tree under a beating sun Assistant Corporation Counsel Carl J. Appell thumbed the pages of the Smith-Hurd Illinois revised statutes of the criminal code in search of a cure for tree sitting, which the police might apply. At the same time Clifford R. Shaw, head of the department of research sociology for the Institute of Juvenile Research, was reaching a sociological conclusion.

But fathers and mothers, who know something about boys as well as the law, the new psychology, and such, were calmly, and with some amusement, permitting their sons to continue to sit. And the boys themselves were eagerly watching their records climb—hours mounting to 45, to 50, to 65, and on.

Finds Its Normal Attitude.

Dr. Shaw inclined to take tree sitting as normal behaviorism.

"The tree sitting epidemic is interesting sociologically," said Dr. Shaw, "because it shows a pattern set, and other people emulating it. Lindbergh and the Hunter brothers set the flying patterns and the younger boys take it up. The same is true of racketeers. The 'big shots' are imitated.

"Therefore, tree sitting gives status and recognition and social satisfaction with the public focused upon it. It is a social experience. Just sitting up a tree means nothing, but when it comes before the public it has a significant meaning."

Unknowing and not caring what the fuss among the elders is all about, Chicago's boys went ahead with their own plans. New types of marathons joined the old. A pony riding endurance contest got under way in Harvey bicycle endurance marathons multiplied. And from New York to Kansas City and south to New Orleans, came word that see-sawing, transcontinental journeys by autos in reverse, and flag pole sittings are threatening the popularity of tree sitting.

Uses Three Mounts for Test.

Grinning under a wide straw hat, Joe "Shorty" Sebock, 10 years old, of 14726 Wood street, Harvey, son of Mrs. Mary Sernik, rode round and round a mile stretch at Sunrise farm on his pony, "Beauty," in the hope of setting a pony riding endurance record. He rode four hours, changed to a fresh steed, either "Spot" or "Dynamite," and continued another four hours of his ride. At noon yesterday he had traveled 150 miles and was expecting to earn a $2 bet that he wouldn't stick from Wednesday noon till today.

While a bicycle rider pedaled merrily on in the 4900 block on South Artesian avenue last night, the hours mounted. At 8 p. m. 510 miles had been recorded after 55 hours. The riders are Robert Klein, 13; George Hoffman, 13, and Victor Preisinger, 15, of 4931, 3958, and 5009 South Artesian avenue.

Six Boys Challenge Records.

Six boys were attempting to endanger that record at Lawrence avenue and Whipple street with a mechanic, Charles Brick, 13 years old. They are Robert Flanigan, 13, of 3037 Lawrence avenue; Richard Allen, 14, of 4728 North Whipple street; Jerome Brick, 14, of 4729 North Whipple street; Jack Chilver, 13 of 4745 North Whipple street, and Andrew and Frank Berlakovich, 12 and 15 years old. They had gone 30 hours at 8 p. m.

The old timers among the tree sitters declared they were as enthusiastic as when they first climbed into their nests. After 59 hours at 8 p. m. Harold Simpson, 13, of 6235 Wabansia avenue, and Carl Carlson, 11, of 1635 North Merrimac avenue, were planning to stay aloft two weeks.

Curtis Freeland, 12, of 820 South Maple street, Oak Park, sat on after 60 hours.

Boys' Endurance Contests Grip East Like a Plague

New York, July 17.—[Special.]—Mild insanity spread like a plague through the east's juveniles today and half the boys in short pants were by noon engaged in some sort of an endurance contest.

The Hackensack, N. J., boys' bicycle endurance team completed 258 hours behind the handle bars this afternoon and still was going strong.

Dozens of boys are out for records for sitting in trees. In one county of New Jersey alone—Camden county—no fewer than thirty boys are perched in trees "for the rest of the summer or longer."

Pulled Down by Police.

In Stamford, Conn., a fifteen year old boy started a new contest with disastrous results.

The Stanford boy was Joe Donnelly, who had a chum handcuff him to a tree with the intention of seeing how long he could remain there. He explained his ambitions to the police, but they weren't sympathetic.

Indeed, one of them suggested that the only competition which remains to be taken up was a parents' endurance spanking contest. It would be an endurance contest to end endurance contests. They took Joe down.

Move to Other Towns.

Following the lead of the Hackensack team, youngsters in all parts of New Jersey had set their wheels in motion to the consternation of parents and police in some cities.

Five Newark boys who were forced to straighten out their handlebars and move out of town, were doing their stuff in Irvington, where the police don't care. Some fifty Newark residents, however, have petitioned that they be allowed to return. The boys at noon had ridden 140 hours.

Some of the tree sitters have announced their determination of remaining aloft until school opens in September.

Rival Tree Sitters Sit On.

Galesburg, Ill., July 17.—[Special.]—Determined to outdo all competing groups in other cities, two rival tree sitting endurance crews went into the third day of their contest here this afternoon. Charles Hanlin, 16, and John Meiers, 12, make up one group, while in another part of town Harrison Gates, 16, and Rex Holcomb, 15, who started a few hours after the former crew Tuesday, are holding down another lofty retreat. Playmates form the refueling crew that passes up food. The boys are chained to their seat in the trees each night.

Police May Halt Tree Sitters.

East St. Louis, Ill., July 17.—(AP)—City authorities here today were investigating the possibility of putting an end to the tree sitting activities of boys and girls who have "taken off" with the determination to remain aloft until school starts. Twenty-seven boys and one girl were perched on tree limbs today. The tree sitters have attracted large crowds, especially at night, resulting in considerable traffic congestion.

Tree Sitter Crashes.

Fort Worth, Tex., July 17.—(AP)—Oscar Fox, 15, tree sitting endurancer, crashed today. Asleep, he fell 15 feet from his perch and was taken to a hospital with two broken ribs and other injuries.

Falls from Tree; Injured.

Whitewater, Wis., July 17.—[Special.]—The first casualty among tree sitters was claimed here today when Junior Dunham, 9, contestant, while climbing a tree in an endurance contest fell and fractured his arm. He narrowly missed his refueling crew who stood under the tree with a basket of provisions.

MINERS, OWNERS IN ANTHRACITE FIELDS AGREE

New York, July 17.—[Special.]—After a six hour battle behind closed doors the operators' and anthracite miners' conference reached a tentative agreement at the anthracite institute tonight on a new compact affecting 150,000 hard coal miners, which, when ratified, will be effective from Sept 1, this year, until April 1, 1936.

The agreement, which will be submitted tomorrow to the full scale committee of the miners, concedes to the miners a modified form of dual checkoff, calling for the collection of $12 a year per miner. In exchange the operators obtained a modification of what they term the "arbitration clause" in the old agreement, dealing with the fixing of wage scales.

The tentative draft will be resubmitted to the joint conference tomorrow to be put into final form, should it be approved by the miners' full scale committee.

BOY, 6, DIES OF BURNS,

Six year old Warren Katz, 5529 North Menard avenue, died yesterday at his home of burns incurred on Tuesday when his clothing caught fire as he played about a bonfire in the neighborhood.

HOW TO GET RID OF 1,300 CASES OF SCOTCH PUZZLES AN ATTORNEY

New York, July 17.—[Special.]—Murray Hulbert, former president of the board of aldermen and now practicing attorney with offices on Fifth avenue, would like to knew how to get rid of 1,300 cases of first rate Scotch whisky. The whisky must be sold legally, and the buyer must have legal standing—like a hospital.

The whisky, the Royal Blend brand of Gilmour, Thomson & Co., was imported here in 1921 under a federal prohibition permit. The importer died recently, and the 1,300 cases were intrusted to Mr. Hulbert to sell in settlement of the estate. In the form in which it is bottled, fifths of a gallon, it can be sold virtually only to hospitals under the law, and an attempt to get the city hospitals to buy it failed because the city recently put in a large stock for medicinal purposes.

Drug stores are barred because treasury regulations require them to buy in pints. The whisky could be rebottled to meet this requirement, but the expense would be considerable, Mr. Hulbert explained.

NAVAL TREATY APPROVAL HELD CLOSE AT HAND

Threat of Cloture Rule Paves Way.

tactics cloture would be resorted to if necessary.

"I am engaged in a task here concerning this treaty," Senator Johnson retorted, "that far transcends in importance the leadership of the senator from Indiana or any other man's personality. The contest in which I am engaged will receive from me the best that is in me. I ask no quarter from any source or under any circumstances.

Asking No Favors.

"I am asking no favors of any man upon this floor or of any majority, even if I am standing here all alone.

"I will protect what rights I have as best I can, and I will present, God willing, as long as I am able to the people of the United States the inequities and the iniquities of a treaty that deals with their future and with their defense. So——

"'Lay on, MacDuff.

"I am going to bat just as hard as I can in the contest that I am waging. Go on with your majority; put on your cloture, if you wish to put it on."

Senator Johnson offered a reservation providing that the United States is not restricted, as provided by the treaty, to the building of only 15 of its 18 eight inch gun cruisers during the life of the pact. Senator Kenneth McKellar [Dem., Tenn.] offered three more reservations.

The first reservation proposed by Senator McKellar declared that the United States ratifies the London naval treaty on condition that none of its signatories "will violate the terms of the Kellogg pact, and in the event that any one of them does violate said pact it is understood and agreed that this treaty will ipso facto become null and void."

Billion Penalty Proposed.

The second McKellar reservation, based on the same premises as the first, provides that in the event any of the signatories of the London treaty should violate the Kellogg pact "by going to war with an independent nation, it is mutually understood and agreed that the said nation" shall pay "as liquidation damages in equal proportions to the other signatories not going to war the sum of one billion dollars."

The third McKellar reservation provides that, in view of the convertibility of subsidized merchant ships into auxiliary cruisers mounting guns exceeding three inchtes in caliber the senate ratifies the London treaty on condition that any of the signatories going to war will limit itself to the following number of such converted merchantmen: Great Britain, 30; United States, 30; France, 20; Italy, 20; Japan, 20.

There are 229 British and 70 American merchantmen capable of mounting six inch guns.

TRAIN REPORTED WRECKED AND SEVERAL HURT

Trinidad, Colo., July 17.—(AP)—A report received here said several coaches of Colorado and Southern passenger train No. 2, which left here at 8:40 tonight, were derailed and overturned 12 miles south of the city. Several persons were reported injured. Details were not immediately available.

DEPARTMENT OF WAR COSTLIEST IN FISCAL YEAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 17.—[Special.]—War department expenditures exceeded those of all other departments during the fiscal year 1930, it is shown by an itemized tabulation made public today.

The war department expenditures, including those for rivers and harbors work, as well as for national defense, amounted to $453,524,973, as against a total of $416,901,546 in the fiscal year 1929.

Next in order came the veterans' bureau with a total of $446,955,630, compared with $417,280,404 in the previous year; the navy department, with $374,165,638, compared with $364,561,543 in the previous year; the interior department, with $290,027,905, compared with $301,122,596 in the previous year, and the treasury department, with $193,114,012, compared with $200,447,224 in the previous year."

'PEACEMAKERS' TO VISIT GANDHI IN PRISON CELL

Viceroy Approves Move for India Truce.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BOMBAY, July 17.—A move for peace in India's revolution appears to be under way by which Mahatma Gandhi and other arrested leaders of the civil disobedience campaign will be freed from their cells, either by parole or decree of amnesty. According to reports, they will be released in order that a Nationalist conference may decide upon some form of truce.

With this in view, Viceroy Lord Irwin today granted the request of two influential moderate leaders, Sir Tej Badahur Sapru and Assemblyman Jayakar, to visit Gandhi and his co-leaders, Motilal Nehru and Jawakarhal Nehru, each confined in a separate prison.

Wants to See Leaders Alone.

In their request the two Indian statesmen asked that they be permitted to see the mahatma "without there being an officer of the government present, in order to persuade him to help restore normal conditions."

In his reply the viceroy declared it would not be right for him nor the government to oppose them in "their public spirited attempt in the cause of India." He declared he would ask the local governments concerned to issue the necessary instructions so that the two could enter the cells of the imprisoned Nationalist chieftains.

The government's "about face" from its policy of repression to conciliation is viewed here as being dictated not only by the utter disruption of order within the provinces, notably Bengal, but also by the enormous losses of revenues as the result of the boycott on British made goods and the nonpayment of taxes.

So, for the first time since his incarceration in the Yeravda prison at Poona May 5, Gandhi will receive visitors and be able to express his views on the situation without being overheard by British authorities. He has, however, been interviewed by newspaper men.

Bombay Heads Peace Move.

It is understood that the conciliation movement originated in Bombay, where 15 large cotton mills and other industries have closed and where railway employés are showing signs of dissatisfaction.

Sir Fredrick Sykes, governor of Bombay, today dealt with the wrecking of public morale through the Nationalist civil disobedience drive in address to the legislative council Poona. He added that the same leaders, who are "letting loose with a campaign, tending toward anarchy and plunder," are at the same time trying to incite police and Indian troops to join the movement.

"Had half the energies and abilities which in the last two years have been devoted to work that was destructive been devoted to work really constructive, India would have been assured dominion status by now," Gov. Sykes said.

"The way of reconciliation will never be closed. There can be no negotiations with persons whose declared object is to make orderly government impossible. It is for them to create conditions in which a happier state of things can be restored."

The governor spoke in detail of the economic crisis brought on by the Nationalist campaign. He declared that the losses from the lands, excise, scheduled taxes and stamps will total a sum which cannot be provided by additional taxation, while, on the other hand, vast increases in the police and other forces, which have been necessitated, have added to the burden.

To Set New Boundary by Straightening Rio Grande

MEXICO CITY, July 17.—(AP)—A tentative draft of the Mexican and American engineers' joint report for straightening the Rio Grande river from El Paso, Tex., to Quitman canyon and making of the revised course a new fixed international boundary was made public today. The cost of the work is between six and seven million dollars.

EGYPTIANS START MOVE TO FORCE KING OFF THRONE

Parliament Defies His Order; Will Meet.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 17.—What may result in an Egyptian revolution is planned for July 21, when the Egyptian parliament, recently dissolved by King Faud, will meet in defiance of his order and proceed either to depose him or secure from him assurances which will reduce the kingship in Egypt to a mere cipher.

Nahas Pasha, former premier, who was dismissed by the king when the latter dissolved parliament, which was overwhelmingly Wafdist [Nationalist] proposes as a first measure to adopt a petition of rights and forward it to the king. The parliament will also pass a bill impeaching Sidky Pasha, the present premier, charging him with treason.

May Demand King Quit.

If King Faud accepts the demands of the Wafdist parliament, all will be well. If he refuses, parliament will then pass a resolution demanding that the king either abdicate or agree to the appointment by parliament of a regency council to carry on the government in his name, at the same time assuming executive control of the administration and removing the present government from office.

Troops Fire on Crowd.

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, July 17.—(AP)—Troops again fired on a crowd this evening, and one person was injured. After discharging several volleys, the troops encamped for the night in Mahomed Ali square.

The day passed quietly until 7 p. m., when a mob rushed down the streets cheering for Nahas Pasha and shouting, "Down with Sidky Pasha."

The firing occurred at the entrance to the Arab quarter. The troops had no difficulty in dispersing the mob.

There have been minor demonstrations in Cairo, but no serious disturbances.

SECY. STIMSON DELAYS RETIREMENT OF NEGRO ON JOB FOR 59 YEARS

Washington, D. C., July 17.—(AP)—Secretary Stimson took a hand today in saving the job of an aged Negro, "Eddie" Savoy, an employé of the state department for 59 years, known by diplomats from one end of the world to the other.

While the bent and grizzled Negro sat in the chair he has held for 29 years outside the secretary of state's door, Stimson himself made a hurried trip to the civil service commission and prevailed upon it to allow the department's chief messenger to retain his place for another year on the grounds of expert qualifications and knowledge. "Eddie" already has served four years beyond his retirement age, the limit allowed under the new civil service law.

Born in 1855, "Eddie" entered the service of the government on July 1, 1871. He has been chief messenger since 1901.

RICH BAHAMAN IS ARRESTED TRYING TO RUN IN LIQUOR

New York, July 17.—[Special.]—A clumsy attempt to smuggle four suitcases and three trunks packed with 140 bottles of choice liquor into this port led to the arrest today of Ralph G. Collins, a British subject and a wealthy hotel owner of Nassau, Bahamas, on a charge of smuggling.

If convicted Collins is liable to a fine of $5,000 or two years in prison or both.

The liquor laden trunks and suitcases were on the Munson liner Munamar, which arrived yesterday. Collins was met at the pier by a man who described himself as a brother of Supreme Court Justice Lewis L. Fawcett of Brooklyn, and asked for the privilege of an immediate examination of Collins baggage.

4 Rescued, 35 Routed by Fire on South Side

An elderly woman and three children were carried down ladders to safety and 35 other persons were routed by smoke yesterday morning when a fire, beginning through spontaneous combustion in basement rubbish, swept through ten apartments at 5311-13 Blackstone avenue, causing $10,000 damage. Miss Delia Kelly, 64 years old, choked by smoke as she lay in bed, was rescued by Firemen Malcolm Patterson and Leo Moriarity. Three unidentified children were saved by Policeman Herbert Olson.

RUNS OFF WITH COMMONS' MACE; TACKLED AT DOOR

LONDON, July 17.—(AP)—A member of parliament at today's session of the house of commons ran off with the mace, almost sacred symbol of parliamentary authority, that rests on a table below the speaker's chair. The incident created a scene without precedent in the history of the mother of parliaments since Cromwell declaimed, "Take away that bauble," and the mace was removed. The mace weighs 14 pounds and is four feet ten inches long.

The miscreant was John Beckett, Laborite. His action, which he accompanied with the words, "It's a damned disgrace," was in protest against suspension of a colleague, Fenner Brockway, by almost unanimous vote on motion of Prime Minister Macdonald.

Brockway had overstepped his bounds by trying to make a speech on India during question time. Beckett did not get far with his trophy. An attendant tackled him as he reached the door of the house and returned the mace to the sergeant at arms, its official custodian. The speaker named Beckett for disorderly conduct.

Copeland Sees Prosperity, Hoover Re-elected in 1932

New York, July 17.—[Special.]—Senator Royal S. Copeland, in an address on the economic trend before the business stability conference of the garment trades at the Hotel Astor tonight, advocated the six hour day and five day week, condemned speculation, chain stores, and branch banking, and predicted that with the return of prosperity in 1932 President Hoover would be reëlected.

CHARGES WASTE OF $1,677,000 ON COUNTY ROADS

A. of C. Committee Gives Report on Survey.

BY HAL FOUST.

A citizens' survey committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce, headed by William R. Dawes, reported to the county board yesterday that the board's highway expenditures from Jan. 18, 1927, to June 30, 1929, were $1,677,000 in excess of a reasonable cost for the construction and maintenance of county roads. The excess aggregated 7.7 per cent of total expenditures during that period.

This was but one of several criticisms reported by the committee after a year's investigation of the county road activities. It also found that "dummy" bids curtailed competition in the award of contracts; that materials were purchased without advertising for bids; that low bids were rejected for no recorded reason, and that funds were spent for other than their intended purposes.

Committee's Recommendations.

The committee's report includes recommendations for a complete reorganization of the county highway department, the introduction of specific reforms, and "prompt action to determine what amount, if any, of these excessive costs may be recoverable into the treasury of Cook county for allocation to the county highway fund."

President Cermak of the county board invited the investigation by the Association of Commerce in December of 1928. The following June, under his leadership, the county board agreed to pay the cost, which is now estimated at $75,000.

Items Listed by Experts.

These experts itemized the county's reported loss of $1,677,000 as follows:

1. Excessive cost of contract work as compared with cost of work of similar character performed in Cook county for the Illinois state division of highways—$1,330,000.

2. Excessive cost of crushed stone and gravel purchased for maintenance work, as compared with prices current in the district—$195,000.

3. Excessive cost of certain purchases of bituminous surfacing materials as compared with cost of less expensive materials suitable for the work and specified by the highway department—$64,000.

4. Saving that could have been made by use of permanent concrete instead of temporary bituminous surfacing materials for improvement of certain roads—$88,000.

Charges on Contracts.

In connection with the construction contracts, which account for most of the alleged loss, the following charges were made in the committee's report:

1. The submission by contractors of a large number of ineligible bids, in the face of the statutory prohibition of awarding contracts for amounts exceeding the highway department's estimates, indicates that such bids were not submitted with a view toward serious competition.

2. The relatively few eligible bids received on road projects and the relatively large number of contracts awarded to contractors who submitted the only eligible bids on those projects, or to one of only two or three eligible bidders, further indicates the lack of competition.

3. The lack of competition had a serious effect on the cost of the projects.

4. Widespread and adequate notice of proposed projects was not given.

Complaint on Rejected Bids.

5. Several groups of bids were rejected by the county board with no recorded reasons for such action.

6. Certain contracts were awarded by the county board to others than the lowest bidders. The most notable instance of this was in connection with the widening of the Des Plaines river road, which resulted in a substantial loss to Cook county.

The quality of the county's construction work was reported favorably. Its maintenance work was classified as 36 per cent good, 50 per cent fair, and 14 per cent poor.

In the purchase of stone the more important contracts were awarded to the Brownell Improvement company and the Material Service corporation. The committee's engineers reported that the county should have been able to purchase the material for $105,000 less than it paid.

In the purchase of bituminous material the county awarded contracts for twice the amount advertised, the committee reported.

Committee Cites Statute.

"From Jan. 18, 1927, to June 30, 1929," the report continues, "a number of purchases made in the open market appear to be in violation of the intent, if not the letter, of the statute (which requires bids for supplies costing more than $500)."

Most of such purchases, according to the certified public accountants, were from the Material Service corporation, for $285,486 worth of crushed stone and gravel.

"In connection with these purchases," reads the report, "the purchase orders and the creditor's invoices were divided in amounts of less than $500 each. However, in a majority of cases the purchase orders of the department of public service bore consecutive numbers, or nearly so; the deliveries were made at one location on one date, or on several consecutive or closely consecutive or closely following dates; or the invoices bore the same date. The aforementioned relationships clearly indicate that the transactions pertained to single purchases, the totals of which exceeded $500.

Loss Estimated at $100,000.

"In addition to the questionable legality of the foregoing purchases, the total cost of the crushed stone and gravel so purchased appears excessive. This cost is discussed in the report of Ford, Bacon, and Davis, in which it is stated that the county suffered a loss on such purchases in an amount estimated to be not less than $100,000."

The Association of Commerce committee found that the "determinable amount" of $84,229 of the county highway tax had been spent for other than the purpose prescribed by statute, the maintenance of state aid roads.

On June 30, 1929, there were 402 names on the county highway department's pay roll in jobs classified as civil service positions. Of this total 327 were temporary appointments, which generally means political appointments, the report comments.

"I don't think the county board should be criticized for the results of this investigation," said President Cermak in a statement to the press.

"The county will follow the Association of Commerce recommendations. In fact, we received some preliminary informal reports and have been carrying out some of the recommendations during the last year."

KIP PAYS HIS WIFE ABOUT HALF MILLION TO CLINCH DIVORCE

Las Vegas, Nev., July 17.—(AP)—Two agreements, one secret and the other specifying payment of $31,500 in cash to Mrs. Alice Jones Rhinelander, and alimony of $3,600 a year for the remainder of her life, were entered today into the divorce decree recently granted Leonard Kip Rhinelander, scion of a wealthy New York family.

The action prevented a threatened contest of the divorce by Mrs. Rhinelander. The settlement was agreed upon last night, following a conference between Harley A. Harmon, attorney for Rhinelander, and Leo A. McNamee, lawyer for the woman. Neither principal was in court.

While attorneys refused to divulge the secret settlement, they indicated last night it called for payment of between $200,000 and $500,000 to Mrs. Rhinelander. It was placed in the decree under a seal by the order of Judge Edwards.

In obtaining the divorce, Rhinelander alleged his former wife took advantage of his innocence in their marriage, failing to disclose she was an octoroon and causing his parents to evict him from the family home.

JUDGE REBUKES CASE IN MAGUIRE CHARGE HEARING

County Judge Jarecki yesterday rebuked Special Assistant State's Attorney Charles Center Case for his manner of prosecution of the petition to oust Fred V. Maguire as chairman of the board of election commissioners. The petition charges Maguire permitted persons with police records to act as election officials. Case was censured for producing as witnesses persons making an effort to lead honest lives despite police records, who did not serve as election officials.

Earl Robinson, 412 South Sangamon street, testified that he made an application for a polls job, but did not serve. He said he had served three years in Joliet prison for larceny. James Loflin, 620 West Madison street, another applicant, said he had been arrested on charges of larceny and robbery, but was discharged in court. John F. Mehegan, 369 West Madison street, a third applicant, said he was arrested for disorderly conduct when he went to the home of an employer to collect a day's wages.

Judge Jarecki said characters should not be blackened when no purpose was served. He pointed out that Maguire was on trial and not the witnesses.

Frank Calabrese, a grocer, 1049 West Polk street, testified he had never made application to serve as an election official, yet some one had served as judge in the First precinct of the Twenty-seventh ward under his name.

Chicagoan Fails to List Foreign Purchases; Fined

CANAL DISTRICT SEEKS TO OUST HOUSEBOATERS

Action to remove a houseboat colony from the banks of the Chicago river between Belmont and Lawrence avenues was started in the Circuit court yesterday by Walter E. Beebe, attorney for the sanitary district. The boats obstruct traffic and make the shore dirty and noisome, the district charges. The complaint says the boats have been moored along the river for many months and that the houseboaters have voted in city elections, giving a waterfront address.

This Bank SAVED $1,402.32 on three years' fuel bills

THE West Lawn Trust and Savings Bank knows the value of money. It saves by burning coal . . . 83 tons of it a year. If it had used either one of the two fuels that can be substituted for coal, it would have had to pay $467.44 more a year in one case, and $1,756.55 more in the other. So, over a period of three years the West Lawn Trust and Savings Bank has saved—by burning coal—$1,402.32 in the first instance and $5269.65 in the second.

Let's figure fairly and fully how these savings have been made. For your heating problem is no different than that of the West Lawn Trust and Savings Bank. By burning coal your savings will be proportional. Moreover, from the figures given, you can estimate what other fuels will cost you.

A British Thermal Unit (B.T.U.) is to heat measurement what the inch is to lineal measurement and the pound to weight measurement . . . just as accurate, just as scientific. B.T.U's. are all the same whether the heat comes from coal, oil, or gas.

A ton of the coal burned by the West Lawn Trust and Savings Bank delivers 16,060,000 B.T.U's. Multiplying this figure by the number of tons of coal they burn yearly, gives the number of B.T.U's. needed to heat the Bank. This is 1,332,980,000. $614.70 worth of coal delivers this number of heat units.

If they were to use fuel B, the cost of heating their building would rise to $1,107.14 a year. This is because a gallon of fuel B delivers only 84,000 B.T.U's. They would require, then, 15,869 gal. of fuel B to give them the number of heat units they need. The cost of the fuel is $.06 a gallon. To burn this cheap grade, they would require an installation costing approximately $1,200. (This is above the cost of the heating plant they already have.) The life of this installation can be figured at 10 years. So they would have to charge themselves $120.00 depreciation a year . . . exclusive of interest on the investment. To operate the installation they would have had to pay $25.00 a year for current and gas, and at least $10.00 a year for service.

If they burned fuel C, their expenses would be even greater. 1000 cubic feet of fuel C deliver only 428,000 B.T.U's. Accordingly, they would have to burn 3,115 thousand cubic feet to get the number of heat units required. The cost of this fuel is $.75 a thousand cubic feet. To burn it a special burner is required which rents for $60.00 a year.

On the books of the West Lawn Trust and Savings Bank . . . and proportionately on your books . . . costs for these three fuels would appear in this manner:

	Fuel A (Coal)	Fuel B	Fuel C
Fuel	$614.70	$952.14	$2,336.25
Kindling	5.00	.....	.....
Ash removal	20.00	.....	.....
Depreciation	.....	120.00	.....
Current and gas	.....	25.00	.....
Service	.....	10.00	.....
Burner rental	.....	.....	60.00

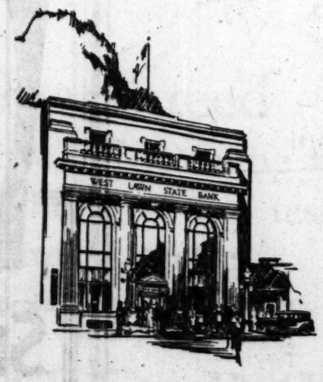
In addition to this saving, the West Lawn Trust and Savings Bank is purchasing other advantages which do not show on their books. They are buying safety of heat, evenness of heat, quietness of heat which they could not buy for any price in fuels other than coal.

You will have this saving and these advantages, if—like the Bank—you burn coal delivered by a member of the Chicago Coal Merchants Association. For every member of the association is pledged to honest grading and full weight.

CHICAGO COAL MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION

The Chicago Coal Merchants Association presents weather reports every weekday at 12 noon and 6:55 P. M. over WGN.



Coal heat gives more B. T. U's. per dollar

U. S. WARNED BY GREEN AGAINST REDUCING WAGES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., July 17.—Addressing a labor meeting here today, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, took as his theme song "The Menace of Unemployment." He spoke before delegates of the International Brotherhood of Stationary Firemen, Engineers, Oilers, etc. in convention this week at Montreal.

"No reduction in wages because of the widespread unemployment and consequent abundance of labor," was the cry voiced by President Green.

"There have been," he said, "isolated instances where a greedy employer has reduced wages, but, in a general way, for the first time in the history of cyclical unemployment our general wage structure has not been assailed or assailed. We have preserved our standards during this distressing period and it is our purpose to establish them on an unassailable basis.

"Keep Up Purchasing Power."

"We maintain that any reduction in purchasing power which follows a reduction in wages would be injurious. If we are to be brought out of the present industrial depression in a reasonable length of time, we must maintain the purchasing power of the people, because you cannot sell goods if people cannot buy, and they cannot buy unless you pay them wages to buy."

Mr. Green emphasized that unemployment is not a necessary evil, and he urged America to grapple with this problem in the same successful manner it has overcome other difficulties. He urged as correctives guaranteed annual salaries, rather than spasmodic daily wages, and the introduction of the five day week, where possible.

"In both the United States and Canada," he said, "we are face to face with stern, unfavorable economic conditions. We are in the midst of widespread industrial depression. Thousands of working men in every city of the land, in every town, in every village, in every community, are tramping the streets seeking employment.

"Not a Necessary Evil."

"The American Federation of Labor is dealing with this grim problem and so far as we are able we are calling the attention of the people upon the American continent to the necessity of meeting it and dealing with it constructively so that the men and women able and willing to work, should be guaranteed an opportunity under all conditions that may exist at any time or any place.

"The federation of labor contends that the problem need not be a necessary evil. There are economists who argue that recurring periods of unemployment are necessary and inevitable. The American labor movement challenges that kind of economic philosophy. To admit that, is to admit that we are incapable of dealing with the economic problem of unemployment. Such an admission would present to coming generations the most gloomy picture we can possibly contemplate.

Urges Annual Income.

"We can grapple with it, we can deal with it, we can prevent unemployment. We can so systematize employment that in the operations of the economic law and the development of industry, men and women can be guaranteed an annual income rather than a spasmodic daily wage. That is the condition we are striving for.

"Women must not be sacrificed on the altar of commercialism. Men must earn an annual income to protect their women folk and to enable them to keep their families in comfort and to have the opportunity of enjoying a greater degree of leisure."

HIT BY TRAIN; LOSES LEGS, ARMS.

West Frankfort, Ill., July 17.—(AP)—William Karnes, 21, lost both legs and his right arm in the yards of a coal mine here today when he fell asleep under a string of cars during his lunch hour and was run over. He was employed by the Burlington railroad as a trackman.

TELLS ON WIFE

CONDON TELLS HIS OPINIONS ON DIVORCE AND RUM

Admits He Is Expert on Latter Subject.

Thomas Condon, head of Condon Industries, Inc., yesterday recited some personal observations relative to divorce laws and the art of drinking moderately. His opinions were told from the witness stand in Superior Judge Williams' court, where he is contesting the suit for separate maintenance brought by his wife, Mrs. Mary D. Condon, 1205 Sheridan avenue.

Condon testified under cross-examination by his wife's attorney, Benjamin B. Davis. During the following questioning it developed that Condon, an electrical engineer, had undertaken a movement to reform the divorce code.

Davis—Did you write several hundred letters to men whose wives are suing for divorce?

Condon—Yes, I did.

Questioned on Letters.

Davis—Is it true that all those letters were sent to my clients and clients of my associate, Michael H. Ryan, with a view of annoying us?"

Davis—What did you say in these letters?

Condon—I wrote that the divorce laws of 1874 are antiquated and that many abuses are being practiced. I showed how small a percentage of cases are contested. I asked their help in making a survey of the situation and sent them a questionnaire. I hope to present this information to the state legislature so that some of the abuses may be abolished.

Admits He's an Expert.

On the subject of drinking whisky, Condon admitted he qualified as an expert. He tried to show that his wife had fallen over a bannister at their summer cottage because she had drunk more than her quota. Mrs. Condon, who charges cruelty, had testified her husband pushed her over the railing.

"She was twelve drinks over her capacity, which is three," Condon said. "My capacity is about eight, which is a little above the average person's four. I can dispose of a pint and not be immoderate."

Too Many Mary Pickfords, So Ask Change in Name

Hollywood, Cal., July 17.—[Special.]—Mary Pickford today petitioned Superior court to make a legal change in the name of her niece and adopted sister, Mary Charlotte Pickford, who is the daughter of Mary's sister, Lottie Pickford, and Lottie's first husband, Albert B. Rupp. The actress asks that her 14 year old charge's name be legally changed to Gwynne Fairbanks. Mary Pickford's legal papers on the case state that the girl is a member of the Fairbanks-Pickford household, and confusion arises by having two Mary Pickfords in the home.

ARKANSAS NEGROES ASK SUPREME COURT RULING ON VOTE BAN

Washington, D. C., July 17.—(AP)—A petition was filed in the Supreme court today asking the highest tribunal for a ruling whether political party organizations in the various states could lawfully prohibit Negroes from participating in their primaries.

The case comes from Arkansas. J. M. Robinson and other Negroes living in Little Rock said they voted the Democratic ticket and were consistent supporters of the party platforms. They protested being barred from the Democratic primaries in November, 1928, obtained a temporary injunction and voted before the state courts could hear the case on its merits.

Later, when the controversy was decided, the Arkansas Supreme court set aside the temporary injunction and dismissed the proceedings, taking the position that the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments, under which the Negroes claimed they had the right to vote at Democratic primaries, referred only to what states were prohibited from doing in the way of restricting the voting rights of Negroes and did not apply to political organizations.

In March, 1927, the United States Supreme court in a suit from El Paso, Tex., brought by L. A. Nixon, a Negro, held invalid a Texas statute prohibiting Negroes from voting in Democratic primaries.

SAY GOAT GLAND DOC WAS GOOD IN PROMISES ALONE

Witnesses Tell of Their Disappointment.

Topeka, Kas., July 17.—[Special.]—A procession of seekers after youth proceeded today through the witness chair in a hearing of charges against Dr. John R. Brinkley of goat gland fame before the Kansas state medical board. The hearing was called in an effort to have Dr. Brinkley's license to practice medicine in the state canceled.

Today Charles Ziegenhart, Linn, Kas., 60, related on the stand a story of his search for youth, which, he said, didn't yield any results and was rather costly. Not only did he fail to regain the vigor of young manhood, but during the course of his experiences, he said, he finally lost all of his prostate gland, a large stone from his bladder, and a considerable amount of time. All he gained was a collection of bills which totaled about $2,500. It was a bit steep, he thought.

Outgo Exceeds Receipts.

Mr. Ziegenhart testified that he went to the Brinkley hospital at Milford and that he paid Dr. Brinkley $750 for an operation. His wound didn't heal properly, he said, and he went back to the Milford hospital twice. The last time he was there, he said, the members of the staff told him that his prostate gland had been removed. He was advised also, he said, to get a rubber heel from a shoe shop and wear it as a patch on his wound. But the heel didn't work well in its new environment and Mr. Ziegenhart testified to having spent ten days in a hospital at Clay Center. Later he went to the Research hospital in Kansas City, Mo., where a stone was removed from his bladder and the doctors found that not all of the prostate gland had been removed.

"They finished the job," Mr. Ziegenhart testified, and said that today he was in good health.

High Kicker Has a Kick.

John Zahrier, 65 year old farmer of Lenexa, Kan., who said he can kick six inches higher than his head, came next with a tale of woe and marital misfortune. Zahner had listened to the Brinkley health talks over the radio and was impressed and encouraged. He had been married about five years and he talked the proposition over with Mrs. Zahner. The witness testified that his wife favored the suggestion that he seek rejuvenation at the Milford clinic.

So the Lenexa farmer wended his way to the Brinkley hospital. He said he paid $750 in advance and got the operation, but he isn't sure whether he got new glands. He says the doesn't think he did. Mr. Zahner testified that Mrs. Brinkley persuaded him to pay in advance by painting a rosy picture of his future.

But when it was all over he wasn't particularly well pleased. A month after the operation, he testified, Mrs. Brinkley made a cash settlement with him and returned to her former home and didn't come back.

Nurse Tells Experiences.

Mrs. John Ferris, once a nurse at Brinkley's hospital, whose present husband was one of Brinkley's patients, told in an affidavit read today how the goat gland operation was performed. Mrs. Ferris was the widow of Dr. Charles C. Seaberg of Iron Mountain, Mich. She was licensed to practice nursing in Illinois, being a graduate of North Chicago hospital. Of the operation she said:

"Dr. Brinkley performed the operation by making an incision and inserting therein all or part of a goat gland tissue after which the wound would be stitched together, the whole operation consuming generally about fifteen minutes. In some of the cases, where a bad pus condition had set up, I saw Dr. Brinkley, while he was dressing the wounds, remove the gland tissue from the wounds without the patient's knowledge.

G. O. P. LEADER SHOOTS SELF TO DEATH IN OFFICE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Wausau, Wis., July 17.—[Special.]—Business associates and personal friends were at a loss tonight to account for the suicide of Walter B. Heineman, wealthy lumberman and prominent Republican politician, who was found dying in a room connected with his office. Mr. Heineman was 51 years old and a month ago celebrated his silver wedding anniversary.

Mr. Heineman shot himself through the temple. He was unconscious when found by his brother, G. B. Heineman, who is a partner in the Heineman Lumber company, of which the deceased was president.

Mr. Heineman's business associates said tonight that there were no indications that his financial affairs were unsound and the only reason which could be advanced for his act was that his physical condition was far worse than the attack or rheumatism of which he had complained for the last few weeks. It was his intention to leave next week for Rochester, Minn., for an examination.

Mr. Heineman was a member of the Republican state central committee from 1915 to 1922.

He was well known in Washington, New York, and Chicago and was a member of the Collegiate, Hamilton, and Yacht clubs in the latter city.

CONVICT WOMAN OF FRAUD; FACES ONE TO 14 YEARS

Mrs. Kathryn Levy, 48 years old, wife of Louis Levy, for many years a professional bondsman, was found guilty of perjury yesterday by a jury in Judge Daniel P. Trude's Criminal court. She faces a penitentiary sentence of 1 to 14 years in the event a motion for a new trial is not granted on July 25.

The state's attorney's office charges that Mrs. Levy took part in tampering with the title of a North Clark street building, which was used for surety on criminal court bonds. Assistant State's Attorney A. C. De Witt, who has charge of the bond department, said that last April Mrs. Levy purchased the building from Mrs. Margaret Laskey. Four days later the building was resold to Mrs. Laskey.

During the four days which Mrs. Levy had title to the building she scheduled it on twenty bonds, the prosecution said. Some of the defendants so liberated failed to appear for trial.

LABORITE CLAIMS U.S. FAVORS REDS FOR THEIR TRADE

Says Communists Gaining Ground Here.

New York, July 17.—[Special.]—Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, charged today before the congressional committee investigating communism that for the sake of helping American corporations to do business with soviet Russia the American government was jeopardizing the interests and safety of the United States by being too lenient with communist agents and representatives of the Amtorg, the soviet trading agency in this country.

Assails Government Policy.

Declaring that the Amtorg was operating as a channel of communication between Moscow and American communists, Mr. Woll asserted "our government has winked with one eye and has been asleep with the other while the agents of Moscow have come among us."

Visas and permits enabling soviet agents to reside and do their subversive work in this country are being extended by the authorities without due consideration of the dangers involved, while high government officials "dined and wined by communist agents" are lured into unwitting coöperation with emissaries of Moscow, Mr. Woll charged.

Asserting that the soviet government was engaged in an open attempt to bring about the overthrow of the American government, Mr. Woll told the committee, on the basis of what he termed information received by him from the police, that communist agents were also being smuggled into the United States from rum ships.

Because of the leniency displayed by the federal authorities, Mr. Woll said, the soviet government has been able to establish in this country a branch of its OGPU, or secret police and espionage organization, whose leaders direct the work of communists here. He demanded that the government adopt a more determined course.

Woll also said that to his knowledge the government had deported White Russians who came here to fight bolshevism, while permitting soviet agents to remain.

"There has been too much dignity on the part of our government and too little knowledge of facts," he said.

Mr. Woll said he was sorry there was no permanent government agency to investigate Communist activity, for in his opinion the Communists were just as much at war with the United States as if they were alien uniforms and carried arms.

Turning Toward Violence.

In his prepared statement the witness said the American Federation of Labor had fought communism since it had appeared in the United States, and would continue to fight it.

Earlier, the legislators heard the testimony of John A. Lyons, head of the New York police radical bureau, that the workers' party in New York is organized more fully every day, is daily bolder and is "ripe for revolution."

Communists here, Lyons told the committee, have turned to violence until they constitute "an acute police problem." Resistance to police control is stiffening—has stiffened especially in the last year.

There are, he estimated, between 15,000 and 20,000 in New York City. Eighty per cent are Russians, but the Negro, Mexican and Japanese enrollment is on the increase because of the Red propaganda for equality of races, he asserted.

SPEED "FIXER" GETS 30 DAYS AND $1,000 FINE

Gets $115 from Motorist Who Doubts "Pull."

Edward Harlib, 30 years old, 1315 North Dearborn street, was fined $1,000 and sentenced to thirty days in the Bridewell by Municipal Judge Padden yesterday for taking $115 from William J. McCarthy, 5055 Drummond place, on a promise to "fix" a charge of reckless driving. McCarthy said he became suspicious of Harlib's alleged "pull" and told police of the payments. Harlib was arrested when he tried to collect $200.

Charles T. Yerkes Jr., 1333 Ridge avenue, Evanston, grandson of Charles T. Yerkes, one-time Chicago traction magnate, was fined $15 and costs on a charge of reckless driving by Justice of the Peace John J. Russ in Evanston.

Charge Is Changed.

Yerkes was arrested on Chicago avenue, Evanston, by Evanston police and charged with driving while intoxicated. His counsel requested a change of venue from Police Magistrate Harry Porter to Justice Russ who changed the charge from driving while intoxicated to reckless driving.

Mrs. Helen Varney, 28 years old, of 408 West 72d street, died at the County hospital in Wauwatosa, Wis., last night of injuries received earlier in the day in an auto crash near Milwaukee. Edward Varney, her husband, was seriously injured.

Michael J. Bloze, 30 years old, 3133 West Monroe street, was fatally injured early yesterday when his automobile crashed into a lamp post, overturned, and caught fire at Ridge and Isabella avenues, Wilmette. J. J. Lynch, 4316 Vista terrace, of the editorial department of THE TRIBUNE was slightly injured. Police said Bloze's machine was traveling at a high rate of speed when it left the road at a curve.

Child, 4, Is Killed.

Four year old Thomas Sotor, 1354 West 79th street, was killed and his father, Nicholas, a peddler, received a fractured skull in a collision between two trucks at 83d and Wood streets. Sylvester Drummer, 8210 South Throop street, was held.

In an accident at Clybourn and Southport avenues last night Samuel P. Harrison, 39 years old, 935 East 49th street, was fatally injured. He died at the Alexian Brothers' hospital of a fractured skull.

$100,000 BALM SUIT VS. THAW IS DISMISSED

Los Angeles, Cal., July 17.—(AP)—A $100,500 breach of promise suit against Harry K. Thaw, millionaire slayer of Stanford White more than 20 years ago, brought by Miss Forrest Hope Wall, was dismissed in Superior court today "with prejudice," which means it may not be refiled.

The suit was filed in December, 1927, and charged Thaw proposed marriage to Miss Wall, then a film actress, induced her to give up her career, then refused to go through with the ceremony when she and her mother went to his home at Stephenson, Va.

Miss Wall's attorney said no settlement had been made out of court.

W. E. D. Stokes Jr. Files Divorce Suit at Reno

Reno, Nev., July 17.—William E. D. Stokes Jr. filed suit for divorce here today against Mrs. Florence Crittenton Stokes, who accompanied him to Reno when he came here April 15 to make his home. The papers in the case were filed without title and ordered sealed by the court, but it is understood that the cause of action is given as insanity.

MABEL ALARMED BY VICTORY FOR DWIGHT MORROW

Denver, Colo., July 17.—[Special.]—Mabel Willebrandt, formerly assistant attorney general of the United States in charge of prohibition, after an address yesterday before the Lions clubs' convention here commented on the nomination of Dwight Morrow for a United States senatorship from New Jersey.

"The nomination of Dwight Morrow as Republican candidate for the United States senate in New Jersey," she said in an interview, "means more than a blow at the eighteenth amendment and the people should everywhere be awake to its meaning."

LAST OF CHICAGO CAR LINES PUT IN RECEIVERSHIP

Judge Wilkerson Acts to Speed Merger.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The Chicago City and Connecting railways, a collateral trust with $20,016,000 of bonds, 250,000 preferred participation shares and 150,000 common participation shares, was placed in the hands of receivers yesterday by Federal Judge Wilkerson. At the same time the Southern Street railway went into the hands of receivers.

The petitions were filed by Attorney Bruce Johnstone and the receivers named were the same as those for other south side surface lines, Leonard A. Busby and Edward N. Hurley. Now all the surface lines within Chicago are in receivership.

Move to Speed Merger.

This has been decided on as an effective and expeditious method of effecting the consolidation of the elevated roads and the surface lines as provided in the transportation ordinance. Yesterday's action was a part of that program.

The Southern Street railway is the only company without bonds outstanding and is therefore not pressed by its creditors, but it was deemed prudent also to place this company under the protection of the court.

In the reorganization and consolidation the Chicago City and Connecting collateral trust is to be wiped out of existence. Its security holders will receive bonds and stocks in the new Chicago Local Transportation company, which will be the merged surface and elevated lines.

What the Trust Owns.

The City and Connecting trust, according to the petition filed in court, owns the following stocks: 169,719 shares of the Chicago City Railway company with a par value of $16,971,900; 100,000 shares of the Calumet and South Chicago Railway company, with a par value of $10,000,000; 24,000 shares of the Southern Street Railway company, of a par value of $2,400,000; 10,000 shares of the Hammond, Whiting, and East Chicago Railway company, of a par value of $1,000,000; and 720 shares of the Chicago and Western Railway company, of a par value of $72,000. In addition, the trust has $1,000,000 in bonds of the Hammond, Whiting, and East Chicago company.

Of the Chicago City Railway company, which includes the principal south side surface lines, there are 180,000 shares of stock outstanding. This indicates that the City and Connecting trust owns 94 per cent of the company.

Securities Valued at $35,674,976.

The latest analysis of Chicago transit securities by Edwin L. Lobdell & Co. shows that the securities owned by the collateral trust have a value under the 1907 ordinances of $35,674,976. That indicates the interest of the trust in the receivership and in the reorganization. The collateral trust has not paid any interest on its bonds. The interest now amounts to about $3,407,000.

The Chicago Railways company, which is the north and west side surface lines, has been in the hands of receivers since December, 1926. The decree of foreclosure in that case has been entered and the remaining act to dispose of those properties is to order a sale.

Petitions for receiverships of other surface lines were filed on July 8 and yesterday. Lawyers in those cases are reported to be preparing a form of decree for presentation to the court. When these have been passed upon, an order of sale will be the next step.

The elevated roads have no bonds which are due and thus far it has not been deemed advisable to place them in a receivership. The elevated management believes that the merger can be effected without a receivership.

The city council on Wednesday selected and hired a staff of lawyers and engineers to prepare plans and specifications for subways. Previously it had been reported that President Faherty of the board of local improvements had agreed that these experts should prepare the plans. Yesterday Corporation Counsel Ettelson gave out an opinion which had been written for President Faherty at the latter's request.

Mr. Ettelson in his opinion says to Faherty: "You state that the local transportation committee of the city council has been and is preparing plans for the construction of subways and arranging to employ experts and lawyers to carry out the work. We note your further statement that you have no objection to this arrangement if it is legally unobjectionable and you request an opinion from the corporation counsel as to what is the extent of the powers of the committee in the matter of preparing plans for a subway and whether the board of local improvements could legally adopt such plans when completed."

Ettelson Gives His Opinion.

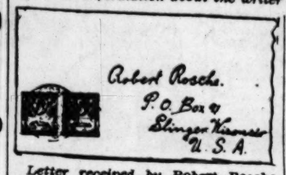
Mr. Ettelson's answer is that the local transportation committee has no authority to perform administrative or executive functions and that the ordinance providing for a special assessment to pay part of the subway cost shall originate with the board of local improvements. He says that the city council "cannot even consider" an ordinance unless so originated.

But Mr. Ettelson adds that the board can consider any useful suggestions or plans called to its attention. It would be "perfectly proper," the opinion says, for the board to consider "a complete plan for the building of a subway and the board could adopt it as its own and embody it in the improvement ordinance with perfect propriety."

There were reports in the city hall yesterday that the city administration desires a major part of the credit for starting the building of subways. It was believed by observers that the Faherty letter and the reply of Ettelson fit in with that report.

INTERESTING LETTERS

If you have received a letter from an interesting or little known place send the envelope to The Tribune, stating name of place where it was mailed and some information about the writer of the letter.



Letter received by Robert Rosche, Slinger, Wis.

"This letter comes from Sekondi, a small town and port on the gold coast of West Africa," Mr. Rosche writes. "Several years ago I won a prize in a cartoon contest, and my cartoon was reproduced in a Milwaukee paper. I was greatly surprised several weeks later to receive a letter from Africa. The writer was Ishamel Johnson, young African native attending the Wesleyan mission school in that place.

"He was reading the paper when he came across my name and address and stated that he wished to maintain a correspondence with me.

"That was four years ago, and today we still are corresponding with each other. Ishamel explained that he was in the fourth standard at the Wesleyan mission school and was a member of a Boy Scout troop which was made up principally of American boys and others connected with the mission. His school won the 1926 championship in athletics, competing in swimming, cricket, and football.

"In one letter I received a snapshot of Ishamel, taken, the letter said, on the occasion of the visit of the Prince of Wales to the mission. His costume consists of a sheet used as a wrap around. He also sent me two wild turkey feathers, pictures of the gold coast, a piece of monkey skin, and such newspapers as the Gold Coast Leader and the Gold Coast Independent. In return I sent him a bottle of ink, my photo, a handkerchief, pictures, and a CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE."

NEW STYLE BADGES AND CAPS ISSUED TO CAR EMPLOYES

Newly designed caps and badges are being issued to surface lines motormen and conductors to take the place of the old headgear and badges which have been in use for the last five or six years, officials of the Chicago surface lines announced last night.

John A. Rumney of Kedzie station, who has been a motorman on the surface lines for 45 years, received badge No. 1. John W. Patterson of the 77th street station, one of the youngest trainmen in point of service, was given No. 15,000.

Company officials said the issuance of the new badges has no connection with the program for consolidation of the surface and elevated lines. It is the policy of the surface lines to change badges at intervals of five or six years, they explained.

JURY AT INQUEST FREES DRY SPIES WHO KILLED MAN

Hampton Ia. July 17.—(AP)—Henry "Slim" Skovgaard, and John Chizek, undercover workers for Franklin county law officers, were freed late today by a coroner's jury in connection with the shooting of Harlan Sawdy, alias Harland Peterson.

The jury found that Sawdy was killed "by officers of the law in self-defense in the discharge of their duties." The shooting occurred last night when Sawdy resisted attempts of officers to arrest him after procuring from him liquor they intended to use as evidence.

Mrs. Lois Wheeler, 26, and Cecil Vinton, formerly of Milwaukee and Rockford, Ill., who were riding with Sawdy, were held on liquor charges. They will be arraigned tomorrow.

Testimony before the coroner's jury developed that Skovgaard and Chizek fired at Sawdy when he pulled a gun after being commanded to surrender.

William Miller, 28 years old, 5759 Drexel boulevard, is a regular army soldier with the R. O. T. C. unit at the University of Chicago. Inez Anderson, 17, lived at the same rooming house with her sister, May, an attendant at the Billings Memorial hospital on the campus.

William married Inez on Wednesday night at the Church of the Redeemer. May wasn't there but she sent for her father, Samuel Anderson, Ridgeway, Mo., farmer. The blushing bride was taken prisoner and locked in her sister's room.

A truce of two weeks has been declared, during which Anderson will take his daughter home to think over her marriage. If she elects to return to William, a pact of friendship will be signed.

FOES OF PHONE GRANT PREPARE THEIR PROTEST

Aldermen Plan Attack at Committee Session.

Members of the council gas, oil, and light committee who oppose the proposed new franchise for the Illinois Bell Telephone company yesterday were preparing to place their objections before the committee on Monday.

The major issue is the omission of a definite pledge by the company to pay the millions of dollars involved in the relocation of its equipment when subways are constructed.

Demands Definite Pledge.

"I protested when the first tentative draft was submitted in March," said Ald John J. Hoellen [47th], "that a provision should be included obliging the company to assume the relocation costs. Also that the division of the long distance calls tolls should be determined so the city can collect its 3 per cent compensation on the amount received by the local company."

Under the franchise, which expired Jan. 8, 1929, the company had agreed to pay the relocation costs, estimated at $500,000 a mile. In the new ordinance the company agrees to abide by any "valid" ordinance passed by the council in the future.

One of the fears of attorneys for the company was that the aldermen might not treat with all the public utilities in the same way on the relocation costs. The discussion of this fear and the attitude of the aldermen was found in the record of the Tuesday session of the committee as follows:

Pledges Fair Treatment."

Ald. B. A. Cronson [4th]—"The thing the telephone company feared was that the city might order the telephone company to pay the cost of relocation of their equipment and then they [the aldermen] might exempt the other companies from doing the same thing. I think the committee was all in accord on the proposition that they all should be treated the same as to the cost of relocation. I think that is the sentiment and the feeling of all the members of the committee, is it not?"

Ald. James G. Coyle [17th]—"Unquestionably."

Ald. Cronson—"So if that is bothering you gentlemen [the company's attorneys] any, you can rest assured that the members of this committee and, I think, the entire council feel that all utilities should be treated just the same, there should be no difference."

Jobless Actress' Suicide Is Laid to Despondency

Police believed last night that Miss Marion Grey, 35 years old, a stock company actress, who was found dead of poison in her apartment at 501 Deming place, took her own life because of despondency from lack of employment. Wesley Healy, who said he had paid Miss Gray's fare to Chicago, found the body and was the principal witness at an inquest.

RALPH M. SHAW STATE HEAD OF DRY LAW FOES

Anti-Amendment Men Organize.

Ralph M. Shaw, Chicago attorney, was elected chairman of the Illinois division of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment at a meeting in the Mid-Day club yesterday when the Illinois section of the association was organized formally.

"The organization is an association of earnest men banded together to accelerate the moral revolt which is now sweeping the country like wildfire against the crime of the 18th amendment and supporting legislation," Mr. Shaw said. "Its purpose is to disseminate information and facts respecting the moral deterioration of the people resulting from the direct and indirect effects of this vicious legislation.

"As a part of the program, it is expected that other citizens, not only from Chicago, but from other cities and counties downstate will be asked to join the movement by going on the board of directors.

"The association is not supporting any candidate or any particular party, but naturally its members, believing as they do that the repeal of the eighteenth amendment and its supporting legislation is the paramount question before the American people, will support any party or candidate who think it most likely to be of assistance in destroying the 'Frankenstein' which is now threatening to overwhelm the nation."

Other officers elected at yesterday's meeting are Barrett Wendell, partner in Lee, Higginson & Co., treasurer, and Ben F. McCutcheon, publicist, secretary. B. E. Sunny, Barrett Wendell, Wallace C. Winter and Eugene V. R. Thayer were elected to the finance committee.

THE SIX LOST CRUISERS.

In the course of the navy treaty debate Senator Johnson, opposing, was able to develop some of the procedure of the conference by questioning Senator Reed, who was one of the negotiators. "I ask the senator," said Senator Johnson, "if on the third day of February, 1930, in company with Mr. Stimson, Mr. Morrow, and Mr. Adams, the senator called upon Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Henderson and demanded 21 eight inch gun cruisers?"

"I think it was about that time that we decided we would try it," said Senator Reed.

"Did Mr. MacDonald at that time reply that the suggestion was more impossible than it had been during the previous summer?"

"I think he said something like that."

It was then that the American government had to make a decision. Either its negotiators came home or they took an agreement inconsistent with American naval purposes and disserviceable to them but consistent with British purposes and serviceable to them. The majority of the American naval officers have not weakened in their support of the policy which the state department abandoned. The state department seeks to show that the difference between the two naval plans, all important to the British government, is a triviality to the American.

The fact is simply that the American negotiators wanted to carry the conference through and gave way to do so, although the United States had much less reason than Great Britain for a treaty. Mr. MacDonald did not think the question was an immaterial one. It was not and it is not unimportant now. In giving up six large cruisers and a modern battleship the Americans gave up equality with Great Britain and much of the comparative effectiveness of the American fleet.

Six large cruisers cannot be thrown away diplomatically as of no real consequence. Vital differences can be expressed in small proportions. Two of these ships would have saved Admiral Cradock in his battle with Von Spee off Coronel. He had the British six inch gun cruisers. The Germans had the 8.2 inch guns. The American type of cruiser in this battle was hardly scratched and the British type was destroyed.

It may be expedient parliamentary procedure to represent the objections to the treaty as trivial, but that is not the truth. The Canopus was only one ship, but it had 12 inch guns, and if Admiral Cradock had not decided to go on without it he might have survived his fight.

FORCE AND EMPIRE.

A high official of the India office tells John Steele of THE TRIBUNE foreign news service that the government will not stand pat on the Simon report if it can bring Gandhi and the revolutionary leaders into a round table conference on the future of India. It will be one of the documents to be considered, but nothing more. This official faced the problem frankly. Great Britain must give India what it will accept as satisfactory or it must rule by force. The question is freedom or repression. If the revolutionists are contented to go slowly they can make it possible to delay the full experiment. If they are not and they hold a large following they can be restrained only by violence.

The India office official said truly that the time has gone when all revolutions can be suppressed by the full use of the military arm, but that remains the only way in which a determined revolt can be suppressed. The alternative is persuasion. That failing, the overlord must choose between making a sad case for himself in the civilized world or of giving the revolutionists what they want. They may consider their own real needs and be moderate, but the very power of repression now possessed by great nations embarrasses the use of it.

THE ARKANSAS SWING.

Now that it has happened it seems inevitable that some bright youngster would think of the tree sitting idea and send juveniles the country over into the limbs in a try for endurance records. The Wisconsin judge who said he would get after the parents if they did not bring their children down to earth also points to an expectable consequence of the youngsters' eccentricity. The law would get in somewhere if the adults exercised their own discretion in the management of their own progeny. The difference between chasing a child up a tree and permitting him a prank in one may seem obscure, but it is there.

Mothers of some of the tree sitters say that there is a certain relief in knowing where they are and the limitation of their activity and experiences for the time being, but the normal going to bed will not be swinging from a limb for long or for much of the coming citizenship unless, possibly, some instinct has led the children to a truer perception of the future in American society than their adults have been given. They may be preparing for the great return.

THE SOVIETS PROD THE AMERICAN FAITHFUL.

Jay Lovestone, American communist, says that the Russian comrades have loose ideas of American conditions and expect entirely too much of the American brethren. Comrade Lovestone and his associates were in trouble last year with the high authority, they being tainted with the theory of exceptionalism, holding that so long as the United States made a better job of capitalism than Russia could make of communism it was rather foolish to expect the proletariat to run red in America.

That bent toward realism was regarded as a serious nonconformity and Comrade Lovestone was warned to guard his thoughts better and to know that any intelligent populace prefers communism for its own sake regardless of consequences in worldly concerns. A warning of that sort is effective in Russia, as the recent attempts of Stalin's opponents to make their peace by recantation, apology and confession of sin have indicated and as the exile of Trotzky proves, but Mr. Lovestone enjoys a measure of independence in the United States under capitalistic oppression and he maintains his point. It is useless, he says, for the brothers in Moscow to set an early date for the American revolution because it is not going to be brought off.

Mr. Lovestone adds that the popularity of the communistic party in the United States is not to be estimated by the occasional success of the comrades in bringing the police down on them. That, in Moscow, might seem to indicate that a despairing capitalism was using its last reserves of force in its extremity and that it was tottering to its fall. If such an impression prevailed it might be thought that a more active leadership would soon have the red flag on top, but Mr. Lovestone does not put an imaginative interpretation upon the incidents. He knows that the police can be irritated into the use of banana stalks or their clubs and nothing except irritation is revealed thereby.

The comrades in Russia should not be so impatient with the American Reds. They have not yet borrowed enough from American capitalism to make communism dependable as a meal ticket and they depend upon capitalistic resources, materials and minds to keep going at all. If Comrade Lovestone seriously disturbed the works at home Comrade Stalin would be starving to death. Evidently the United States must continue as a success in its own form of economic organization if sovietism is to keep going even as a failure.

Editorial of the Day

[Daily Times, Chicago.]

On June 11, the second day after the killing of "Jake" Lingle, TRIBUNE reporter, Chicago's newspaper publishers met at the request of Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of THE TRIBUNE. To them Col. McCormick said that he considered the conviction of Lingle's murderers THE TRIBUNE'S job; that he had asked State's Attorney Swanson to appoint Charles Rathbun, one of THE TRIBUNE'S attorneys, assistant state's attorney charged with the duty of finding Lingle's murderers and convicting them. Col. McCormick assured the publishers that THE TRIBUNE would take no advantage of Mr. Rathbun's incumbency to secure news "beats" for itself. Several publishers present spoke well of Mr. Rathbun, and none opposed Col. McCormick's plan.

At the end of their discussion the newspapers adopted a formal resolution which concluded, "Acting in accord and unison, we pledge our organizations and our resources to the cleanup of gang, police, official, and any other public viciousness wherever it may appear, in order that corruption and the resulting gang activities may be brought to an end, and thereby restoring to the citizens of Chicago civic decency and security of life and property."

On June 14, three days after their first meeting, the publishers met again to discuss their resolution. Herman Black, publisher of the American, who had not been in Chicago when the first meeting was held, was present and said that, in his judgment, because all the newspapers had pledged themselves to act in accord and unison to clean up gang and official viciousness, the Lingle investigation should be conducted by attorneys representing all the newspapers, and not solely by an attorney of THE TRIBUNE. Mr. Rathbun's honesty and capacity were not challenged. Col. McCormick objected that the employment of additional attorneys would render Mr. Rathbun's work ineffective, and refused the tender of other attorneys to represent the newspapers jointly.

Since the June 14 meeting the only steps taken by Chicago's newspapers to carry out the letter and spirit of their joint resolution of June 11 have been the prosecutions of their separate investigations into the causes of Lingle's murder—into his gangland connections and into the gangland connections of each other's staffs. Hours of reportorial effort and columns of news space have been devoted to the disclosure of alleged gangland connections of living reporters. But the reader who recalls the high promise of their joint resolution now wonders whether Chicago's newspapers thereby declared war on gangland or on each other.

There can be no escape from the conclusion that among some hundreds of Chicago newsmen there probably are individuals who have forgotten their obligations to their newspapers and to their newspapers' readers. The Daily Times is convinced that there is not one of the newspaper organizations in Chicago that is unwilling to seek out and eliminate from its personnel the unfaithful and the dishonest. But if each newspaper continues to direct its efforts to the discovery of dishonesty among the employés of the other newspapers, and not to the disruption of gang rackets, the only possible result can be a distrust of the motives and loss of faith in the purposes of all, a distrust for which there is no other justification.

The Daily Times recalls to the publishers that they have pledged themselves to the elimination of evils of gangs, racketeers, and all corruption, wherever it may be. The Daily Times urges upon each publisher the desirability of an unprejudiced inquiry into the activities of his own house, instead of a competitive inquiry each into the houses of the others. Let's ferret out and eliminate reporters who do not observe the traditional newspaper code if they are found, but let's do it by joint and unified action and not in a hysterical, competitive brawl.

The city, county, and state governments have proved powerless to cope with Chicago's criminal ganglands. The Daily Times calls upon the publishers of Chicago to consider well the promise made to the citizens in the resolution of June 11.

The Daily Times is neither for nor against any newspaper in this emergency. It is for the decent citizens of the city against all criminals. It is for the decent newspaper workers of the city against any and all who may disgrace their calling. It stands ready to bear its share of the burden which all the newspapers of the city agreed to carry in their resolution of June 11.

THE HEALTHY PERIOD.

We are now in the early reaches of the healthiest period of the year. This period of good health can be expected to continue until just before Thanksgiving. This condition applies to practically all of North America and all of western Europe. It applies to people of all ages. Some recent studies of infants made in Illinois show that the baby death rate is now low in the summer months. This applies even to babies under three months of age. This has come about only in recent years and much of the change is due to man's effort to make life safe in hot weather.

Not so many years ago summer and autumn typhoid was a great scourger. Now water supplies are protected, people will not drink water that they are not certain about, and typhoid has become a rare disease. Fifty years ago practically every man could expect to have typhoid at some time in his progress through Shakespeare's seven ages of man. Now more than 99 per cent of the population can expect to escape typhoid.

Malaria was once a deadly and disabling disease. In most regions malaria is now negligible. In the old days July and August exacted an awful toll from the babies. Almost every baby had diarrhea at some time or other during hot weather. The baby death rate has now much less than half of its former importance and the diarrheas have decreased even more than these figures indicate. The winter-spring, with its pneumonias, colds, and communicable diseases, is replacing the diarrheas as the outstanding menace to baby life.

The reasons for this improvement in the baby diarrheal situation are not difficult to find. Cow's milk as it comes to the nursery is cleaner, colder, and freer from infection. In the towns and cities almost all of it is pasteurized. There are effective means of home pasteurization for those who need it. The mothers know how to feed their babies, or at least most of them do. More important than knowing how, they carry out what they know.

Little is left of the fly nuisance. There are not many flies within houses and those that are there do not have much chance to infect food. Hot weather dress, for both adults and children, is more sensible now.

TABES DORSALIS.

G. G. writes. Is tabes dorsalis in the first stage curable?

REPLY:

Good medical treatment of tabes dorsalis in the first stages is helpful. Beyond that, I prefer not to say.

PARENTAL BLOOD TEST.

Mrs. A. B. writes: Will a blood test show whether a certain man is the father of a certain child?

REPLY.

No.

WHOOPING COUGH.

Mrs. L. W. writes: How long does whooping cough last? How long after having contracted it can one tell it from ordinary cough?

REPLY.

Whooping cough is very contagious during the fever stage. This generally lasts about two weeks. It is mildly contagious for about three weeks after that.

The peculiar cough is an undependable sign in making the diagnosis and in fixing the period of contagiousness. Some cases never whoop. Diagnosis must be made without that sign.

Once a child has learned to cough the whooping way he may keep it up for weeks or months. In fact, some children seem loath to go back to the old way of coughing.

RAW AND PASTEURIZED MILK.

C. J. L. writes:

1. I am to go on a milk diet and I have been advised to use only certified raw milk. Is raw milk more easily digested and more nourishing than pasteurized milk?

2. Just how and why is raw milk superior to pasteurized milk?

REPLY:

1. No.
2. It isn't.

FIND UNDERLYING CAUSE.

H. M. writes: Is there a cure for alopecia? I have had it on my face for about a year, and have tried several things for it, but the spots continue to grow larger.

REPLY.

Your physician should be able to cure the underlying condition. When this is done, hair will return on the bald spots.

WHERE TO FILE DIVORCE BILL.

Barrington, Ill., July 11.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. How long must one live in a county before applying for a divorce there? 2. Considering transportation and the fact of having lived in Cook county previously, it would be more convenient to go about it there although I live just inside of Lake county. N. S.

1. Although a year's residence in the state is required, no previous residence in the county is necessary, but the complainant should be a resident of the county at the time of filing the bill.

2. You should file the bill in Lake county, on these facts.

BORN AT SEA.

Chicago, July 14.—[Friend of the People.]—A child was born at sea on a ship flying the United States flag. The parents were English and were on a visit to this country. After a stay here of a month they returned with the child to their native land. Is the child an American? N. F. N.

No. FRED J. SCHLOTTFELDT,
District Director of Naturalization.

SIDEWALK BILL UNPAID.

Chicago, July 11.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A piece of property was sold September, 1929, the former owner swearing that there was no assessment on the house, but a bill for sidewalk laid in November, 1928, was unpaid. Who has to pay the assessment, the former owner or the present owner, who bought the property in 1929? S. S.

If the seller gave a warranty deed, then the tax lien would be a breach of such warranty and the buyer could compel the seller to pay. We assume that this lien was not excepted by express wording in the deed.

THE BOTTLE COLLECTOR.

He had a big bulging gunnysack on his shoulder that clanked ominously as he walked along. He was sharply eying the grass along the pavement, and now and then he would make a pounce down and capture something, which went immediately into the sack. "Seen any dead soldiers, mister?" he asked as we came up to him. Speaking his language fluently, we knew he meant empty whisky or gin bottles. We had observed several of these relics, but we wanted the man with a gunnysack to tell us why he was collecting them. "I'm findin' 'em for a guy," he said, "an' I git a half cent apiece for every one I turn in." "You ought to do well, then," said we; "there's plenty of 'em about." "Yeah," said the man, "you said it. But most of the dirty skunks break 'em when they's through with 'em. My boss can't use no broken ones." "And what does the man who buys them from you do with the bottles?" asked we. The man with a gunnysack looked at us pityingly. "He grinds 'em up fer breakfast food," he said; "what juh think?" "He has a queer appetite," said we. "Yeah," said the man. "Very queer," said we. "Yeah," said he. "It's a strange story," said we. "You're dam tootin'!" said the man, and then he spied a rum container hiding behind a tree and started merrily off in full cry.

IN THE NARCOTIC WARD.

Do not bring your roses here, bring the flowers of rue—
In life's torture house they gave all the peace I knew;
Flowers from the fields of Pain, poppies, deadly sweet—
Fold them in these restless hands, strew them at my feet:

Lay them on the frozen heart, broken in the fight;
Faint, elusive, it may prove Lethe for despair.

Red for passion summer-fleet, white for holy fires,
Gold for spirit's high resolve, shattered by desires;
Lying in a dreamless sleep, I will bless you true,
For in life's grim house they gave all the peace I knew.

Gnawing ever in my heart, hunched the rat of Fear;
I could hear him when I waked in the night hours drear.
And for respite brief I gave priceless thing in pay—
Body's beauty, artist's soul, friends, and love in May.

If this sleep should break, I'll go upward to the Gate
Bearing poppies in my hands, withered sheaves of fate:
Not in justice shall I pay further toll for sin;
Knowing, understanding all, God will let me in.

ETHELYN BRYANT CHAPMAN.

THIS TREE sitting craze is not so bad, but when the boys find out that it keeps them out of mischief they'll come down so fast they'll burn the bark.

AND HERE'S A BRAND new one that is indeed a fitting successor to endurance flying, marathon dancing, pole sitting, and tree roosting. The new one is to back an auto all the way from New York to Loz Onglaize, all the gears in the car except the reverse having been removed. It's bad enough to have automobiles coming at you head on, but now, as this new craze spreads, they'll be coming at you both ways. Guess we'll join the tree roosters.

AND SPEAKING of being up a tree and making an endurance record, think of the poor old senate down in Washington these days. And have you any idea how hot Washington is in summer? Did you ever walk into a real hot fire under a furnace and sit around for two or three hours? No? Then you can't have any notion of how hot Washington is in the summertime.

AH, THIS COLD, unromantic machine (gun) age! Paul Revere, when he heard the British were coming, rode from Charleston to Lexington to "spread the alarm to every Middlesex village and farm." That was in 1775. Yesterday Paul Revere, a direct descendant of the hero of that never to be forgotten ride, was pinched in Quincy, Mass., for speeding his auto. O tempora! O mores!

AND TO CONTINUE the sad subject lightly touched on above: Jesse James III., grandson of the distinguished bank robber of the same name, was taken to the hoosegow in Chicago day before yesterday charged with trying to hornswoggle a bank out of a blank checkbook. And when the elder Jesse went after a bank he cleaned up the town and put the bank on a truck and hauled it away. And now—tck, tck, tck!

A MEMBER of the house of commons stole the sacred emblem of authority, the mace, and ran away with it. He was captured and the mace restored to its historic place just before Westminster abbey flopped over three times, St. James palace turned handsprings across Green park, or the Tower of London could cower with shame in its own dungeons. The cables from London do not mention what happened to the Laborite member who stole the mace, but it's highly probable he was either boiled in oil or had his head chopped off six times.

LAGNIAPPE.

AND JUST as we had got used to blizzards in July, what does the weather do but give the thermometer a kick in the pants and send it up to something like a hundred yesterday. We've got to learn to do as they do in Loz Onglaize and turn on visitors with a dazed, pained expression and say: "Tut, tut, tut! This is the first day we've had unpleasant weather in forty years."

WE REGRET TO REPORT that the last line dropped out of the column today on account of hedging sales. We don't know what hedging sales are, but that's the reason wheat keeps going down, and it sounds like a perfectly good alibi for us not having a last line.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 18, 1865.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Johnson will recommend to the next session of congress the adoption of a policy which will increase emigration to this country, and thereby secure a further settlement of the public lands in the western territories.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Our city is greatly excited over a wanton and systematic violation of the Sabbath on the part of some seventeen of our clothing houses and the city magistrates have been engaged all day in attending to the matter, though, so far, the administration of justice in the cases seems a farce, $3 being the extent of the penalty in each case. This is an outrage on morality that is bringing disgrace upon our city.

NEW YORK.—Mme. Jumel Burr, widow of Aaron Burr, died at her home on Washington Heights.

BOSTON.—The Traveller learns that a number of rebel generals have recently been released from Fort Warren. Among them was Maj. Gen. Jackson from Savannah, and it is understood that Gens. Marmaduke and Pottle were also in the party.

NEW YORK.—Maj. Gen. Hooker has promulgated his first official order in this city, assuming command of the department of the east, and relieving Gen. Dix.

DES MOINES, Ia.—The Pacific Railroad company has commenced laying track from Omaha west. The road will be completed for 100 miles this year.

CHICAGO.—Following are some of the incomes of citizens of Cook county whose returns were $2,000 and over for the year 1864: W. T. Aller, $64,469; Thomas M. Avery, $31,444; Eli Bates, $51,015; T. B. Bryan, $26,140; U. H. Crosby, $194,282; William Cowles, $60,340; Thomas S. Dickinson, $41,145; N. K. Fairbank, $99,400; S. N. Kellogg, $104,257; W. S. McCormick, $70,006; C. H. McCormick, $191,399; William B. Ogden, $388,455; Martin Ryerson, $52,900; J. Y. Scammon, $21,113.

JULY 18, 1900.

LONDON.—The Chinese situation has been further complicated by a formal declaration of war by China against Russia and the bombardment by Chinese troops of the Russian town of Blagovechensk on the River Amur in Siberia, but is at the same time relieved by news that the allied force, after a most heroic rally, surprised the Chinese in the native city of Tientsin and captured the town. The allies lost nearly 800 men in killed and wounded in the two days of fighting, July 13 and 14.

GEORGETOWN, Ky.—Testimony of a sensational nature was given at the trial of Caleb Powers, former secretary of state, charged with being an accessory before the fact to the murder of William Goebel, by Finley Anderson, a Republican of Knox county. Anderson testified that Powers said to him: "Goebel will never live to be governor. If no one else kills him, I will kill him myself."

CHICAGO.—James T. Appleton, a former prominent Democratic politician and an alderman from the Second ward from 1882 until 1890, died at his home, 296 37th street, at the age of 57, and in his death Chicago loses one of its most picturesque political characters. "Jim D'App," as he was familiarly known, was a colleague of Ed Cullerton, "Red" Sheridan, John Colvin, Frank Lawler, and Pat Sanders. He was not only a fighter in politics and war but with his fists as well, and his friends recall when he fought Black Jack Yattaw of "bumboat fame" before hundreds from the levee district and whipped him.

JULY 18, 1920.

NEW YORK.—Leading Shamrock IV. by four miles, Resolute was unable because of lack of wind to finish in the second race of the series for the America's cup, the contest being ended with expiration of time limit of six hours allowed. The challenger now has one win to its credit as a sop for what might have happened to it had the Herreshof sloop been favored with a livelier breeze. There is a rumor that Sir Thomas Lipton was not wholly satisfied with the manner in which the challenger was handled.

PROGRESS AGAINST SMOKE.

Chicago, July 15.—For years THE TRIBUNE has been working for smoke elimination and I am wondering if it is appreciated what has been the actual accomplishment. As I dictate this letter, I am looking out of my office window, in the Peoples Gas building, over the lake front, a vista of more than twenty years duration.

I like the steam locomotive. My life's endeavor is tied to it. I must admit, however, that it has not a place in the front yard of a great city. How gratifying it must be to you, therefore, and to others who have worked to the same end, to know that the switching of the Randolph street yard is now smokeless and steamless and almost noiseless.

Each evening for all of these years I have observed the making up of the "drags" in the Randolph yards of the Illinois Central. From two to three and four full trains are made up in these yards for the Michigan Central each day besides the heavy movement of the Illinois Central and a train or two for the Soo line and C. & O. This evening the work is going on without a single steam switch engine in sight. The oil-electric engines of the Illinois Central and of the Michigan Central seem to be doing all of the required work, for the first time, without the assistance of a steam locomotive.

Perhaps a word of appreciation to the Illinois Central gentlemen would not be out of place at this time, particularly since they have smarted under rather severe criticism for years past.

A CARTOON APPRECIATED.

Chicago, July 14.—If the question were submitted to me I would say that your Mr. McCutcheon is the best cartoonist in America. A few cartoons stand out and are remembered for many years by the public, and my object in writing today is to call attention to the one on Sunday, July 13, headed, "Is He Any Better as a Prophet Now than He Was Then?"

This prophet, to my mind, is no better than he was in July, 1929, "and before long we'll find that he is mistaken now." This is too large a country, too wealthy a country, and too ambitious a country to take the position that "the business outlook is bad. Unemployment is increasing. I can't see any light ahead."

We Hoosiers are all very proud of John T. McCutcheon because he is also a Hoosier. WILLIAM B. AUSTIN.

GOLD STAR MOTHERS.

Marshalltown, Ia., July 11.—The item which appeared on page 11 of the TRIBUNE of July 11th, under the heading "Gold Star Ship Chartered for Colored Women," makes one wonder what has become of the democracy the colored boys fought on the fields of France to make the world safe for. It also makes one wonder since when did any government become so weak that the steamship lines leaving from its country's ports could dictate their terms to that country's government.

D. N. CROSTHWAIT, JR.

NO GASOLINE.

Chicago, July 15.—The pathetic case of the assistant principal who is so destitute that she cannot afford gas for her car has invoked my deepest sympathy. Consider, if you will, her plight. This poor, overworked minion, who receives $9.50 per day during the two summer months and $275 per month for the other ten months, must surely be starving while she supports a husband. This compensation is for a five hour day and a five day week, with numerous holidays with pay.

I suggest she be introduced to some of the folks supporting a family of three or four on $200 a month, and without front page publicity.

A. C. ALDRICH.

DUPLICATE STREET NAMES.

Chicago, July 14.—I would like to offer a suggestion for a change in street names which would avoid a couple of present duplications. I suggest that the name of Lincoln street be changed to Robey street. This would avoid the needless confusion with Lincoln avenue and at the same time preserve the name of Robey. No disrespect would be shown to our great civil war President, as his name, I hope, always will be retained in Lincoln avenue.

The second proposed change would be to name the east and west street which is now Austin avenue Cass street. This would retain the name of Cass, which has been associated with Chicago's early history, to a street in the vicinity of the former Cass street, which has been changed to North Wabash. In addition it would also eliminate a useless duplication with the North and South Austin avenue.

I hope North State street will be widened as far north as Elm street, as the street car line makes intense congestion that far north. Due to the numerous cross street openings, it should not cost a great deal more to widen it to Elm street than the proposed widening to Chicago avenue.

JOHN J. BROWN.

NUISANCE SUPPRESSORS.

Marquette, Mich., July 12.—Your editorial on "Noise Abatement," in the issue of July 8, calls attention to one of the greatest problems of city life. What all big cities need, and many small ones also, is an official nuisance suppressor, one with authority to abate any disturbing nuisance. Life in great cities could be made quite tolerable if we could get rid of most unnecessary nuisances. EDWIN MEAD.

DISAPPOINTED FANS.

Chicago, July 14.—Last Friday an announcement was read at Crane High school and junior college telling of the treat in store, the opportunity to witness a doubleheader today, featuring Babe Ruth. Anxious, eager guests lined up and waited one and one-half hours for the great event. As they finally arrived at the entrance, a pompous individual glanced at the passes and growled:

So certain does Nurito banish sciatica, rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago and neuritis that the head of the syndicate which has purchased this German Specialist's prescription treats his own mother with it. Although 80 years old, she never feels a pain or ache since using it. Many who had despaired of ever getting relief have been overcome with joy after a few doses of Nurito.

Make this simple test: Go to Walgreen's and ask for Nurito. If the very first three doses do not stop your pain your money will be refunded without question. Don't wait a single unnecessary minute—go to Walgreen's right now.

LOESCH SURVEY REVEALS LAXITY OF JURY SYSTEM

Methods of handling jurors summoned to serve in the Criminal courts should be brought up to date, Attorney Frank J. Loesch, president of the Chicago Crime commission, said yesterday in making public the report of a survey by his organization. The report says that out of 780 men summoned as jurors during one period in April, only 283 men were really called upon to give their time for active jury service.

Attorney Loesch addressed a letter yesterday to Chief Justice D. J. Normoyle of the Criminal court calling attention to the manner in which venires are handled in the twelve branch courts. The chief justice and his associates are invited to take action to bring about a betterment of conditions.

Trace Result of Summonses.

The commission survey shows what happened in regard to each of the 780 men summoned for service during the April period. According to the records 314 of the prospective jurors were marked as having been "excused." Deputy sheriffs reported that 97 others could not be found to be notified. Sixty-one paid no attention to the summons. The deputies reported that no trace could be found of what happened to 17 of the men, and that 8 others had moved or died.

Of the 314 men marked "excused" only 16 appeared in open court to give an excuse to the judges, according to the survey report. How the other 298 men happened to be excused could not be found out by the observers for the crime commission.

Deputy Sheriffs Criticized.

The deputy sheriffs sent after jurors are not any too energetic in their efforts to get service, the report charges. The commission announced that with the aid of the telephone directory 46 of the 97 jurors reported not found, were located.

"A change should be made in the rules of the Criminal court to the end that all excuses be made personally in open court and for good reasons," says the commission report. "Where prospective jurors disregard the summons to serve as jurors they should be cited for contempt."

TESTS TROLLEY NOISE HE HOPES TO ELIMINATE

Just why Chicago street cars roar and shriek and clatter is being determined by Prof. J. K. Tuthill, electrical railway engineering professor of the University of Illinois, with the aid of a machine which records noise volume.

Tests are being made daily by Prof. Tuthill, who is employed by the surface lines to analyze the causes of street car noises with the purpose of reducing them.

The machine is mounted on the curb as a test street car is driven up and down Cicero avenue, between Irving Park boulevard and Montrose avenue. It thus registers the amount of clang to the pedestrian. It is then mounted within the car, first with windows closed, then with windows open, measuring the volume of noise minus the noise of outside traffic, and with the accompaniment of traffic.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Restful Interlude

GEORGE WHITING, PHILANTHROPIST, PAPER KING, DIES

Neenah, Wis., July 17.—[Special.]—George A. Whiting, 81, president of the Whiting-Plover Paper company of Stevens Point and the George A. Whiting Paper company of Menasha, one of the pioneers in the paper industry in the Fox river valley and prominent philanthropist, died early today at his home. He had been ill two weeks with bronchial pneumonia and this overtaxed his heart.

Mr. Whiting is survived by a widow and one son. Plans for the funeral have not been completed.

During the last few years of his life Mr. Whiting became noted for his many gifts to religious, educational, lodge, and civic institutions. At the time of the building of the Masonic temple here, about four years ago, he was one of the chief contributors. Institutions to which he made large gifts and which, as a consequence, bear his name, are the Whiting Memorial Baptist church here, a gift to the congregation made in memory to his former wife; the Whiting hotel at Stevens Point, and the Whiting Country club there. He also made substantial gifts to Lawrence and Ripon colleges, Whiting athletic field at the Appleton institution being one of the most recent gifts.

25 MEN CRASH DELMONICO'S IN SHIRT SLEEVES

While lorgnettes were lifted in stony silence and the management deplored the invasion, the flaunters of convention trifled with creamed chicken and mushrooms.

Charter members of the Men's Modern Dress Reform committee, they were headed by Prof. Leroy Bowman of Columbia university, and Harry Simons, editor of the Clothing Trade Journal. Mrs. Madge Barnewell, the expedition's sponsor, accompanied the party.

Prof. Bowman explained that he and his fellow pioneers were not attired in shirts at all, but in specially designed upper and outer garments combining the best features of both shirts and vests. These resembled the blouses with pockets worn by small boys of a decade ago.

Plant Closed, Owner Gives His 700 Employes $700,000

New Brunswick, N. J., July 17.—(AP)—J. H. Michelin, tire manufacturer, offered today to make available to 700 former employés a gift of $700,000.

The gift was made some time ago to employés who had worked at the company's plant in Milltown until it had closed about two months ago, but it was not to be distributed until the end of three years.

In the event the employés who would participate do not desire to take their share now Michelin said they would receive it at the end of three years with accumulated interest at 5 per cent.

YOUNG GOLDSBOROUGH, PLANE CRASH VICTIM, TO BE BURIED TODAY

New York, July 17.—(AP)—New York will pay tribute at a public funeral tomorrow to Frank Goldsborough, boy flyer, who died yesterday on his twentieth birthday anniversary in Bennington, Vt., after his plane had come down in a fogbound forest.

The body of the boy, holder of junior transcontinental flight records and son of a trans-Atlantic flight victim, was brought to New York today from Vermont. It was accompanied by Mrs. Brice Goldsborough, his mother, and Donald Mockler, the youth's flying companion, who tramped for hours through the woods to summon help after the crash.

Young Mockler showed the strain of the tragedy more than the flyer's mother, to whom it was the second such blow in less than three years. Her husband was lost with Mrs. Frances Grayson's plane, The Dawn, in 1927.

Rev. William Huelster, 89, Former Educator, Is Dead

Word was received here yesterday of the death of the Rev. William Huelster, 89 years old, who formerly lived at 1923 Morse avenue, but for some time had been making his home with his daughter, Mrs. N. B. Zinkan, in Edmonton, Alberta. In 1869, Mr. Huelster was treasurer and manager of Northwestern college. He was also the first treasurer of North Central college of Naperville. His son, the Rev. E. W. Heulster, 62, is pastor of the First Congregational church of Elkhart, Ind.

Two U. S. Marines Die in Plane Crash in Nicaragua

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, July 17.—(AP)—Walter Lee Pounders, U. S. marine gunner and pilot, and Chalmers Lewis Martin, U. S. marine aerologist, were killed while making an aerological flight ten miles south of Managua yesterday. A marine relief party which went to the assistance of the stricken plane found both bodies in the cockpits of the plane, which had been smashed in. Pounders apparently had died instantly while Martin, mortally injured, appeared to have died soon afterward. Pounders came from Colt, Ark., and Martin came from Barlow, O.

KONJOLA

MISS FLORENCE BLACK
4722 Pensacola Ave., Chicago

One cannot get around facts, and the fame of Konjola, the new and different medicine, is based on absolute, provable facts of its success, even where all else tried has failed. Here's more proof of the merit of this amazing medicine. Read what Miss Black says:

"I am fifteen and a high school student, and have been under-weight. Was down to eighty-nine. My mother had such fine results from Konjola, which she took for rheumatism, that I was induced to try this new medicine. In three weeks—in which time I used three bottles—I gained ten pounds. I eat and feel much better, and have so much more energy. Now my father is starting to take Konjola. This family certainly considers Konjola a great medicine."

The Nine Hundred Block

BY KATHARINE HAVILAND TAYLOR

SYNOPSIS.

CHRISTMAS PREPARATIONS.

The boss was getting fond of Johnny who was doing better than he'd expected Johnny could. He was beginning to think he could elevate Johnny to the world and make him a "first class striper." Around the shop they hailed Johnny as "Big J. Z." as a joke . . . They had explained to Johnny, who was so obviously a novice to the craft, that Big J. Z. Deane was at the top of the trade, making the best bodies in the world. "Yeh," said Johnny, "I've heard of him."

"Sure yuh have, you dumbbell, you don't know nothin'!" an associate protested.

"I'm beginning to realize I 'don't know nothing,'" Johnny agreed, "but I have heard of J. Z. Deane," he ended, and with a peculiar smile.

At noon times he played basketball and volleyball, and very well. He grew popular with the men, who occasionally brought him a piece of cement crusted pie made by "the old woman." But the stenographers, after a tryout, sniffed as they saw Johnny wandering in the sunshine during their little hour of noon. He listened gravely to their sallies, sometimes looking baffled, and he had never slapped a girl on a shoulder, nor pinched an arm.

"Big stiff!" they murmured, lips curling. But he commanded keen attention as mystery always does.

One girl, and without the knowledge of her associates, asked him to go with her to the Hair Dressers' ball. Timorously, she explained that she got tickets through her sister, who worked in the Paris Beauty shop on Mullins street. Maybe he'd seen the shop—passing?

Johnny's old manner of refusing plunged him into hot water and it set a hurt in the eyes of the girl that followed him for a long time. "So sorry,"

"Sorry," he said, "but I hope you choke."

he had said, and warmly, "but you see I have a dinner engagement and I'm going on——"

"On where?" she wondered. And—a dinner engagement!

"But it don't start till eight," she pointed out, "so's people can have their suppers first; the refreshments is only ice cream and donated cakes."

He had faltered over the fact that he was "dining" at eight. She knew he lied. And dining. She tossed her head to turn away. "Why don't yuh say you don't wanta go—like a man?" she flung over shoulder.

My lord, the new footing was difficult to keep without stumbling, Johnny decided. He couldn't see what he had done—to hurt the child as he had—which he truly regretted.

His dining at eight—somehow—got around the shop. Perhaps from a girl who wept over her work to blurt out the insulting cause of hurt, as people sometimes do—to regret confidence, later.

Even the boss fell into step to murmur, at the proffer of a mustard-topped pretzel [at that hour when Johnny had been wont to take tea]. "No, Perkins, I ain't smearin' up my insides with no mustard pretzel. Me an' my ole woman are dinin' at eight on warmed up sauerkraut and doughballs——"

When royalty cracks a joke, the court crack their collective ribs. The joke was repeated—in various forms—for a week and even then, to the shop, it did not seem shopworn.

Johnny learned the way to blushes and to caution; a pair that are often located at one, uncomfortable while. And Johnny had found, too, that many of the attentions that in the old life had been lavished upon him must have been synthetic or—offered to him simply because he was a modern version of the golden calf. He knew, walking his new days humbly, that the new ways were good for him and that, in their discomfort, he was finding his real self. And he knew also that he had found the girl he wanted for his wife and that all of his past had been full of puppy love.

"But I mustn't say anything," he warned himself again and again, "until I break with Collette." That Collette would point the exit out to him, he did not dream. A little of old habit and his old assurance clung. And that the girl he loved would torture both herself and him, he could not dream. Johnny, from infancy, had had everything that he wanted and never had he wanted anything as he wanted Theresa as his, for always. Humbly, hungrily, he wanted her for the years of his life [not for an hour; not for a day, to borrow of Mr. Berlin's fading cantata] and he felt that in a little time [which stretched long before him] he would have her for life. Not dreaming, Johnny, that for Theresa a keen knowledge of poverty had not blinded her to certain things that she must have, things that money cannot buy.

He put the portrait of Collette in a lower drawer of the forward-tilting, yellow oak bureau and beneath a pile of shirts that bore a Bond street haberdasher's mark. "Sorry," he said as he did it, "but I hope you choke!"

He realized that he had been exceedingly tight on that early morning when he had asked Collette to cast her lot with his for life, and that it had been Collette, who, in a roadhouse of dubious reputation, had kept his glass well filled. And he also realized that his revolt against his father's opposition had come because he, Johnny, was so used to having his way.

Sometimes he remembered how he had thought that, in a small town, he would be general manager of any body works in two days, and the remembrance made him grin sheepishly. Many raps must fall upon knuckles in the course of learning the scale of life and the value of the tone one can produce.

Early in December a large order made night work for those who wanted it. Johnny reported for time and a half pay. Christmas—coming! And he was going to get her decent flowers, books, candies, he vowed, even if he had to "pawn his wardrobe and swank around in his polo pants." He thought a great deal of what flowers she would like best—working those nights in December—and at length he decided upon some plants that would grow and keep on blooming; footed in the sort of pot that would be "tolerable" . . . He had never before said anything beyond—"O—orchids—valley lillies, I guess—" as he flung his card on a counter.

Theresa was very busy that week before Christmas; she was going to make sea foam and nut fudge for every one in the house and for B. Jones; and Mrs. Baum, who had been so kind in asking about how her mother and she were getting settled. And Mr. Gale had brought her so much work that she could hardly get it out fast enough. She was beginning to like Mr. Gale; he was "very pleasant." He had fallen into the habit of stopping a moment each time he came to chat with her. And the Friday before Christmas she was going to the new country club with Mr. Treadway to a dance! Every time she thought of it she grew cold to hope she wouldn't disgrace him in any way. She had never been to a country club before and all untried seas bring a little trepidation to those who are not naturally hard-shelled voyagers.

"How will I know where to leave my coat, mother?"

"O, the ladies will be trailing to the room."

"O," she said simply. She didn't want even her mother to know how miserably inexperienced and shy she felt about the going. And——

"Don't you think my dress is, perhaps, a little low?"

"No, darling, not with your neck . . . anyway, it's quite conservative."

Elsie Colt had shown wisdom about the dress; she knew Theresa would be looked upon by many as an interloper and that she must be garbed for a subdued rôle. Therefore, the dress was a pale lemon chiffon in which Theresa looked a tea rose. It had come from the Style shop, where the proprietress, seeing a drama in a girl's flush and her brightened eyes, had called Theresa "child," or "dear," and had lost three dollars from her profit . . . "I knocked that dress down," she confided to her husband as Theresa left the shop—shaking—and clutching an oblong box so tightly. "I suppose I'm a fool, but I—couldn't help doing it—somehow! She said, 'I'm afraid it's too much,' and kept looking at it——"

"Well, it's Christmas time," said the man; he liked her in those soft woods which were frequent and he had come to the realization that one can't eat on in two ways at one time. Lighting candles in the eyes of shabbily clad, shaking girls, generally diminished the profit that one could set down in the books. But there was—another profit, a real sort: the sort the "go-getters" rarely see.

The dress home, Theresa laid it out upon the bed to do homage to it.

"You'll have to have slippers, darling," said Elsie.

Churches Need Happier Faith, Dr. Covert Says

Former Chicago Pastor Talks to Presbyterians.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Mass production applied to religion was opposed by Bishop Titus Lowe of Portland, Ore., who spoke at the Des Plaines camp meeting of the Methodists last night. The group spirit of war, "men, money, munitions," is forcing the individual Christian out of the picture in favor of a "social gospel," just as the private soldier is a mere pawn in the plans of a general staff, he declared.

Earlier yesterday the Rev. Dr. William Chalmers Covert, formerly a Chicago pastor but now general secretary of the Presbyterian board of education, voiced a similar complaint. He spoke during the conference being conducted this week at the Presbyterian Theological seminary. He deplored that organizing brains were replacing individual human emotions in affairs of religion.

Dr. Covert referred to modern psychological research and pointed to the existence of "a God given something in the deeper strata of our psychic structure that is more vital to the joy and power and perpetuity of our religion than are the more obvious and external features of creed and program."

Vigorous descriptive phrases were used by Dr. Covert in regard to current American religion. He declared the Protestant churches of this country must "arise from their ecclesiastical routine." They are in danger of being buried beneath "the dust of dignity," he said, as well as being afflicted with "stereotyped terminology, cant and insincerity, intellectual abstractions and diluted devotions."

In six points, the Presbyterian educational secretary summarized the present churches' causes of ineffectiveness; in four points he declared a program the churches, in his opinion, must adopt to preserve their usefulness.

"The churches' neglect of the emotions.

"The indifference and fruitlessness of church people.

"The lack of appreciation of worship.

Dr. Covert in his appeal for a developed emotional basis for religion based on art, music, prayer and worship, and at the same time giving the intellect full sway in its limited sphere, urged the ministers to find the possibilities of four situations which he listed as follows:

"The thrilling intimacy of a great brotherhood.

"The obsession of a great personal devotion to Jesus Christ."

The Protestant churches are ready for a new appreciation of worship and a freer use of emotional values, Dr. Covert contended, and declared that men cannot think their way to God."

Bishop Lowe declared religious education that only conveys religious fact matter does not fulfill the task of a church's educational program. He pointed to 1929 as "the most discouraging year in the history of Methodism." Attendance at the Sunday schools had fallen off at least 50,000 during that period, he said. The cause for that shrinkage, he indicated, was failure "to present the Gospel in the language of today."

The bishop said the war period had done much to stifle individual values, and that had affected religion, too.

C. P. Davis New President of Beta Theta Pi Club

Charles P. Davis, graduate of the University of Michigan and a retired jeweler, was elected president of the Beta Theta Pi club of Chicago yesterday at the fraternity's annual meeting. He succeeds Judge George A. Cooke. Other officers are: Herbert H. Taylor, Jr., vice president; Hal C. Billig, secretary; David R. Jones, treasurer, and Kenneth Gifford, Charles C. Grant, Roderick M. Grant, Percival Hart, Griswold Price and Horace Lozier, directors.

BEG YOUR PARDON

In a recent Los Angeles dispatch published in THE TRIBUNE the statement was made that A. T. Sokolow, legal representative of the Los Angeles Examiner, had passed on the legality of selling documents wanted for use in a civil court case. The documents had been obtained by Morris Lavine. At the time Mr. Sokolow was shown the documents Lavine was a reporter for the Los Angeles Examiner. Mr. Sokolow did not pass upon the legality of selling the documents. He only examined the documents for libelous matter, this being a duty called for by his position with the Examiner.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 17.—John Evans Carberry, the former Lord Carberry, who became a naturalized American and insisted on being called "mister" secretly was married a week ago to June Weir, 22 years old, it was revealed today. It was his third wedding.

The former member of the peerage and famous aviator left with his bride a few days after the ceremony for a flight around Europe, beginning with Germany. His wife also is an experienced pilot. She is in hearty agreement with his distaste for a title.

"I want to be called Mrs. Carberry. I do not care for 'lady,'" she said. "Titles mean nothing, since my husband has become an American and doesn't want to use his title. I don't want to, either."

Carberry became an American soon after the war and changed his name. He is 37 years old and is wealthy.

Passports Set Chicago Record; 13,385 Issued

Passports issued to Chicagoans during the fiscal year ended June 30 broke all records of the passport office here, Robert A. Proctor, director for this district, announced yesterday. A total of 13,385 were issued, 410 more than during the previous year, he said.

"We had expected a decrease of at least 1,000 from last year's number, in view of the stock market slump of last fall," said Mr. Proctor. "However, the figures show a steady increase. During May of this year, 2,586 passports were issued as against 2,473 for May last year. The June figure decreased from 1,909 last year to 1,729 this year. So far in July, however, 639 passports have been issued, which indicates that the total of 1,127 for last year will be surpassed."

The great majority of passports issued were for trips to continental Europe, with Germany, Austria, Italy, and France in the lead among countries to be visited.

The Inquiring Reporter

The Question.

What is the greatest fault we human beings have?

The Answers.

Joseph Courtney, 4610 Washington boulevard, automotive engineer—I believe selfishness is as great as any. Most people seem to forget what it means to be unselfish. Greed for gold has been an overpowering fault since the beginning of time.

Mrs. M. Finestone, 5501 West Washington boulevard, housewife—Love of self, false pride, greediness are among our greatest faults, I believe. Lack of ambition is another. Selfishness and greed are our chief faults.

Roger Leonard, 5827 Fulton street, secretary—I call money hunger the greatest fault. Some people I have met are almost beyond reason in that. Most of crimes of today are done for money.

Mrs. M. J. Goldberg, 3845 West Washington boulevard, housewife—I believe cowardice is one of the greatest faults, at least as great as greed and selfishness.

Louis Bousquet, 3426 Jackson boulevard, student—The greatest fault to have is that of not minding our own business. That's as bad as love of gold and selfishness. Butting into the personal affairs of others is one of the world's greatest faults.

Pope Receives 3 Sons of J. M. Curley, Boston Mayor

ROME, July 17.—Several Americans were received by Pope Pius today, including Msgr. Anthony Schuler, bishop of El Paso, Tex., Father G. J. Owens, Father E. J. Fitzgerald, both of Boston, Mass. The Boston priests were accompanied by James, Paul, and Leo Curley, sons of Mayor James M. Curley of that city.

The pontiff expressed his satisfaction to the American visitors for the results of the American pilgrimage.

Sunday Is German Day for Music at Ravinia Park

German day will be observed at Ravinia on Sunday with a concert program of German music and German composers in the afternoon, and Wagner's opera, "Lohengrin," in the evening. The Chicago Symphony orchestra, directed by Eric DeLamarter, will play Mendelssohn's "Fingal's Cave" overture, Beethoven's "Eroica" symphony the minuet from a "Serenade" by Brambs, and Wagner's "Rienzi" overture. Joseph Vito, harpist of the orchestra, will play a group of numbers by Gilman, Thomas, Schubert, and Brahms. W. Schueller, German consul, and Dr. George Schaller, vice consul, will be guests of honor, and Consul Schueller will make a brief address.

"Lohengrin" in the evening will be sung by Elisabeth Rethberg, Edward Johnson, Julia Claussen, Desiré Defrere, Louis D'Angelo, and George Cehanovsky. Louis Hasselmans will conduct.

The Slavonic club of the University of Chicago will present a program of folk and classical music at Mandel hall tomorrow evening. The Russian balalaika orchestra, directed by P. D. Hudinkowsky, will play. Among the soloists will be Alexander Dobrotchotoff, former director of the Imperial orchestra at Petrograd, balalaika; Michel Wilkomirsky, violinist, and Marie Bronlarczyck, soprano. E. M.

Unveil Shaft for Princeton War Dead in Paris

PARIS, July 17.—(AP)—Jules Jusserand, former French ambassador to the United States, was one of the chief speakers at today's unveiling of a tablet to Princeton men who fell during the world war.

In the course of a brief address he quoted a description of President Hoover as "the chief master of the problem of producing, dividing, and using our national food supply to feed all who needed it; a true son of the people, a youth in heart, a giant in vast achievement; swift, sleepless, and resistless, bending all to one great purpose—to save and not to destroy."

Ambassador Edge presided at the ceremony, which was held in Pershing hall of the American Legion building. Col. Francis E. Drake, representing the Legion, accepted the tablet, which was given by the National Alumni association of Princeton university.

THREE AMERICANS AMONG AUTHORS OF '60 GREATEST NOVELS'

New York, July 17.—[Special.]—Three contemporary American novelists are included in the list of authors of "the sixty great novels of all time," selected by William H. F. Lamont of the English department of Rutgers university, New Brunswick, N. J., made public today.

Prof. Lamont's list was made up at the request of many librarians throughout the United States. They reported that his earlier choice of "fifty great modern novels" had caused a wide popularity for the titles, as he often lectures on the novel.

Seventeen of the selections have been written since 1900. Six of them were produced during the last decade. Authors from the United States, England, France, Germany, Italy, Russia, and Scandinavia are included. His selections with dates of publication are:

Baby Mortality Decreased.

Reduction of nearly 50 per cent in loss of infant lives under its care for the first six months in 1930, compared with the first six months in 1929, was reported yesterday by the Infant Welfare society. From Jan. 1 to June 30, 1930, among the 7,281 babies there were only 41 deaths or a death rate of fifty-six hundredths of one per cent compared with ninety hundredths of one per cent for the first six months of 1929, according to Miss Jeannette Townsend, extension secretary.

College Work Fails to Stick, Educator Says

"Average Student Forgets Half in 6 Months."

The average college student has forgotten half of what he learns six months after he has completed his courses, according to Melvin E. Haggarty, dean of the college of education at the University of Minnesota. Dean Haggerty yesterday addressed 150 college professors and executives at the University of Chicago.

The college heads came here to attend the annual meeting of the institute of administrative officers of institutions of higher learning and to discuss new methods of persuading the college student to take an aggressive attitude toward his own education.

"In order to find out how much the college student forgets, a number of professors at the University of Minnesota have examined their students at intervals after they have taken their final tests in certain subjects," said Dean Haggerty. "It has been found that after six months the student had forgotten about 50 per cent of what he learned."

George W. Rightmire, president of Ohio state university, told of methods used at the Ohio university whereby the professors were graded on their teaching ability by the students.

He said that the professors were thus able to correct mistakes in teaching. Only 83 per cent of the professors were given good grades by the freshmen students, he said.

Floyd W. Reeves, professor of education at the University of Chicago, read a report on training methods of teachers in 40 colleges, state teachers' colleges and junior colleges.

"Until recently administrators have generally assumed that scholarship in a given field is adequate qualification for teaching in that field," Prof. Reeves said. "The error of this assumption has asserted itself emphatically in recent years with the result that many institutions are beginning to focus attention upon methods and administrative measures designed to produce better teaching."

Foreign Schools Discussed.

BRUSSELS, July 17.—The twelfth international secondary educational conference opened this morning in the Palais De Academies. Seventeen countries were represented, with the German delegate present only as an observer, pending readmittance of Germany to the association. Great Britain and Chile are the only noncontinental countries represented.

Nearly 400 delegates are attending, they represent 40,000 secondary teachers. The large hall was filled to capacity and as each national mounted the platform to address the assembly the Belgian Guard band struck up the national anthem of the country represented.

The object of the conference is to discuss overwork in secondary schools resulting from overcrowding of schedules. Maurice Vauthier, Belgian minister of sciences and arts, told the assembly overwork has resulted from change in educational methods. Formely, he said, ancient languages were taught for the sake of disciplining the minds of pupils; now the study of modern tongues has become a necessity, while science takes a large part of a pupil's time.

The congress must consider whether teachers should merely impart knowledge or turn out competent citizens, the minister declared. He urged the necessity of humanizing the teaching of geography and history.

The British delegate, Jenkinson Sheffield, said the British ideal was not to fit pupils for earning a living on leaving school, but to prepare them for life by developing their faculties.

The Italian delegate, Sig. Vigola, said the Italian educational idea was rearing a next generation worthy of the country, rather than cramming pupils with knowledge.

The other delegates spoke of how international peace and understanding are promoted by conferences of international educational leaders.

Sally's 100 Fans Won Even if Chicago Lost

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

It was good baseball, a perfect day and a grand party my hundred young guests and I enjoyed at Comiskey park yesterday, despite the fact that our White Sox were defeated with the resulting score of 12 to 8. They tried hard and they were hitting like nobody's business but they just couldn't pile up more runs than the Philadelphia A's, the world's champion baseball team.

Our fun started before the game when we filed down to the field to have our pictures taken with Smead Jolley and Ted Lyons. You'll find our smiling faces in another part of the paper, substantial proof that we enjoyed this baseball party. The boys autographed balls for us and Jolley let us in on the secret that he's been saving up a home run for the occasion. When he knocked it in the sixth inning you could have heard us for miles around so loud were we cheering, and whistling, and stamping. It was a beautiful piece of work and we couldn't help but feel that it was our run.

There are so many thrilling things to remember about that game at Comiskey park. The triple Simmons of the Athletics made in the first inning. . . . The superb work of Jolley in left field. His superior form kept the Athletics from scoring more than once. . . . Thomas' pitching. . . . Miller, Dykes, and Simmons knocking three runs for the Athletics in the sixth. . . . Smead Jolley's home run.

And, then, that ninth inning! We've never seen anything more breath-taking or exciting. The situation had been a sad one for our boys and they had been working hard. The score board was not a pretty sight showing only three runs to the credit of the Sox, while their opponents, Connie Mack's men boasted 12. Something just had to be done about it. And then, things began to happen. Mulleavey was up. The bases were loaded. Sock! The ball was a white speck whisking at terrific speed over the field. Mulleavey ran to first. Crouse came in—the first of a succession of runs which were to bring the White Sox' score up to 8. Not such an ignominious defeat after all.

When you see ball like that played by the Sox in the ninth inning you know you are watching men who number among the best and you won't be able to keep them down. Certainly, they made our party a happy one and we feel singularly fortunate to have seen them yesterday.

Dullest for Many Years Stage Story in Gotham, Chicago

New York, July 17.—(AP)—Only 26 plays and musical comedies were on view in the whole United States last night.

Chicago, for the first time in many, many years, has only one play this week and New York has only 15, establishing this as the dullest July Broadway has seen since the world war summer of 1917.

Distributed about the rest of the country are ten more shows, according to producers' records. Included in the ten are two musical tabloids, five stock productions, and one minstrel show.

The annual survey made by Actors' Equity association on July 19, considered the dullest day in the whole year in New York, will reveal the lowest number of productions ever listed by Equity, whose records run back to 1922.

At this time a year ago Broadway had 25 productions, but six of them had been closed by July 19 when the Equity survey was made. On July 20 in 1925 and 1926, there were thirty shows playing in New York.

"Two things are responsible for the situation this summer," Frank Gillmore, president of Equity, said today. "When people get hard up they relinquish, first of all, their luxuries. The theater is, of course, a luxury.

"There appear to be fewer tourists in New York this summer than there have been for several years. Trips to New York are luxuries, too."

Three of New York's fifteen shows are hits. The others are doing enough business so that they will probably last through the summer.

London, with sixteen shows, is also complaining about the dullest theatrical summer in years, but it is unusual for London to have more shows than New York.

If You Can't Stand Cod Liver Oil

Get its Benefits from Sugar-Coated Tablets

The modern scientist wrests from Nature its deepest secrets and turns them to man's advantage.

Have you, for instance, heard of the ultra-violet rays which unerringly distinguish between real and imitation diamonds? Or of the remarkable process by which the sun's ultra-violet rays (which the codfish stores in his liver) are extracted from Norwegian cod liver oil and put into sugar-coated tablets free from fishy taste, odor and oiliness?

Vitamins are what make cod liver oil such a wonderful weight, strength and energy builder. And now every last one of these valuable health elements can be found in McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets which taste like candy and which all druggists have for sale.

McCoy's give you cod liver oil's full benefits without the taste. That is why Mrs. Willa Pugsley of Arkansas gained 5 pounds on McCoy's in less than 20 days and enjoyed every minute of the treatment. McCoy's have been tested and endorsed by the Good Housekeeping Bureau of Foods, Sanitation and Health. And all druggists guarantee them—40 tablets 60 cents.

Texans Join Italians in Honor to British Poets

LUCCA, Italy, July 17.—(AP)—A tablet donated by Baylor university, Waco, Texas, was dedicated today in the house where Robert and Elizabeth Browning lived from 1853 to 1857. Baylor university has been particularly interested in the Brownings, because it possesses many of their first editions and manuscripts.

A delegation from Waco was present for the ceremony, together with the local authorities. The speakers were the podesta, or mayor, Prof. Italfani and Prof. Armstrong, who headed the American group.

Frock Saved, Anyway.

A new teacher, Mr. Jones, had arrived in town and Miss Smith resolved to make an impression on him. Accordingly, one warm day she got all dressed up in her pre-Easter clothes and started to walk down the street. Her pretty outfit contrasted nicely with the remaining snow on the ground. All of a sudden, just as she came in view of Mr. Jones, her feet struck some ice.

She slipped around frantically and Mr. Jones ran to save her. Just as he caught her, his feet slipped. He fell to the ice with a terrific crash. Miss Smith falling on top of him. It is hard to say which of the two people was more embarrassed. K. J.

Hot Weather Adds to Ice Fund Gifts; Children Send Cash

THE TRIBUNE Free Ice fund almost but not quite rolled over the $1,000 mark yesterday, but it didn't give up hope of catching up with the Camp Algonquin fund, now nearing a total almost double.

After the latest appeal was issued several days ago friends of the delinquent fund got busy.

"I see by this morning's TRIBUNE," wrote a south side mother, "that money for the ice fund is not coming in in sufficient amounts. Probably people feel poor and uncertain of income, just as I feel, but I cannot resist the appeal, and inclose $3 for the ice fund and also $3 for the camp."

A dollar earned in THE TRIBUNE'S Embarrassing Moments contest was turned over to the ice fund. Down in the 6627 Normal avenue neighborhood several children gave a show and sold candy, earning $2.50. They were Phyllis and Virginia Long, John and Eugene Devan, and Mary Margaret, John, and Thomas Kelly. The Algonquin fund was the recipient of $1.50 earned by Amy Joyce Haag, Ruth Bigler, and Barbara Jean Sett, who gave a show at 12226 Eggleston avenue.

Since previous acknowledgment these gifts have arrived, chief among which was a generous gift of $150 from a donor who preferred to be known as "H. C.":

Fort Sheridan Horse Show Is Starting Today

BY THALIA

The sixth annual Fort Sheridan horse show, to open this morning at 9:15 o'clock with the trooper's mount class, will provide a pleasant break in the summer lull of social events.

There are several classes for young riders and the military classes always are picturesque and exciting. There will be morning and afternoon sessions today and tomorrow. Feature events on today's program include the children's horsemanship class for those under 16 years at 9:45 o'clock this morning, the United States army riding team at 11 o'clock, the Olympic jump at 1 o'clock, the ladies' hunter classes at 2:10 o'clock, and the hunt teams at 3:40 o'clock.

The outstanding classes for tomorrow are the officers' jumping at 9:30 in the morning, polo ponies, the $250 jumpers' stake, another United States army riding team exhibition, an exhibition, an exhibition of bareback riding by Troop A, 14th cavalry, and the 1930 grand hunter championship of the north shore horse show circuit, which is to close the show tomorrow.

There are more than 250 horses to compete in the 35 classes.

Mrs. Donald Ryerson, Mrs. Laurance H. Armour, Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson, and Jack O. Sturtevant are among those who have reserved parking space at the fort, and the boxholders include Mrs. William Wrigley Jr., Samuel Insull, John T. Pirie, Mrs. George A. Strom, Maj. W. A. Rafferty, Mrs. R. R. McCormick, Mrs. John F. Jelke Jr., Brig. Gen. Casper H. Conrad Jr., Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, Martin J. Insull, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Mrs. James M. Hopkins, Mrs. Ralph R. Richardson, Mrs. Ira C. Darling, Fred A. Poor, Gen. Robert E. Wood, and Mrs. George Woodruff.

Owners of some of the horses entered are Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, Brig. Gen. Casper H. Conrad Jr., Laurance H. Armour, Ida May Minotto, Ralph Hines, Gwenny Bowen, Jane Darling, and Theo Winters. The post educational, religious, charitable, and recreational activities are to receive the proceeds from the show.

The first of the Monday afternoon putting contests and teas at Bar Harbor will be held at the Kebo Valley Golf club next Friday. The contests are held on the putting green in front of the clubhouse, and tea is to be served on the porch. Mrs. Harold A. Howard of Chicago and Mrs. William McNair of New York are to officiate at the tea tables. Mrs. Howard is a member of the committee that assists Mrs. Victor N. Cushman with the arrangements.

Mrs. Robert Hall McCormick, Mrs. Potter Palmer, and Mrs. Charles B. Pike are the Chicago women who are members of the patroness committee. Miss Mildred McCormick is one of a group of women taking charge of the arrangements for the annual flower show to take place on Thursday, July 31 at the Building of Arts.

Miss Elsa Armour, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Watson Armour, leaves Chicago this week for Santa Barbara, Cal., to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Mitchell at their estate, El Mirador, at Montecito.

All of the social affairs planned for the contemporaries of the late Helen Blair have been canceled for several weeks because of her death.

BRIDE

MRS. ARTHUR C. KING.

Mr. and Mrs. William Aitken of Bannockburn, Deerfield, Ill., announce the engagement of their daughter, Jean, to Thoburn Walters Kinney of Chicago. The wedding will take place in the early fall.

Britain Refuses to Drop or Cut U. S. Visa Fees

LONDON, July 17.—(AP)—It will prove impossible for the present to abolish or reduce the existing visa fees between the United States and Great Britain, Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson said in reply to a question in the house of commons today. This decision was reached, he explained, "in view of the financial sacrifice involved."

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., July 17.—[Special.]—Mrs. Herbert Hoover, accompanied by her guest, Mrs. Starck McMullen of Palo Alto, Cal., and Miss Mildred Hall, one of her secretaries, left this morning at 9 o'clock by motor for the Rapidan region. There they attended the closing day exercises of the Dark Hollow school which she and the Hoovers established on the mountain near their camp. Mrs. Hoover went especially to speak personally to the fifteen pupils of the school who have gone through the term, under the tutelage of Miss Christine Vest. Mrs. Hoover and guests returned here tonight.

Mrs. Lester Hinsdale and her daughter, Miss Betty Hinsdale, of Sacramento, Cal., who have been guests at the White House for several days, left this this morning for New England for visits.

Hundreds of Thousands in U. S. A. Demand New Kind of Salts

Keeps You in Good Health All the Time—Skin Clear and Body Free from Fat.

Just think of it; these new, better and different salts were only introduced into America a few months ago—yet a host of intelligent Americans are healthier and happier because of their supreme goodness.

One-half teaspoon of Kruschen in a glass of hot water every morning gently but surely stimulates the liver, bowels and kidneys to healthy elimination.

But the six vitalizing and rejuvenating salts in Kruschen do more than cause regular elimination—the man or woman who takes them regularly need have little fear of poisons polluting the system which is the cause of many annoying and depressing ills.

One bottle of Kruschen Salts (lasts 4 weeks) costs but 85c and one bottle will prove of vast benefit to people who have constipation, headaches, indigestion, nervousness, rheumatism, depression, acidity and auto-intoxication.

Not only that but one bottle will bring about body activity, increase in energy, vigor and ambition, sparkling eyes and freedom from pimples and blemishes—millions know all this—you ought to know it.

Real Home and Real Family Still Very Much in Existence

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

If you want to enjoy nature with your children write to Mrs. Bevans for a list of books on the outdoor world, which will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Isn't it simply terrifying the way all the homes are disappearing? The decline of the American home is something over which some writers have been weeping for years. And families—well, they'll soon be extinct, that's all, according to some authorities.

And children, getting scarcer because so few [!] people care to have them, will be brought up a la Dr. Watson—that is, in the nice impersonal group with a new nurse every three months and be put to bed with a pat on the head or a shake of the hand!

Home life is going to the dogs! Every one lives in an apartment and wants no responsibilities except contract and golf and face packs and permanents—according to still other well known pessimists.

It is terrible. Only it isn't so. One has a suspicion that personal experience colors the conclusions of many of these alarmists more than scientific fact.

And, speaking of facts, the very fact, for instance, that books, articles, lectures, and columns on children are flourishing and growing apace is one sign that refutes all the calamity howlers. You don't have a whole generation of parents vitally interested in how to rear their children unless those same hundreds of thousands are interested in their homes.

Homes are not declining. Why do you stand wearily on one foot and then another in the seed stores waiting your turn? Because gardens belong to homes and you don't have your own garden unless you're a home maker or home lover.

A furniture store reported during the last year the biggest sale of dining room furniture in its history, and a sporting goods store reported an unprecedented sale of home games like parcheesi, checkers and backgammon. Now you can't imagine any other place for a dining room suite or a game of parcheesi than a home.

No—homes are here to stay. And little by little the scientists in the field of child giudance have swung back and declared that there can be no better place, no richer soil to rear a child than in the home.

Patou Applies Monkey Fur Patches to Jacket

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Fringes are used to trim many of the newest Paris fashions, and Patou has a new kind of fringe, monkey fur, applied in little patches just as silk fringe is used.

The ensemble sketched here shows how Patou applies his fur fringes to the longish jacket of an afternoon ensemble. There are three patches on the lower sleeve, and a row around the lower edge of the jacket.

In addition to the fringe trimming, this Patou model, which is a charming style for the older woman, has the newest daytime color scheme—indigo blue and black. The jacket is made of black crêpe marocain and is lined with indigo blue georgette. The long sleeved frock is made of black crêpe marocain and is trimmed with a scarf of indigo blue that becomes a plaited panel in the sidefront of the skirt. This begins as a scarf draped around the neck, then goes down the right side front of the blouse, where it passes under a plaited indigo blue bow at the waistline, and below this bow is a plaited panel in the skirt. The skirt is split beneath this panel, and at the right side of the panel is draped in a cascade, bound around the edges with blue georgette.

The length of this frock, intended for afternoon wear is important; it reaches almost to the ankles, and that is the skirt length that smart Paris has adopted for formal afternoon. Skirts for general daytime wear are also longer, though not so long as this. They reach to about six or seven inches below the knees. As a compensation evening skirts are growing a bit shorter, so it looks as though Paris intends to bring daytime and evening skirts to the same level.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Ruth is about to marry a man who does not drink, smoke, curse, play cards, doesn't care for the movies and never goes to the theater. But before she takes the plunge she pauses to inquire what kind of life that is going to lead a lady into. The man does like to go to church on Sundays.

Half the world of women at the current moment seem to be involved in an opposite drink problem. Keeping men away from the punch bowl is quite a large sized wifely industry these days. These women, at least, would agree that Ruth was getting a fair break on the alcohol score alone. A good many others would be glad to have a man who didn't leave a trail of cigar ashes following him. And some, again, would send up prayers of gratitude for the blessing of a man with a toned down vocabulary.

BUT not a very large portion of our sex would agree that a mate who says he wouldn't give a cent for the best talkie, as Ruth reports hers does, would be an ideal or even a reasonably companionable lifetime partner. Where in the name of all that is good and holy do the wedded ones get their romance portions unless from the movie scenes? Certainly your prosaic mate hardly offers enough balm for the romance-hungry female to make her existence agreeable.

I think the movies a grand thing for married women. It gives them something to think about, talk about and dream about. If that is cut off from them they are liable to break out into more menacing forms of romance getting, or else to go sour on life and matrimony.

Ruth further reports that her fiancé is a wet blanket socially. If a joke is cracked that he doesn't like he flies up in the air. If drinks or cigars are passed he says "No, thanks," as if he had been offered poison.

In the light of all the objections it would seem the better part of wisdom for Ruth to turn her boy friend over to some girl who would appreciate his moral character, for it is plain that Ruth does not even approve of his virtues, a bad state of affairs for a marriage compact.

Velvety Smooth Skin Result of Cleansing Care

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

If you have an oily skin you have to be on a continual watch against blackheads. Dry skinned persons suffer more often from whiteheads than from the small, black blemishes. It does not seem fair that anothe blemish may be quickly added to an already established one, but it is an indisputable fact that to the oily skinned one goes the double affliction unless meticulous cleansing care is given the face. Nor should we localize the blackhead condition as a facial blemish only. The back of the neck, curiously enough, is a perfect ground for the pitted surface condition.

Small children should be observed for a skin greasiness so that they shall be permitted to enjoy life later without the embarrassment of a broken out skin. For out of the blackhead difficulty come the additional pimple and acne disturbance to which so many young people in their 'teens are prone. With the youngsters the corrective measure is much outdoor life, sunshine, air, and good, wholesome food. Also, washing the face with soap and water three or four times a day—washing it thoroughly, rinsing it in cool water, then cold, and drying it well.

With the older ones the same underlying precautions need to be heeded. But the big fight should be put up with soap and water and the tonicizing after effect of cold water.

Curiously, with all the information that is given out about the care of oily skin, girls keep on slathering their faces with greasy cleansing substances, thus adding more grease to an already overcharged greasy surface and delaying thereby the remedy for their particular beauty ill. The oily skin can be relied on to give off all the oil the skin will need to keep it smooth and lubricated, so that creams, greases, and oils can be dispensed with until the face is cleared not only of the eruptions but of the excess oil.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

C. E.: ELECTROLYSIS DESTROYS the hair roots. It is tedious and slightly painful, but the results are lasting, and in the hands of experts perfectly safe. Temporary measures of relief are recommended for large surface areas such as on the arms and legs.

KAY: IF YOUR FACE PERSPIRES freely keep a bottle of witch hazel handy and several times during the day wipe the face with it. Treatment for enlarged pores may be had for a stamped, addressed envelope.

FARM and GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

Lake county common barberry bushes are being hunted by four field squads in a campaign expected to require ten weeks to reduce the number of plants charged with harboring the black stem rust spores that cut middlewest wheat production.

According to Lester R. Davis of Urbana, Lake county has more common barberry than any other county in the state. The United States department of agriculture and the Illinois state department of agriculture are coöperating this summer in a statewide campaign similar to others now in effect in neighboring states.

Both cultivated and "escaped" bushes are being sought. The latter are those which have been spread inadvertently. City residents and farm families are meeting the field men who are explaining the purpose of their search on urban, suburban and rural properties. One common barberry exhibit has been set up at the model farm near Mundelein through the courtesy of the superintendent, Mr. Huson. Several other agencies are coöperating with the state and federal employés in the campaign. The men doing the work are university students, many of them from the University of Illinois.

Millions use it in tub, washer and dishpan

AND

"It's more economical," says Mrs. Jennie Hill 28 So. Mayfield Rd.

"Rinso makes clothes look like new. And without scrubbing! That's what I like about it—no hard work and it saves the clothes. A little Rinso gives such a lot of creamy suds, it's more economical than other soaps I've tried. So I use it for dishes and all other cleaning, too."

MRS. JENNIE HILL,

Friday's Good Time to Make Salad Dressing

Replenish Your Supply for Daily Use.

BY META GIVEN.

At this time of year it is a good plan to make up a supply of salad dressing every week. And Friday is a good day to make it. There are three main types of dressings—mayonnaise, boiled, and French. Each of these can be used as a base to build up many others. The kind of dressing that you will want to make will depend on the individual tastes of your family and the kind of salads you expect to serve.

Since salads have been holding so important a place in summer menus, my thought has been given to the dressings required to make the most satisfactory combination. The dressing should always be a complement to the salad. For example, fruits and vegetables that go into the preparation of the lighter dinner salads are usually dressed with French dressing. At the main course at luncheon, where the salad is the most substantial dish and is made of meat, poultry, fish, eggs, cheese, fruit or potatoes in both simple or elaborate combinations, the dressing is usually mayonnaise. The mayonnaise seems to supply just what the other ingredients lack to make the salad a substantial one piece meal.

Needed in Summer Dishes.

Mayonnaise, then, seems to have a distinct place in the making of the summer time luncheon salad. Fortunately, its preparation dovetails nicely in that of other hot weather foods such as angel food, white cake and parfaits which require only the whites of eggs in their making. While the number of egg yolks left from the making of angel food may at times seem too many for mayonnaise, there need be no fear of making up too much dressing. Well made mayonnaise will keep for weeks.

According to the American standard, good mayonnaise is stiff as well as rich and creamy. More oil is used in the preparation of salad dressings in this country than in Europe. This accounts for the stiffness and it also explains why so many mayonnaises break or separate. In perfect mayonnaise the oil is completely emulsified, which means it is broken up into a finely divided state and is held in this state by the egg yolk. In this condition it is blended smoothly with all the other ingredients.

Mayonnaise should remain smooth and creamy without any appearance of the oil on top. If the mixing has not been properly done the yolks of the egg will separate from the oil. In other words, the emulsion breaks.

Chill the Utensils.

In the making of mayonnaise we must first chill both the utensils and the ingredients. Some people even put a small piece of ice in the mixing bowl. The egg yolk is usually blended with the seasoning such as salt, pepper, mustard and sugar. Then the oil is added a few drops at a time, beating vigorously after each addition.

If the oil is added too rapidly, the dressing will have a curdled appearance. If the dressing begins to separate, another egg yolk should be added and the mixture beaten until smooth before more oil is added. The acid such as lemon juice or vinegar is usually added at the last.

DROP CONTINUES FOR WHOLESALE PRICES OF FOOD

Washington, D. C., July 17.—(AP)—Wholesale prices were shown today by labor department computation to have continued during June the decline which has been in progress for nearly a year.

The index representing the composite fall of 550 different commodity prices was fixed for June at 86.8, which compares with 89.1 for May; 96.4 for June a year ago, and 100 for the average of the year 1926.

Based on these figures, the department said, the wholesale purchasing power of a 1926 dollar was $1.152 in June of the present year.

Farm products, which as a group showed a price fall of nearly 4½ per cent from May of this year to June, were the most seriously affected, though there was a slight increase in wholesale prices for eggs, veal and lamb.

Foods as a group were 1½ per cent lower on the wholesale market in June than in May; butter, cheese, beef, mutton, coffee and flour being among the most affected articles.

Vegetables and Fruits Sneak Up On Us at Night

Produce Merchants Keep Milkman's Hours.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Those who have admired the forbearance of the milkman, wending his lonely way along the dark, early morning route, or the baker who spends the silent hours of the night preparing the next day's batch of bread and pastries, have overlooked another early rising purveyor of Chicago's daily "three squares"—the produce merchant.

To appreciate the intricate merchanized system which brings fruits and vegetables, highly perishable, into Chicago from the fields of nearby counties or of Texas, Oregon and Maine, one should take the trip two of THE TRIBUNE staff made the other morning.

Along Randolph street, in South Water street, and at the terminal freight and express stations in little seen parts of the city, men are at work at all hours of the night. We found them already in place and preparing their fresh edibles for early buyers long before daybreak. Some of them had driven trucks from distant points, starting the evening before—to arrive in time for a vantage point in the blocks and miles of stands where seller and buyer meet.

After Stroke of Twelve.

Cars and trucks laden with carrots, cabbages, beets, celery, spinach, beans, peas, onions, potatoes, melons, oranges, lemons, grape fruit, cherries, berries, peaches, plums, apricots, bananas, and many other choice dishes in the raw form are piled neatly and solidly along this phalanx of the second largest produce marts of the nation.

Just now, watermelons, cantaloupes, berries, citrus and deciduous fruits, and the "garden variety" of home grown vegetables are most prominent in the market. That which is picked, washed and sorted in Michigan, Indiana, Illinois or Wisconsin yesterday afternoon is on the market before daylight today, and in the store windows and ice boxes of households before nightfall.

The nearby truck growers all line up along Randolph street, beginning shortly after midnight to seek points most desirable for display, piling and sorting out their produce as the sun comes up. Buyers soon appear from wholesale or commission houses, the hucksters or peddlers load up and head for their routes, and much of the day's supply has started its city-wide distribution before most people arise.

Thousands of Trucks.

Some smaller truck markets, such as the South State street, or Milwaukee avenue markets, operate in similar fashion on a reduced scale. The most impressive sight, at daybreak, is the four rows of thousands of trucks, loaded with produce, that fill Randolph street for at least six blocks east of Racine, containing the select offerings of hundreds of farms in nearby counties. Regular truck routes, operating on schedules like trains, gather up much of this produce from local points, consigned to Chicago markets.

Fruits, melons and vegetables from California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Missouri, Arizona, Texas, Tennessee, Georgia and Florida, shipped in iced refrigerator cars, were found on the South Water street, Chicago Produce terminal at 27th and Ashland, and the Canal street terminals during this week's visit. A record shipment of 177 carloads of watermelons from Georgia and the Missouri river bottoms were received in Chicago last Saturday, and an average of nearly a hundred cars daily comes in each week day throughout the summer.

Indiana, Illinois, Texas also ship many trainloads of this red hearted food to Chicago. Much of this is reconsigned to nearby cities or east toward New York, depending upon weather and other supply and demand factors.

Oranges are said by wholesalers to be unusually high at this time of year due to a reduced production in California this year, but the quality is good, and promises are held out for a bumper orange crop next year. Cherries and plums have been unusually plentiful in the markets of late, dealers reported.

Porch Meals Are Ideal for Summer Days

BY SALLY LUNN.

Some of the happiest entertaining is that done for our own families. The little spontaneous impromptu affairs that we plan for our own folks go a long way in keeping each member satisfied that there is no place like home to have things pleasant and a good time. But you can't do the best you would for your little group unless from time to time you surprise them. And you can't surprise them unless you have the spirit of adventure. Adventure always prompts one to widen out activities and try experiments.

Summertime stimulates our desires for a change of scenery more than any other season. There is an urge to be informal and free in both food and dress. That is why the picnic is always hailed with glee. "But it is not always convenient to go on a picnic in the woods or park," you say. Well, then, why not have one at home?

On these hot days when the dining room is too hot for comfortable evening meals, why not serve on the porch? If you have no porch table, roll one of your others out. Here is the opportunity for every one to get the picnic spirit, and children as well as adults can help in getting the food on the table, as well as serving it. This coöperation breaks the monotony and cheers up the whole group immensely. And, then, it greatly relieves the one who prepares and serves the three meals.

Porch meals, of course, should be simple. Simple and wholesome as picnic meals and as easily prepared as those served in the dining room. All the delights of the former with all the conveniences of the latter.

Of course the table needs to be set with as much precision as ever, except no flowers need be used. Ferns or vines on the porch make a pleasing background and a gay table cover is enough for decoration.

One hot main dish, such as fresh cooked green beans served with cheese sauce, is always satisfying. Butter and rolls should accompany this. Cool salads and gay little sandwiches may be prepared before. Milk or milk drinks, even iced tea and iced coffee may be poured into a pitcher and served at the table. Cookies or small cakes are added and the family adjourns to the porch. Dinner is served.

Or you may fix a plate dinner, wheel it out on the tea cart, seat the family and again we have a complete meal. Paper plates and cups may be used to save labor and add the extra picnic touch.

It is not necessary to commend your household after every meal you serve. But especial willingness, attentiveness or tact shown in helping in the serving of a porch or picnic supper should not be forgotten. So give a little praise. It is justice to be thankful to even our children and it is a bit of courtesy that is a good example.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

If you have a household hint or unique discovery you are willing to pass on to other housewives, send it to Sally Lunn, Chicago Tribune. Recipes are excluded.

If one hasn't anybody to hang a dress for her, I'm giving her a helpful hint on doing it for herself. Chalk the sharp edge of a sewing machine leaf, or small table. Stand erect and rub against it. Keep turing till you have a mark all the way around. Then measure the required inches from the mark down to where you want to turn the hem. MRS. M. W.,

When making sandwiches of fancy shapes I cut bread lengthwise instead of across the loaf. This saves a great deal of waste. MRS. E. L. J.,

After purchasing new cake tins, grease thoroughly with lard and bake in the oven for one hour. This treatment will prevent cakes from sticking to the pan. Miss P. K.,

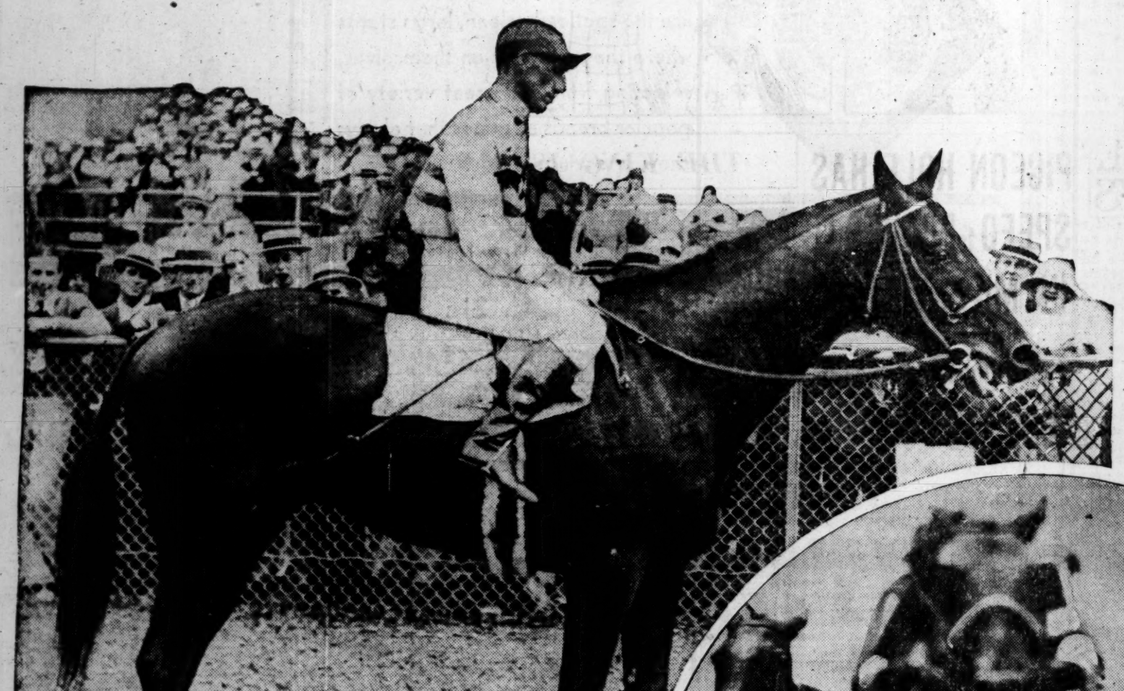
Blue Larkspur, Misstep, Petee Wrack, Sun Beau, and others, compete in the Race of the Century—the $35,000 Arlington Cup.



Who will be in the lead when the horses thunder down the home stretch tomorrow? Come and see.

FEATURE EVENTS

BLUE LARKSPUR, J. Smith up, taken after they won the Stars and Stripes Handicap at Arlington on July 4th and broke the track record to 1:49 2-5ths. This great horse, with the same jockey, which won the first Classic last year, is in top form for tomorrow's race of the century.

THE greatest race in 25 years will be staged at Arlington, tomorrow, when Blue Larkspur, Misstep, Petee Wrack, Sun Beau, Victorian, and other best distance horses of the year meet for the championship of America in the inaugural of the Arlington Cup.

Last year, by winning the Arlington Classic, Blue Larkspur, E. R. Bradley's great horse, was crowned the champion 3-year-old of 1929. On July 4 of this year when he won the Stars and Stripes Handicap and broke the track record to 1:49 2-5ths, he again showed his superb form.

This great thoroughbred will compete with Petee Wrack, Gallant Fox's half-brother, who won the Suburban Handicap at Belmont Park; Sun Beau, the victor of the second Hawthorne Gold Cup last fall; The Nut, winner of the Huron Handicap, the Lawrence Realization and the Latonia; Misstep, iron son of Upset and St. Theresa; Snowflake; Reveille Boy, winner of the American Derby three weeks ago; Toro, Stars and Bars, Paul Bunyan, Victorian and others.

Don't miss this marvelous opportunity to see a racing battle that may never come again in your lifetime. It is the great good fortune of Chicagoans that these champions are at Arlington and in the finest form at the same time. Don't miss the marvelous opportunity to see the Race of the Century.

Saturday has been set aside as Governor's Day at Arlington. Gov. Louis L. Emmerson, a friend of racing, will take an important part in the ceremonies and present the Cup to the winning owner. Prominent sportsmen and sportswomen – leaders in the social world – all will be at beautiful Arlington Park tomorrow to witness this great race. Such will be its importance that this race will be broadcast by the National and Columbia systems through nationwide hookups. In Chicago from Stations KYW and WBBM.

So come to Arlington tomorrow. It's a great race and a great day. No increase in prices. General admission only $2.20. First race at 2:15 p. m.

GOVERNOR'S DAY TOMORROW

"When I look this great racing plant over and consider the character of the men who created it and who are sponsors for the racing created here—good citizens, good husbands, good fathers—and realize that these men are banded together to preserve and elevate the ancient and honorable sport of racing, not for profit, but for the spirit, for the very soul of good sport, then I know that racing is taking not a step, but a league in advancement."

TOMORROW

In addition to the Great Arlington Cup race tomorrow, there will be a full card of gala events. There will be thrills, excitement, color, glamour every minute of the afternoon.

The Cherry Circle Claiming race in itself is an unusual feature and should bring such fast horses as Equation, Pigeon Hole, Islam, Silverdale, Live Oak, Suitor, Buddy Bauer, Cog-Air, Crystal Domino, Caflys, Jean Lafitte together in a dash of one mile for upward of $8,000. There are ninety-six others eligible.

The Framingham Steeplechase will also be of splendid interest. It will attract the smartest jumpers from the East.

The Mount Vernon, named after the Governor's home town, will develop a great sprint at seven furlongs. A group of the cleverest 3-year-olds will go in the Rockford, a dash of seven furlongs.

In all, there will be eight exciting races—seven flats and one steeplechase.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 17.—Victory was doubly sweet today, friends, not only because the Cubs needed the game, but for the additional reason that Dazzy Vance strutted on to the scene as a certain savior and got a blistering for his trouble. The score was Chicago, 6; Brooklyn, 3, in 13 innings.

For the time being, let us forget that Bud Teachout, after pitching extraordinarily well for seven and a third innings, blew up and permitted the league leaders to tie the score. We are eager now to tell you about the eminently gratifying thirteenth inning.

Blair Starts Winning Attack.

The winning session started modestly enough, for Bush struck out standing on his knees. Then Blair knocked out his third hit of the game, a single to right, and went to third when English caromed a single off the bag at second base. Cuyler, who hadn't the semblance of a hit all afternoon, rammed a single off Hendrick's glove, Blair scoring what proved to be the winning run. English stopped at second.

The runners moved up while Wright was throwing out Wilson. Then Stephenson knocked a single to left center, scoring Woody and Kiki. Grimm forced Stevie for the third out. The Robins were retired in order in the last of the 13th, and Guy Bush had hung up his ninth victory of the season. And never did a relief pitcher more richly deserve to win.

Tonight the Cubs are two games out of first place and the series will resume tomorrow, with Blake seeking to carry on against Elliott or Thurston.

Bruins Eye Tie for Lead.

Vance had been carded for yeoman service in the final Saturday, but he pitched five bearing down innings in his relief rôle today and won't be ready. The Cubs, as a consequence, have new born ideas of crossing the bridge Saturday night in a tie for first place.

Today's victory brought the season's showing against Brooklyn to nine wins against four defeats. Incidentally, it was the sixth game the Cubs have won in 14 played on the current road trip.

The Cubs had a run across in the first inning before a putout was accomplished, but production ceased for the remainder of the inning. Blair opened the contest by smacking a triple to left and trotted home when English singled to center. Cuyler popped to Finn, Wilson fanned and Stevie fouled to Gilbert.

Hartnett's Triple Helps.

In the second and third innings, our boys were exceedingly placid individuals, but the Cub fourth inning was a cheerful session, indeed. Cuyler started it with a strike out, but Wilson singled to center. Stephenson popped to Finn for the second out. Then Grimm singled to center and Hack went to third. Hartnett's triple to right scored Wilson and Grimm. Beck flied to Frederick for the third out.

The Robins' first run was a most surprising event. Until two were out in the fifth, the best the Robins could do was three singles, one in the first, one in the second and one in the fourth, none of which resulted in a Robin getting as far as second. In the fifth Gilbert and Lopez were easy outs for Beck and Grimm. Then the surprise—Phelps lumbered up to the plate and knocked the ball into the left field stands. Frederick flied to Stephenson.

A bad bounce started a jam in the Brooklyn seventh, but in the end it served only to give Teachout added opportunity to show his stuff. Wright

C.A.A. to Vote on Yacht Club Merger Plans

A proposal for the consolidation of the Chicago Athletic association and the Chicago Yacht club and the use of the yacht club's new building on the lake front at Randolph street as a home for the new organization will be submitted to the members of the athletic association for decision within the next six weeks.

This was learned last night when Charles B. Spaulding, president of the C. A. A., announced that three plans for a new club house are under consideration. They are the construction of a new building on the present site of the C. A. A. at 12 South Michigan avenue, a long term lease in the proposed Pullman building, and consolidation with the yacht club.

"The directors have considered these plans at their monthly meetings and have postponed action until a complete financial arrangement can be presented to the members," Mr. Spaulding said. "The directors will meet again on July 28 but I am certain we will defer action until a later meeting."

No definite proposal has been made to the Chicago Yacht club pending the decision of the C. A. A. membership and the club is proceeding with the construction of its new home at Randolph street.

"The proposition was discussed informally last spring," said George F. Getz, chairman of the yacht club's building committee, "but nothing was ever done about it. The C. A. A. has not submitted a proposal to us and action of any kind would have to await the submission of a proposition by the athletic association."

SOX HIT, HIT AND HIT, BUT MACKS WIN AGAIN, 12-8

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

In what probably will prove eventually to be another step toward their second consecutive pennant, the Athletics unravelled the White Sox again yesterday. The champions of the universe took hold of a loose thread in the Comiskey hosiery in the first inning and kept pulling at it until they had pulled out a 12 to 8 victory that was unusual only because of the steady booming of base hits from both sides. In this particular the Sox actually had an edge, but it didn't mean anything. They didn't bunch them properly, neither did they go in for distance as did the title holders.

The game was as good as over right at the start, because Tommy Thomas neglected to display the form for which he once was famous. He was slapped for three runs. The Sox immediately retrieved two of these, and by doing so managed to nudge Mahaffey off the mound in favor of Rommel. Then Thomas did splendidly for a spell, but another three run jolt in the sixth, followed by a five run blast in which Ed Walsh also figured in the seventh put the Pale Hose completely out, so far out, in fact, that a five run revolt in the ninth didn't bring them even close.

Thomas Shaky in First.

Thomas' shaky first inning would have been less costly if he could have controlled his throws. For a starter he walked Bishop, who advanced on a bunt by Haas. Cochrane also reached base on free passage. The two fellows ran home when Simmons' long fly to left center bounced off the wall for three bases. Simmons, alias Szymanski, scored on a single by Foxx.

Having seen the Macks get three runs on two hits, the Sox in their opening half showed how to get only one tally on three blows. Watwood opened with a hit and Mulleavy doubled to left, but Watwood overran third and was nipped. Reynolds singled to drive Mulleavy home. The Sox also needed three hits for a run in the second. Barnes opened the inning with a double. After Ryan's retirement Crouse singled over short, Barnes scoring. Thomas also singled, but a double play ruined everything. After seeing all these hits, Mack decided to derrick Mahaffey and let Rommel perform.

From the second to the end of the fifth Thomas handled his wares so effectively that only one hit was turned loose against him. The A's caught up with him in the sixth, however. Haas tripled, Simmons singled, Miller tripled and Dykes doubled. That meant three more runs, putting the champions 6 to 2 to the good.

Jolley Hits Homer.

Jolley added a colorful touch to the proceedings in the sixth by making the circuit on a drive which caromed off the fence in the right center field sector. The Macks promptly built a hot fire under Thomas and also scorched his successor, Walsh, before the seventh could be concluded. The five run riot began with Rommel's double. This made the A's one hundredth hit in seven games, which is considerable sticking. The next two men were set down and then things happened speedily. Cochrane doubled, Simmons singled and Miller exploded a two bagger. A single by Dykes rounded out the scoring spree.

The champions made it an even dozen in the ninth when Cochrane doubled to right center and completed the journey on a pair of sacrifice flies. The Sox then exerted themselves needlessly in their final. A couple of passes with singles by Pinch Batter Metzler, Mulleavy, Reynolds, and Jolley scored the five runs and made it necessary for Grove to hustle to Rommel's rescue.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

CONTRIBUTORS' DAY.

DEAR WAKE: In reference to your recent article, "Ball Teams in Wrecks," in August, 1893, I got on the train at Cleveland with the Chicago team, and at Lindsey, O., the train jumped the track and bumped into a freight train going east. Jimmy Ryan had his leg broken and did not play again. Kittridge, catcher, injured his arm and was out of the game for some time. Pop Anson was taking a drink of water at the cooler, and when the crash came his head bumped against the cooler and he could not get his hat on for several days.

As I remember it, five passengers were killed outright and seven died from injuries. My clothes were torn off, and Walter Wilmot dressed me up in old baseball clothes. When we arrived in Chicago, Anson took me home, as I lived just around the corner from him. A. H. W.

Farm Relief.

Harve: I don't believe people realize what a success farm relief has been. Why, we have a monument to its success right here in Chicago. They relieved the farmer of enough to put up the new Board of Trade building. A lot of people have been wondering about the little wooden fence around the statue of Ceres. That's no fence—it's a "hedge." Ban Dana.

We Hold Title—He Should Challenge.

Mr. Wake: Hoy does it happen you and Mr. Pegler are not battling it out for the title of "World's Worst Golfer" for 1930? Has he lost heart? I recall Mr. Pegler was grieved last season when you proved yourself worst and intimated you had used Ungentlemanly maneuvers, saying he could do worse. As a so-called reader of your inimitable column, I anxiously await a return match, since I agree with Mr. Pegler and honestly believe he is the worst golfer.

PIGEON HOLE HAS SPEED; PROVES IT IN MILE VICTORY

BY FRENCH LANE.

Pigeon Hole, the Kentucky horse from the stable of Hal Price Headley, had the Arlington running strip sizzling yesterday when he won the Hickory Hills handicap.

The race was at a mile and Pigeon Hole stepped the eight furlongs in the track record breaking time of 1:36. It was the second fastest mile run in America this year. Jack High won the Metropolitan handicap at Belmont Park earlier in the season in the world's record time of 1:35.

Pigeon Hole did not seem to be figuring in the contest until the field was half way down the stretch. Hot Toddy had galloped into what seemed to be a safe lead. Jock was running second and Cog Air was in third place.

But Hot Toddy was running about a yard out from the rail under Jockey Watter's ride. Jockey Finnerty, hugging the rail with Pigeon Hole, saw the opening and drove Pigeon Hole through it. A sixteenth of a mile from the pay-off station Pigeon Hole's nose was showing in front. Hot Toddy, the holder of the world's mile and a furlong record, was putting everything he had into the battle, but it wasn't good enough to hold the Kentucky horse safe.

Pigeon Hole scampered on to win by a length. Hot Toddy was five lengths in front of Jock from Edward B. McLean's stable. Cog Air was fourth and Equation, the 3 to 2 favorite, last. Old Chicago going ahead of him in the final strides.

The Kentuckians in the big mid-week crowd who backed Pigeon Hole reaped a golden harvest for he paid $18.52 to win, $6.66 to show, and $4.30 to place. Hot Toddy's place price was $3.96 and to show he paid $2.98. Jock's show price was $4.32.

Flaming Wins Elmwood.

Stop Gap from the stable of O. W. Lehmann, president of the Arlington Jockey club, was second, while Jeanne Wachs was third. Cesare wound up fifth and his jockey, J. Inzelone, was suspended for the balance of the meeting for foul riding.

Joseph E. Widener's New York silks were carried to their first victory of the Arlington season in the jumping race which was called the Fox Catcher. It was over the hurdles at a mile and a half and the president of the Westchester Racing association was represented by the maiden jumper Milan which had not been to the post for two years. Milan jumped strong and fast and had plenty of speed to carry him on home in front of the Greentree stable's Reason Why by three lengths. Ada M was third.

YACHTS TO RACE TOMORROW FOR MACKINAC CUPS

Final instructions for the 25th annual Chicago-Mackinac race will be given to 27 skippers at a dinner tonight at the Chicago Yacht club. Commodore George Woodruff and Kenneth Lockett, chairman of the race committee, will preside. Sheldon Clark, E. J. Kelly, and George F. Getz are among the directors who will attend.

Tomorrow the yachts will sail off Belmont harbor in two divisions. Fifteen will start in the cruising race for the old Mackinac cup, while 12 will enter the racing division, the winner receiving the new Mackinac cup. The new cup was donated by several Chicago yachtsmen.

THE KING IS DETHRONED

Mandell to Quit Ring, Chicago Friends Predict

BY ARCH WARD.

Sammy Mandell's first knockout probably will be his last. His defeat by Al Singer in last night's title bout marks the end of one of the most brilliant careers in boxing history. He leaves behind him ten years of ring warfare that included battles with most of the world's greatest flyweights, bantamweights, featherweights and lightweights.

The struggle to make the lightweight limit of 135 pounds, managerial strife and loss of enthusiasm for his work combined to crowd him into fistic oblivion. Ten years is a long time in a sport as wearing as boxing. There were unmistakable signs in Mandell's battles with Canzoneri and McLarnin that age was taking its toll.

While Sammy was training for his first match with McLarnin at the Stadium we asked him if he would continue to fight if he was knocked out or soundly whipped.

"As soon as I am convinced that I have begun to slip, I'll step out," he said. "I'll never stay in there until I am punch drunk."

Mandell never has fitted into the scheme of things in pugilism. He liked to fight, but his love for the game ended there. He loathed the association of a certain group of hangers-on who infested gymnasiums where he trained. That's the main reason he seldom was found in the loop. He never stayed in Chicago longer than his preparation for bouts required.

We rode back to Rockford with him the night he won the championship by whipping Rocky Kansas at White Sox park four years ago. Several hundred fans waited in front of his home on Harlem avenue to welcome him. The reception group originally had numbered thousands but dwindled when he was three hours late in arriving.

Even that night, with a fortune dangling at the end of his gloves, he wasn't overly enthusiastic about the sport of which he then was one of the monarchs.

"Suppose some one offered you a job at, say, $7,500 a year, would you give up boxing and the chance to make a lot of money?" he was asked.

"I would quit in a minute if I was assured a good salary for a reasonable time," he answered.

Sammy now has enough money that he need never swing another glove. A year ago he said he was "set for life." Since then he has had two bouts with Jimmy McLarnin, in which he earned upwards of $50,000. He and his manager, Eddie Kane, probably will slice more than $50,000 from last night's championship contest. Added to these are bouts in the hinterlands which probably have enriched Sammy by $10,000.

If Mandell is through with the ring, and there is every reason to believe that he is, he retires physically sound. Few boxers, perhaps none, have taken so little punishment. Save for a wallop by Frankie Garcia, which floored him for a nine count in a bootleg bout on the steamship Commodore when he was a featherweight, Sammy took no damaging wallops until he fought Tony Canzoneri last August.

Never until last night had the Rockford Flash been counted out. Two technical knockouts are marked against him in the record book. One was by Joey Sangor at Minneapolis in 1923. Sangor clipped Mandell on the chin early in the bout, knocking him off balance. He was up apparently unhurt at the count of one. Eddie Long, who was in his corner, signaled to take advantage of the count. Sammy caught the instructions and dropped to one knee. He was immediately disqualified for going down without being hit. The other technical knockout was at the hands of Jimmy Goodrich at Flint, Mich., in 1928. A broken collar

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Al Singer, a New York boy of about three years' professional experience, won the title by a savage attack that spilled Mandell on the floor four times, and finally left him sprawled flat on his back, his mouth agape, his eyes glazed and staring wide open into the blinding glow of the ringlights.

Mandell did not land a blow. He went to his left as he emerged from his corner at the bell and Singer, who had gone to his left, broke off this course and cut across the ring to attack him. Mandell pecked at him with his left. Singer offered a left lead to the body. They circled twice and then, suddenly, after less than 30 seconds of fighting, Singer leaped in with a left hook that took Mandell on the chin and knocked him down.

There was another flash of russet as Singer's right glove sailed over, catching Mandell on the jaw as he tottered to his first plunge, and he was so badly hurt so early in the round that there was no chance for him to last until the bell.

Singer whirled, confused and scrupulous about the technicalities of prize fight law, measuring the distance to find the furthermost corner in accordance with the regulations, but in his elation he was a bad judge of distance and backed his shoulders into the angle of the ropes in a corner only a stride from where Mandell was rolling himself to his haunches.

Mandell Goes Down Again.

At the count of two Mandell was up, stunned, wobbly and with a desperate expression on his weary features. Singer, kneading his gloves and baring his teeth in a sinister grin, let himself fly at the beaten champion again and slugged him now with both gloves, entirely on the jaw. Mandell had no defense. His arms were only half raised and he had no strength but only courage to keep him up.

It was no particular punch that sent him down the next time. After he had lurched across the ring, shocked and jolted by a general attack, he stood up as long as his legs would hold him, and finally a volley of free flung blows from both hands dumped him again.

In Mandell's corner the white, frightened face of Eddie Kane, his manager, showed above the platform. Mandell sagged along the ropes and went to his hands and knees on his own side of the ring this time for a count of seven, and when he came up, Singer, with nothing to fear now, was grinning and waving his gloves in preparatory gestures.

Gets Terrific Beating.

Mandell now held his feet against a terrific beating. His head rocked, and the red gloves whipped in furiously, all to his jaw, with the exception of one long left hook to the pit of the body that brought his tired arms down and exposed him to another left hook which spilled him for another instant. Still he came up and there was something of the neighborhood bully in Singer's face as he went back to his slugging.

The referee, Arthur Donovan, might have stopped the fight at any time after the second knockdown if this had not been a bout for a championship and if the town gamblers had not been offering odds of three to one on Singer during the afternoon.

The bout was under suspicion, however, and Donovan, when he had finished repeating the knockdown timer's count to Mandell's dazed intelligence, stood back and gave a game little fighter the privilege of going to his defeat fighting. Never has your correspondent seen such cruel elation in the face of a prize fighter beating a helpless victim as Singer wore when he went out for his kill after Mandell arose the last time.

New Champ Fights Savagely.

There was none of that humane concern that fighters usually show in such circumstances when they glance at the referee with an unspoken "Do you want me to kill him?" and he was unlike Dempsey, who used to keep on punching, oblivious and wild, until his man lay stretched at his feet when he seemed to be released from some madness.

This Singer was enjoying the slaughter of a sportsman, and now he was slugging him again. Mandell made one desperate call on his strength and tried a right hand to the body, but the punch was weak and Singer came on, drumming him on the head and chin with both fists. This was a prolonged assault and

Singer's punches were body-bag smashes, of the kind that hopeless hams throw against the swinging canvas sack in the gymnasiums to induce a delusion of power and conquest. He wasn't aiming but merely throwing punches until Mandell lay spent on the ropes too far gone to raise a hand, but still too game to accept an excuse.

Al Falls to Help Him.

Sammy's corner Kane, Doc (Wi... Bagley and old Barney Furey, ...egro trainer who handled Ad ...ast and other champions before ... were crouching on the green ...oden steps, waiting for the cry of ...ten and out." When it came, it was Donovan, not Singer, who raised the tousled black head out of the brown rosin dust and half raised the unconscious boy in his arms. Kane, Bagley and Furey went stumbling across the ring, colliding in their haste, lifted Mandell to his corner, and emptied a water bottle over his head.

Singer in the meantime was bouncing about the ring in self-congratulation. He looked out over the press rows and waved to a friend who was up on a chair, alert to run with a new champion. Some one reminded him of his ring manners and he started for Mandell's corner to enact the perfunctory show of sportsmanship traditional between the victor and the fallen, but some one then called him to the radio and he turned away to issue his first speech from the throne.

Mandell recovered in a few minutes and when he left the ring, still hurt and unsteady from a heroic stand, there were cries of "boo" from out of the darkness in the stadium. Sammy drew his black silk bathrobe close about him, picked his way down the steps, dejected and with tears running down his cheecks and was enfolded by the crowd now milling in the aisles.

Rumors Before Fight.

It would only be keeping the record straight to say that this fight, like all other important prize fights in the New York ring nowadays, was preceded by rumors that Mandell was certain to lose and that his manager, Mr. Kane, had been voted a block of stock in Singer to compensate him for the loss of his income from Mandell. Mr. Kane and the Singer party denied this upon their honor as sportsmen.

However, the fight, as fought, seemed quite sincere and if there were any arrangements as to the outcome it was not necessary to invoke them. Mandell was badly beaten and Singer fought a commanding fight from the first left hook that put Sammy down.

To all who watched Sammy in his training it looked as if he had lost much vitality reducing himself to the weight for his class.

The prize fight was a commercial disappointment to the Garden firm. The attendance appeared not to exceed 25,000 and the gate receipts were estimated variously between $150,000 and $200,000, of which Mandell was supposed to receive .37½ per cent and Singer 12½ per cent.

ALLISON TO OPEN DAVIS CUP PLAY AGAINST ITALIANS

PARIS, July 17.—(AP)—Wilmer Allison, sensational young American conqueror of Henri Cochet at Wimbledon, will oppose Georgio de Stefani of Italy at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow in the opening match of the interzone Davis cup tennis final and at 5 p. m. George Lott will meet the Italian ace, Baron Humbert de Morpurgo. The pairings will be reversed for the concluding singles matches on Sunday.

The doubles program was left in abeyance and the teams to represent Italy and America in this phase of the competition on Saturday will not be named until tomorrow.

Italy's reluctance to designate its doubles representative was reliably reported to be due to a feeling it might be best to play Baron de Morpurgo in singles only.

He became an attraction the night he knocked out Mike Eulo in the first round of a bout at East Chicago. He increased his following with victories over Joey Burman, Pal Moore, and other top ranking bantamweights at Aurora. The $70,000 crowd he drew to Comiskey park the rainy afternoon that he wrested the lightweight crown from Rocky Kansas stood as a record for two years. He and Jimmy McLarnin drew the largest attendance that ever patronized an indoor fight. It was exceeded only a few weeks back by the Stribling-Von Porat turnout at the Stadium.

Chicago made Mandell and would it be far wrong to say that Mandell made boxing in Chicago?

CARNERA LANDS K. O. ON WRIGHT IN 4TH ROUND

Omaha, Neb., July 17.—[Special.]—Primo Carnera of Italy knocked out Bearcat Wright, Omaha Negro heavyweight, in the fourth round at the Western league ball park here tonight.

Carnera opened up in the third after losing the first two rounds. In the fourth, he knocked Wright through the ropes and the Bearcat fell out of the ring. He clambered back and received a right on the jaw which put him away.

CUBS' BLUE LAW DEFEAT STANDS, HEYDLER RULES

New York, July 17.—(AP)—President John A. Heydler of the National league today refused to allow Chicago's protest of the second game of the Cubs-Brave double header played in Boston last Sunday. The Braves won the game, 3 to 0, after the play had reverted to the eighth inning to comply with the 6 o'clock Sunday baseball law in Boston.

The eighth inning ended with Boston leading 3 to 0 and the time 5:38, or within two minutes of the dead line described by the law, which says that any inning may not start after 5:40. The Cubs knocked out four runs in their half of the ninth and the Braves had men on second and third with one out, when police notified the umpire it was 6 o'clock and the game must stop.

opened the inning with a single to right. Then Boone fouled to Grimm. A double play seemed imminent when Gilbert shot a grounder toward English, but just as Woody was about to seize the ball, it took a wild hop over his head and went for a double, Wright stopping at third. The runners were forced to hang on while Teachout threw out Lopez. Flowers batted for Phelps and struck out.

The collapse of Teachout in the eighth was as sudden as it was unexpected. Frederick flied gently to Wilson for the first out. Then Finn lined one to left which bounced into the stands for a homer. Herman tripled to left center and ran in with the tying run when Bressler singled to center. Warner ran for Bressler and Bush relieved Teachout. Boone doubled to left and Warner tried to leg it home, but was out, Stevie to English to Hartnett.

Wilson waited out Dudley for a walk to start the Cub ninth, then Vance was rushed into the conflict. Stevie fouled to Hendrick and Grimm hit into a double play.

Bush Out Trying for a Double.

Gilbert, Lopez, and Vance went out in order in the ninth, and Hartnett, Heathcote and Bush did likewise in the first of the tenth, except that Bush singled and was out on a great play by Herman, when he tried to stretch it to a double.

It looked as if the ball game was over when Frederick led off the Robin tenth with a double to right center. Finn, however, failed in two attempts to bunt and then grounded to Farrell, who threw to English in time to get Frederick at third. Herman flied to Wilson, and Hendrick forced Finn, English to Blair.

Bush never was in danger the rest of the way.

HELEN TALKS OF FASHIONS, ART IN VISIT HERE

Mrs. Frederick Moody Jr. of San Francisco, Cal., stopped an hour between trains yesterday in Chicago on her way home from England. Lest this social note pass without comment, it had better be added that Mrs. Moody is Helen Wills Moody, world's tennis champion.

While here, Mrs. Moody stepped out of her well established rôle of "poker face" to chat entertainingly with reporters on women's fashions, art, and finally tennis. She was accompanied by Miss Emily Searles, also of San Francisco. Mrs. Moody also wired her husband, whom she has not seen since she began her European tournament tour last April.

Mrs. Moody said she planned to play in the national women's singles in New York in September. "Then I shall return to the coast to resume my study of art," she concluded.

Toro Almost Certain to Run in Cup Race

After E. B. McLean's Toro had worked a mile and a quarter at Arlington yesterday in 2:07 2-5 it became fairly certain that he will go in the $35,000 Arlington Cup race tomorrow afternoon.

While he reeled off the training gallop in good easy stride, he looked like the Toro of 1928 when he was winning American and Latonia Derbies and a Lincoln handicap.

Blue Larkspur and Misstep continued to rule as Cup favorites yesterday and it was believed the field will shape up about as follows:

Reveille Boy	Snowflake
Blue Larkspur	Misstep
Sun Beau	Toro
Paul Bunyan	Petee Wrack
Victorian	The Nut
Pigeon Hole	Hot Toddy

Gov. Emmerson, guest of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wright for the remainder of the week, lunched in the Post and Paddock club with Charles A. McCulloch, chairman of the Arlington board of directors. Governor's day will be observed at Arlington tomorrow, when the Cup race will be run. Besides Gov. Emmerson many other Illinois political leaders will be in the audience.

The man who operates the approximate odds board in the infield lost his job yesterday. On the final betting in the third race he made a mistake and flashed the price against Esme at 2 to 1 when it should have read 15 to 1. It was announced the erring employé had been discharged and that in the future two men instead of one will operate the big infield odds board.

Curate, son of Fair Play-Irish Abbess, Joseph E. Widener's candidate for the Arlington handicap to be run on July 26, arrived at Arlington yesterday from New York. He was accompanied by his 2 year old half-brother, Priory. Trainer Pete Coyne brought the Widener stars here.

JUNE BEEBE AND MRS. MIDA IN WESTERN FINALS

Mrs. Melvin Jones Loses on 20th Hole.

June Beebe of Olympia Fields and Mrs. Lee Mida of Butterfield will meet today in the finals of the women's western open golf championship at Acacia. Miss Beebe advanced to the final round by winning from Miss Rena Nelson of Exmoor, 5 and 4, yesterday. Mrs. Mida was extended to win one up in a 20 hole match with Mrs. Melvin Jones of Lincolnshire, the district titleholder.

Mrs. Mida's victory came as a climax to an uphill battle after she had been three down going to the 11th tee. Taking advantage of her opponent's mistakes, she squared the match at the 18th.

Halve First Hole.

They halved the first hole in fives and Mrs. Jones won the second with a birdie four. Mrs. Mida took the third when her opponent found a trap, but lost the next two because of trouble in the sand. They exchanged birdies on the next two holes, Mrs. Mida winning the eighth with a long putt for a birdie five and Mrs. Jones retaliating with one at the ninth.

At the tenth Mrs. Jones went three up with a par four and at the fifteenth Mrs. Mida had recovered the lost ground and gone one up by sinking a putt for a par five around a difficult stymie.

Evens Match on 17th.

Mrs. Jones won the 17th to even the match and the 18th was halved in pars, sending the battle into extra holes. Both sank par fives at the 19th, and on the 20th Mrs. Mida won with a five when Mrs. Jones found first the rough and then a trap.

YOUNGSTERS OF CERMAK PARK ENTER SWIMS

Many youngsters from Cermak park, Lyons, have entered the 100 yard free style races which THE TRIBUNE will conduct a week from Sunday in Lincoln park lagoon. Interest in swimming has developed tremendously in western suburbs since opening last month of this $250,000 pool by forest preserve commissioners.

C. A. Hyatt, director of the Cermak park pool, reports that lack of transportation is the only obstacle which will keep his entry list from running into hundreds.

All who compete and finish the 100 yard course will receive TRIBUNE merit badges. Boys and girls between the ages of 12 and 15, inclusive, are eligible. The races will start at 2 o'clock. All contestants must report at noon for their numbers.

Arthur Marthaler of the Turn Verein Lincoln yesterday nominated 18 swimmers for the four races. There are two age divisions, 12 and 13, 14 and 15.

M. Brown, coach at the Jackson natatorium, 3506 West Fillmore street, entered 15 boys. The following will compete in the 12 and 13 year old class: Harry Blonsten, Julius Brownstein, Bernard Lewis, Harold Liebenson, George Shatas, Leny Heller, John McInerny, and Arthur Whiteman. In the older group the contestants will be Reuben Brownstein, Norman Moise, Lazier Richman, Jake Ruvinsky, Israel Richman, Carl Rosenberg, and Tom Wilson.

Indians Beat Senators, 4-3, in Mound Duel

Cleveland, O., July 17.—(AP)—Willis Hudlin and the veteran Sam Jones staged a pitching duel today as the Indians defeated Washington, 4 to 3, in the third game of their series. The Indian moundman allowed seven hits and Jones eight.

Eddie Morgan drove in three of the four Indian runs, the first two in the opening inning with his seventeenth homer of the season just after Porter had doubled. Score:

White Bass Bring Heron His Breakfast

BY BOB BECKER.

Just as a corps of beaters walk through the coverts of English meadows and moors to drive birds to the guns, so last week schools of white bass in Freeman lake, Ind., drove compact struggling masses of tiny minnows to a heron standing on the shore of this lake.

Here is how the waterbird used his head and let some one do the hunting and "driving" for him. The school of white bass were smashing the line over a wide area of water.

Gradually one school of shad minnows, constantly harassed and attacked by a following school of bass, moved close to the shore. We were busy casting and catching a few white bass, but we noticed that finally the silvers were right close to the shore, still banging away at the poor shad minnows.

Then we saw a bird watchfully waiting. It was a heron. He was standing in about four inches of water and in a mighty strategic position. The shad minnows were driven right to his feet. All he had to do was work that sharp bill of his—smash, bang into the minnows, and in about two minutes he had caught his breakfast, handed to him by the white bass.

EXTRA DISTANCE HELPS HIBALA TO BEAT BLIND LANE

Victory Reverses Result in the Frivolity.

New York, July 17.—[Special.]—The difference an extra quarter of a furlong and a slight shift in the weights makes to a horse was well illustrated today at Empire City in the Sprightful stakes when Mrs. R. T. Wilson's Hibala won, turning the tables on the Godstone stable's Blind Lane. Only last Thursday Blind Lane won the Frivolity stakes with Hibala a decisively beaten second.

Hibala has shown himself right along as a horse which will go on while Blind Lane has been noted for early speed and lots of it. This had much to do with the placing of the two horses today as the Sprightful was over the short six furlong route, which approximates five and three-quarters furlongs, as against five and one-half furlongs in last Thursday's Frivolity.

To further complicate the issue Blind Lane had 114 pounds to carry today as against 108 a week before. Hibala too was picking up weight, but not so much. His impost was 111 in the Frivolity and 113 in the Sprightful. These facts gave the players a good deal to think about and caused a big shift in the odds.

Blind Lane, which opened at 7 to 10, went up in the betting to close at 6 to 5. Hibala, opening at 7 to 5, was backed down to 6 to 5. So the two went to the post equal choices. Only two others were running, General A. and Sydka, and they finished in the order named back of the front pair—having a little battle all their own and never being in the hunt so far as Hibala and Blind Lane were concerned.

HORSE SHOW OPENS TODAY AT FORT SHERIDAN

The sixth annual exhibition of the Fort Sheridan Horse Show association will open this morning in the outdoor ring at Fort Sheridan. More than 200 horses will compete in nineteen events. The meet will continue until tomorrow afternoon, closing with the 1930 Grand Hunter championship of the North Shore circuit. This event is open to all blue ribbon winners in the Chicago district.

Maj. Harry D. Chamberlin will lead the United States army Olympic team in a special event. The reserve officers' jumping, children's horsemanship, and enlisted men's open jumping also feature this morning's classes. The Olympic jump and an exhibition of bareback riding by Troop A, 14th cavalry, will be the outstanding events this afternoon.

STOCK MARKET STRENGTH LIFTS BROKERS' LOANS

BY O. A. MATHER.

The stronger tone of the stock market in the last week resulted in the first increase in brokers' loans in six weeks. The weekly report issued by the federal reserve board yesterday showed an expansion of $40,000,000, which was about as expected in Wall and La Salle streets. While the trend of stock prices has been upward, the volume of trading has been small, and a portion of the buying has been short covering, which has no effect on loans.

The current increase follows five successive weeks of decline that reduced brokers' loans by an aggregate of $898,000,000. The total of such loans now stands at $3,243,000,000, which is $2,570,000,000 lower than a year ago. An influx in bank funds to New York in spite of low call money rates was responsible for the current increase.

The New York banks increased their own loans by $33,000,000, and interior banks furnished an additional $39,000,000. On the other hand, nonbanking lenders, including corporations, drew down $33,000,000.

Banks Control Call Money.

The situation of speculative credit is strikingly different from a year ago, with the banks in control of the call money rates instead of the big corporations. The banks are furnishing nearly three-quarters of brokers' loans, whereas a year ago less than half. The New York banks are lending $460,000,000 more than a year ago, while interior banks show a decline of $877,000,000. But nonbanking lenders are furnishing $2,155,000,000 less than a year ago.

Summer dullness in business and industry and consequent slack demand for credit for commercial purposes is revealed in the weekly report of the federal reserve system, issued last night. The member banks reduced their borrowings at the reserve banks by $29,285,000, bringing the total down to $207,030,000. The reserve banks increased their holdings of bankers' acceptances by $19,720,500, but decreased their government securities by $13,462,000. Deposits expanded $35,144,000, but note circulation receded $24,251,000.

Gold and total reserves increased $12,614,000 and $19,469,000 respectively and the ratio of reserves to liabilities rose to 82 per cent from 81.7 per cent last week. The report of the New York reserve bank on the movement of gold between July 10 and 16 showed imports of $6,331,000 from Latin-American countries and exports of $4,000,000 to France. There was no change in gold earmarked for foreign account.

No Change in N. Y. Rate.

The New York reserve bank made no change in its 2½ per cent rediscount rate yesterday but the Richmond reserve bank reduced its rate from 4 to 3½ per cent. The statement of the New York institution showed a decline of $15,809,000 in member bank borrowings, bringing the total down to $31,445,000. Bankers' acceptances declined $3,229,000, while deposits expanded $56,799,000. Reserves increased $80,639,000 and the reserve ratio rose to 85.2 per cent, compared with 82.1 per cent a week ago.

The report of the Chicago reserve bank showed a decline of only $281,000 in member bank borrowings, with the total now standing at $18,475,000. Bankers' acceptances increased $5,611,000. Deposits receded $12,638,000. Reserves declined $21,694,000 and the reserve ratio sagged to 85 per cent, compared with 86.3 per cent a week ago.

Says July Business of Milwaukee Road Declines

New York, July 17.—(AP)—Henry A. Scandrett, president of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad, said that the July volume of business on the road so far is showing approximately the same proportionate decline from last year as was shown in June. He said wheat in his road's territory had suffered from excessively hot weather and that while the weather had moderated, with some helpful showers, the prospects generally were not as favorable as three weeks ago.

Workers' Unemployment Plan of G. E. Is Favored

New York, July 17.—(AP)—More than 75 per cent of the eligible employés of the General Electric company have voted to participate in the new General Electric employés unemployment plan, Gerard Swope, president, announced today. In proposing the plan, under which the money will be raised by equal contributions from the employés and the company, it was stated that the plan would become effective upon an affirmative vote of 60 per cent of those eligible at each plant.

Expect Small French Wheat Crop This Yr.

French farmers will secure a small wheat crop this season of indifferent quality and seem certain to be in line for government assistance owing to low prices, according to recent private cables.

Weather conditions during the winter and spring were unfavorable and, in addition to considerable loss in acreage due to floods, there was dry weather at the critical period of growth. The result is that unofficial estimates on the yield range from 225,000,000 to 285,000,000 bu, with a leading French agricultural authority placing the crop at 248,000,000 bu, or 141,000,000 under its estimate of 1929.

Normally France requires around 330,000,000 bu wheat for home consumption per year, and despite a carryover of around 50,000,000 bu from the unusually large old crop, it is expected that imports of 30,000,000 bu or more will be necessary during the 1930-'31 season. In 1929-'30 exports from France, aided by government bounty were around 25,000,000 bu, the first in many years, and helped to unsettle the world market. Yesterday French wheat, which is of generally low quality, was quoted in Liverpool at equal to $1.04 per bu.

General Mills, Inc., reports that latest available information from France indicates that the prospective wheat crop of that country for 1930, not including Algeria, will be approximately one-third less than the 1929 crop. The wheat crop of Italy is also substantially reduced compared with that of last year.

OPTIMISM IS HEARD AS AUTO MAGNATES MEET

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

South Bend, Ind., July 17.—Optimism was the keynote heard on all sides as magnates of the automobile industry gathered here today for the mid-summer meeting of the board of directors of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce at Twyckenham, home of A. R. Erskine, president of the Studebaker corporation.

ALFRED REEVES.

Declaring that the worst of the business depression has passed, Alfred Reeves, general manager of the chamber, declared that "there is every indication of improvement from now on."

"Based on the reports of the country's leading economists, business seems to have hit the bottom," he continued. "Low inventories, easy money and reduced production during the first six months of the year have combined to produce an exceedingly healthy condition in the automobile industry."

QUARTERLY NET OF KRESGE CO. IS $3,886,380

New York, July 17.—(AP)—The S. S. Kresge company today reported for the quarter ended June 30 net income of $3,886,380, equal after dividend requirements on the 7 per cent preferred stock, to 70 cents a share on the $10 par common stock, compared with $2,759,000, or 49 cents a share in the preceding quarter, and $3,835,475, or 69 cents a share in the second quarter last year.

Net profit for the six months ended June 30 totaled $6,645,380, equal to $1.19 a share, compared with $7,013,456, or $1.26 a common share in the corresponding period last year.

The Budd Wheel company of Philadelphia and Detroit reported for the second quarter net earnings of $511,518, equal to 40 cents per common share, compared with $662,881, or 71 cents a share in the like quarter last year. Earnings for the first quarter this year were equivalent to 40 cents per share.

Bavaria Asks Permit to Float $30,240,000 Loan

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 17.—The Bavarian government has asked for the authorization of the German parliament to issue an internal or foreign long term loan of 126,000,000 marks [approximately $30,240,000], according to reports from Berlin today. The last Bavarian issues sold here were $15,000,000 6½s, offered in September, 1925, at prices to yield from 6½ to 7.63 per cent, and $10,000,000 6½s in July, 1926, at 92¾, both being sold through the Equitable Trust company and Harris, Forbes & Co.

STEEL CHIEF DOESN'T KNOW WHERE HIS BONUS COMES FROM

Youngstown, O., July 17.—(AP)—Eugene G. Grace receives a salary of $12,000 yearly as president of Bethlehem Steel corporation, he testified today in the suit to enjoin a merger of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company with his firm. He testified further he was unable to determine how much bonus he will receive for the last three months. The bonus, his opponents have asserted, has yielded him around $1,600,000 a year.

"The factor used to determine my bonus," said Grace, is 1½ per cent."

"One and one-half per cent of what?" asked plaintiffs' attorney, Luther Day of Cleveland.

"I'm sorry I can't explain more clearly," answered Grace, "but I only know that the factor used is 1½ per cent."

"Is it out of the consolidated earnings after certain deductions are made?"

"Who does know?" asked Day.

"What is your present salary with Bethlehem?"

Both Judge David G. Jenkins and the bailiff rapped for order as a wave of laughter went over the courtroom. Grace said about fourteen or fifteen executives of Bethlehem share in the bonus divided by the corporation.

From Mr. Grace's factor of 1½ per cent observers deduced that his bonus last year was around $738,000, if figured on net earnings.

FURNITURE CHAIN SALES COMPARE WELL WITH 1929

Sales of furniture by the largest group of retail furniture stores in the country, in point of units sold, were higher during the first six months of 1930 than during the corresponding months of 1929. In point of dollars and cents sales were only 9 per cent lower in 1930 than in 1929.

This information was contained in the semi-annual report yesterday of the Century Furniture Associates, Inc., a chain of 48 locally owned retail stores, submitted at a meeting of directors at the American Furniture mart.

Dutch Rubber Producers' Vote Favors Restriction

AMSTERDAM, Holland, July 17.—(AP)—Dutch rubber producers, meeting here today, adopted by 103 to 18 a proposal of the joint committee of British and Dutch producers to negotiate with the Dutch-Indian government for restriction of all producers, including native, to 75 per cent of the 1929 crop.

General Motors Dealer Sales in June Are 97,318

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 17.—One of the largest cash transactions in the history of the oil industry, the sale by the Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation of its 50 per cent interest in the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing company and the Sinclair Pipe Line company to the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, the owner of the other 50 per cent, for $72,500,000, was announced yesterday by Harry F. Sinclair, chairman of the Sinclair board.

H. F. SINCLAIR. [Assoc. Press Photo.]

The sale, which must be approved by the stockholders of the Sinclair company, will result in a net profit to the Sinclair company of more than $38,000,000, as its total investment in those two companies was announced as being $34,189,000.

Plans New Steps.

Since the sale of Sinclair's interest in these two companies to the Standard Oil Company of Indiana was believed contingent on the successful conclusion of negotiations for the purchase by the Sinclair company of the Prairie Oil and Gas company and the Prairie Pipe Line company, it is understood that the deal for the acquisition of these companies has been concluded, although no official statement directly to this effect was issued. However, Mr. Sinclair, in his announcement, stated that his company had in view steps which would amply protect it with respect to crude oil supply and pipe line facilities to take the place of those now to be disposed of.

The physical taking over of the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing company and the Sinclair Pipe Line company by the Indiana company will probably not take place until about Jan. 1 next. Simultaneously with the taking over of these companies by Indiana, it is believed that both the Prairie Oil and Gas company and the Prairie Pipe Line company will be taken over by the Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation. The Prairie Oil and Gas is engaged almost exclusively in the production and purchasing of crude oil in the mid-continent and Texas areas.

Expect Outside Financing.

Although the directors of the Indiana company have not officially approved the contract of purchase of the Sinclair companies, the announcement of the Sinclair company stated that such action is expected immediately. In view of the huge amount of cash involved in the transaction, it was thought in the financial district today that the Indiana company would probably be required to do some outside financing. It is believed that any outside financing would be small, since the balance sheet of the company on Dec. 31 last shows cash, government securities, and miscellaneous investments amounting to $122,692,246.

The Sinclair Pipe Line company has 6,878 miles of trunk and gathering lines operating in the Texas, Wyoming and mid-continent oil fields. Total assets at the close of last year were $96,808,666.

The Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing company at the end of 1929 had 36,446,000 barrels of crude oil in storage. At the close of last year the total assets of this company were $120,352,029.

Plans for absorption of the Lago Oil and Transport corporation by the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport company, which controls the former, were announced today as another step in the movement toward consolidation in the oil industry.

Finds Endowed Activities Represent Immense Capital

BY SCRUTATOR.

Business operated on a not for profit basis plays a greater part in the affairs of Cook county residents today than is generally recognized. What is meant here is not industry that is involuntarily without profits, but philanthropic enterprises that don't want them in money.

An estimate that is almost as good as a balance sheet, made up of actual figures extended to cover the whole field, is that there is an invested capital of more than a half billion dollars in endowed educational, health, charitable and social welfare activities in the county.

Not included are the institutions operated for profit, those supported by taxation and churches and other purely religious organizations. Barring these, there are still left some 400 bodies receiving important donations either for current expenditures or endowments.

Funds Grow Greater.

And their funds grow greater each year. In 1928, by their own statistics, 189 of the large organizations had net worth, or book value, of 291 million dollars. At the end of 1929 the same bodies had net worth of 314 million dollars. These institutions furnish the basis on which the guess is made that the total net worth has risen from 475 to 480 million dollars to more than 500 million.

Attempts to guess how much the total net worth of the non-profit welfare work in the area, if church properties and the public's own holdings were added to those mentioned, would be futile. Who could put a commercial value on the city's parks, on the beaches, the forest preserves or the religious institutions if good will were added for them? However, a billion dollars would be certainly too low.

Even the figures on the 400 are approximations. Many of them are tax free, and not being operated for profit they do not keep their books as a dividend paying corporation keeps them. The figures named in general cover the amount that has actually been put into them.

Makes Analysis.

About a year ago the Chicago Community trust, of which Frank D. Loomis is secretary, analyzed 204 institutions and found they had property in use that had cost 174 million dollars and had invested to produce income about 125 million dollars. They expended that year more than thirty-six million dollars and added over twelve millions to their capital. The increase in 1929 was considerably larger.

It is not to be assumed that these institutions had no income except from gifts or gift funds. As a whole they obtained about $5 in each $9 expended from earnings. Educational institutions got about half their expenses thus; character building bodies, like the Y. M. C. A. and similar organizations, and hospitals got a larger proportion from those they served.

Large figures sometimes are tiresome, but the income from that half billion of endowed philanthropy alone means $6 or more for each person in Cook county each year.

PEOPLES GAS ECONOMIES AID INCREASE IN NET

Although it suffered some decline in gross revenues as a result of business conditions, the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company during the quarter ending June 30 bettered its net profits in comparison with the previous quarter of this year and the same quarter of 1929. The gross revenue was $10,270,543 for the quarter in comparison with $10,738,216 during the previous quarter and $10,575,555 for the like quarter of 1929.

The net profit for the quarter just ended was $1,801,855, in comparison with $1,768,726 for the preceding quarter and $1,795,755 for the corresponding period of 1929. The gain resulted from economies in operation. For the first six months of 1930 the net profit was $6,870,823, against $6,529,932 for the same period in 1929.

Cities Service Reports Big Gain in Earnings

Cities Service company established a new high record for twelve months with net earnings for the period ending June 30 of $54,460,129, an increase of $17,000,000—46.31 per cent—over the net earnings of the previous twelve months' period. For June the net earnings were $5,059,634, an increase of 48.65 per cent over June, 1929.

FILE BANKRUPTCY PETITION AGAINST MORTGAGE FIRM

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy against the Continental Mortgage Bond company, 20 West Jackson boulevard, was filed in the federal court yesterday. Attorney William Shapiro, representing the petitioners, said the concern declared assets of $1,117,818 and liabilities of $252,260 in a statement filed with the secretary of state last April.

A. C. THOMPSON. [Chambers Photo.]

The petitioning creditors and their claims are Edward R. Burt & Co., certified public accountants, $1,726; Blakely Printing company, $287, and the Weber-Bayer Printing company, $471.

The petition names A. C. Thompson as president and R. O. Berg as secretary of the company and former Judge George F. Barrett as a member of the board of directors.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 17.—Traders of the bear persuasion continued to growl and make faces at the stock ticker as the share lists plugged on to still higher levels in utter defiance of the portents and prophets today.

It begins to look like something really serious has happened to that "technical reaction" long supposed to be waiting just around the corner. A number of people were agreeing today, indeed, that it might never happen at all now, with business conditions seemingly somewhat on the mend and everything.

Quite a good sized batch of important gains were run up on the buying orders that came in today. American Can, with an advance of 4⅝ points, Johns-Manville up 5½, Eastman Kodak 5, Allied Chemical and Dye 5, Air Reduction 3¼, National Cash Register 11¼, New York Central 3½, and Worthington Pump 3¼—these were a few of the reasons for the hosannahs that went up from the bull camp in the cool of the evening.

Selective Buying.

True, the buying was of a highly selective quality, but the favorites were widely enough distributed to give the whole list a rather aggressive look. Oils were in brisk demand as a group and the amusements returned to greater prominence en masse. An assortment of specialties took turns giving signs of reviving speculative interest.

Among the market leaders, Consolidated Gas found new buyers, American Telephone met with good demand advancing 3½ points, and Westinghouse bettered its rating a point or so. Steel more than held its own, and General Electric made it a draw with its assailants. General Motors was fractionally higher most of the time, but wound up a trifle off.

Rails were inconspicuous, but a few of them, including Delaware and Hudson and Baltimore and Ohio, in addition to Central, recognized leader of the group, advanced 2 points or so each.

The coppers were a trifle better for no particular reason, although John D. Ryan, chairman of Anaconda, was reported to have said in Butte, Mont., that any vigorous upturn in general trade would soon settle the question of surplus red metal stocks in the right way.

BEARS GROWL IN PROTEST WHILE STOCKS CLIMB

Buying Orders Responsible for Advance.

Operators in Vanadium who have the advantage of a small floating supply of the stock were able to force the price above 103 and give the shorts a bit of a scare. A report that the company, in its forthcoming semi-annual report, will be able to show net of $2,150,000, equivalent to $5 a share, helped the mischief makers in their work.

Market Feature.

Among the low priced shares which developed fresh activity today after having advanced rather vigorously in the previous session, Texas Pacific Land Trust was a notable feature. Strength here was looked upon as possibly foreshadowing early announcement of the redemption of another sizable block of the sub-shares now outstanding. Several months ago the company stated that 10,500 shares additional had been redeemed, thus continuing the fixed policy of gradual retirement.

News as it developed was somewhat more cheerful in tone though the sluggishness ruling in the leading commodity markets continued to focus attention to the detriment of the constructive cause.

Money again ruled easy, renewing at 1 per cent and working down to 1½ per cent in the outside market. Transactions amounted to 2,497,870 shares.

News and Gossip of Stock Markets

Interest in Oils.

Traders are beginning to display keener interest in the oils. This group has had excellent market leadership in the last week in Standard Oil of New Jersey and now many of the secondary issues have joined in. Recently, the statistical situation has shown considerable improvement, especially as it affects curtailment of gasoline production. Better earnings for the second half year would certainly result from additional progress in this direction.

Otis Elevator.

The technical situation in Otis Elevator, according to those who have known the stock rather well in the past, has been materially improved in the last few weeks, with-most offerings around the recent low levels going into investment hands. Earnings for the first six months of the year were about 16 per cent below 1929, though a fair margin above dividends was shown. Net income equaled $1.49 a share, as compared with $1.78 in the previous year.

Pierce-Arrow Earnings.

One of the apparently neglected situations cited in the automobile group is that in Pierce-Arrow 6 per cent cumulative preferred. This stock earned $34.21 a share in 1929. Earnings for the first six months of 1930 are estimated as being equal to about twice the dividend for the entire year. At around present levels the stock returns about 8 per cent.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, July 17.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was unchanged today at 3.25c for spots, duty paid, and 3.24c for ex-store sugars and duty free. Raw futures were generally steady, more on an improved technical position and scarcity of offerings rather than on any fresh factors in the news. Of the day's turnover of 38,000 tons, about 15,000 tons consisted of exchanges from near months to later deliveries. Prices follow:

CHICAGO STOCK PRICES SWEEP STILL HIGHER

Public Service Company Rises 8½ Points.

Another day of advances was recorded by the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday, making it a clean week so far this week for the bull side of the market. Sales were somewhat under the volume of the previous day, and while prices did not advance at quite the same rate as on Wednesday, still the tone of the market was steady at the close.

Auburn again performed in spectacular fashion, opening at Wednesday's price of 132, it at one time reached 141 and then eased down to close at 137—a gain of 5 points for the day. Allied Motor, Bendix, Borg-Warner, and Houdaille were up fractionally on a moderate volume of business.

Wins Day's Honors.

Public Service of Northern Illinois ran away with the honors of the day by climbing 8½ points to close at 275½ on a small transfer. Insull Utilities preferred, second series, moved upward 3 points to a 93 finish. North American Light and Power at 70¼ was up 2¼. Middle West on a turnover of 20,000 shares was ½ point to the good, finishing at 30½.

Missouri-Kansas Pipe line recaptured 1¾ points of the previous day's loss to finish at 21, with 7,300 shares traded in. Cities Service, on a turnover of 7,100 shares, was up ⅝.

In the general list Beatrice Creamery climbed 5⅝ points to finish at 82¾. C. H. Haskell, president of the company, has called a meeting of the stockholders for Aug. 8 to vote on a proposal to increase the authorized preferred stock from 80,000 to 125,000 shares and the authorized common stock from 500,000 shares to 750,000 shares.

Provides for Expansion.

If the stockholders ratify the proposal the Beatrice company will have an authorized capitalization of $50,000,000, of which $12,500,000 will be in $100 par 7 per cent preferred stock and $37,500,000 will be in $50 par common. Mr. Haskell said the proposed increase is to provide for future expansion. The Beatrice company has plants in ninety-five cities and towns in fifteen states.

Castle went up 2½ points to close at 44¼, and Modine, in finishing at 52½, was 2 points to the good. Bastian-Blessing was up 1¼, finishing at 36.

Grigsby, in the radios, declined ½ point on a turnover of 22,700 shares, finishing at 14. Majestic Household also shaded down ½ point to 36½. Investment trusts were steady, with slight changes. Sales for the day on the exchange totaled 186,000 shares

CHICAGO CURB EXCHANGE STOCKS

Borin Vivitone common was in good demand on the Chicago curb yesterday and provided the feature both in volume and gain. The issue spurted 2 points on a turnover of 1,700 shares. Reliance of Ohio was over a point higher and fractional gains appeared in Houston Oil and Fox Theaters. American Corporation stock and warrants were steady and Corporate Trust shares gained a fraction.

Interlake Iron.

Please give me some general information about Interlake Iron, together with the dividend rate and your opinion of its stock.—D. E. L.

The business of Interlake Iron corporation was established in 1905. Until Dec. 9, 1929, when the present title was adopted, the concern was known as the By-Products Coke corporation. It is engaged in the manufacture of pig iron, coke, and by-products from coal. Sales of coke during the winter and gas sales throughout the year afford the company a diversification in revenue which tends to stabilize its operations. Surplus gas output is sold to Peoples Gas Light and Coke Company of Chicago and iron ore requirements are protected by a long term contract with Pickands, Mather & Co. of Cleveland.

As a result of acquisitions the corporation now ranks as the leading producer of merchant pig iron. It furnishes all grades of pig iron to malleable iron companies, foundries, and producers of special steels.

Earnings have followed an upward course since 1924. Net profit last year was $2,002,639, against $1,354,124 in 1928, $1,030,227 in 1927, $1,276,900 in 1926, and $874,571 in 1925.

After dividends in 1929 there was a surplus for the year of $1,242,732. Total surplus as of Dec. 31, 1929, was $4,787,448. None of the above figures include Zenith Furnace company, Perry Furnace company, or Toledo Furnace company, which were recently acquired.

Net profit for the first quarter of the current year was $764,906, equal to 38 cents per share, based on 2,000,000 no par common shares.

Canadian National Railways.

Will you give me an opinion on the following: 1. Canadian National equipment trust 4½s, due 1938, series L. Are they guaranteed? 2. Cleveland Electric Illuminating common and the range of price for last year.—M. A. J.

1. Canadian National Railways equipment trust 4½s, series L, are sound. They are guaranteed unconditionally as to principal and interest by Canadian National Railway company.

2. Cleveland Electric Illuminating company common is considered a high grade stock. In 1929 the present no par common shares ranged between 50⅛ and 118¾ on the New York curb.

GOVT. SCORES A POINT IN BIG OIL MERGER TRIAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 17.—The government won a partial victory today in its suit to prevent the merger of the Standard Oil Company of New York and the Vacuum Oil company when it introduced, without revealing their names, comparative sales figures for New York and New England of two of Socony's competitors.

Yesterday the defendants objected to the figures before Frederick L. Williams, special master, but overnight an agreement was reached by which the defendants withdrew objections, but stipulated they did not concede there are not companies with larger annual sales than companies "A and B," as they are designated in the evidence.

The tables give the total sales of petroleum products during 1929 for Socony territory and the sales of Socony, Vacuum, Shell, and "A" and "B" companies in that area. Figures for the Shell company were taken from figures submitted at an earlier hearing.

Gasoline sales appearing on the table follow: Total, 50,831,000 barrels. Socony, 17,106,881; Vacuum, 545,800; company "A," 3,977,738; company "B," 5,856,339; Shell, 2,049,000; all other companies, 21,294,796.

Percentages, according to figures of Mr. Lewis, were: Socony, 33.7; Vacuum,, 1.1; company "A," 7.8; company "B," 11.5; Shell, 4; and all others, 41.9.

John H. Amen, special assistant United States attorney general, explained that companies "A" and "B" had positively refused in response to a subpœna to supply statistics relating to their business unless they were put in the record under a symbol.

SHENANDOAH AND BLUE RIDGE BOTH GAIN IN ASSETS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 17.—The Shenandoah and Blue Ridge corporations showed increases of net assets of $6,080,468 and $2,876,239, respectively, in the six months ended June 30, according to information now in the hands of dealers in the stocks. The latter company is a subsidiary of the former.

Net assets of the Shenandoah corporation, based on closing market prices of June 30, after deduction of liabilities of $7,222,842 and after deducting gross holding reserves, amounted to $104,352,591, as compared with $98,272,123, as reported at the end of 1929. In this valuation the corporation's holdings of common stock of the Blue Ridge corporation are taken on the basis of market prices of its underlying assets less reserves.

It is reported that inasmuch as the securities of both Shenandoah and Blue Ridge had a total market value on June 30 of less than their book value as a reserve against investments, it was decided to carry for the time being all stock dividends received during the six months. For the same reason profits and losses from the sale of securities are regarded as capital transaction, and net book profits realized during the period are likewise carried as a reserve against investments.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 17.—First contracts for the construction of the $100,000,000 one thousand mile 24 inch pipe line from the Texas natural gas fields to the city of Chicago have been awarded by the Continental Construction company of Kansas City, Mo., to Sheehan Brothers of Tulsa, Okla.; Bachtel & Kaiser of San Francisco; Ford, Bacon & Davis, Inc., New York City, and Smith Brothers, Dallas, Tex.

The Continental Construction company was formed by Cities Service, Insull, Southwestern Development, Standard of New Jersey, Texas, Skelly, Phillips and Columbian Carbon companies to construct this pipe line. These companies have a supply of natural gas in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas available for the pipe line said to exceed seven trillion cubic feet, and plan to serve over fifty cities and communities en route to Chicago.

LACK OF BUYING BLAMED FOR DROP IN WHEAT MART

Bulk of News Favorable to Holders.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Local operators made an effort to advance wheat values yesterday and were fairly successful for a time, but selling on resting orders against offers and hedging pressure filled buyers up and toward the last there was fairly general selling on reports of further showers in the Canadian northwest.

Prices dropped 2@2⅛c from the early high and to within 1c of the lowest figures of the season, with the finish at net losses of ⅞@1c. July was 87c; September, 90⅛@90¼c to 90⅜c, and December, 96⅛@96¼c at the last.

The greatest part of the day's news was favorable to holders, but there is not sufficient new buying coming into the market to offset the effect of hedging sales. The latter were persistent, both by local handlers and houses with southwestern connections. Winnipeg eased with Chicago and was off ⅜@1c at the last despite reports of black rust having made its appearance in Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

Official reports showed that 17 points out of 66 in Canada received some moisture Wednesday night, but the heaviest rainfall was only ½ inch. Further showers were shown at some points during the day, although the forecast was for generally fair and somewhat cooler.

Cut Spring Wheat Estimates.

There is a decided disposition shown to lower estimates on the spring wheat crop both sides of the international line. Nat C. Murray in his semi-monthly report gave the four American northwestern states 171,000,000 bu, or 19,000,000 bu less than the government's July 1 figures and 5,000,000 bu less than harvested last year.

R. O. Cromwell, the Lamson Brothers' observer, wired from Swift Current, Saskatchewan, that conditions did not appear as good toward carrying through to the finish to maintain his July 1 estimate of 376,000,000 bu for the prairie provinces as they were last year to carry through his July 15 estimate of 271,000,000 bu, but with favorable weather from now on the three provinces might make 400,000,000 bu. Last year's crop was 276,000,000 bu. The Van Dusen-Harrington report on the American northwest said it now looked as though the crop might fall below the average.

There were intimations of considerable activity in export circles at the seaboard, with international houses taking No. 1 and No. 2 hard winter on a large scale, but no figures as to the amount of sales were given. Foreign crop news was unfavorable, with threshing returns showing disappointing yields in France. So far no official estimates as to the crop have been received from that country.

Liverpool wheat finished ¾@1d lower, with October there 15⅜c over Chicago September at the last compared with 14⅞c over at the time it closed on Wednesday.

Corn Crop Damaged.

Iowa corn crop was cut down probably 20,000,000 bu from the government's July 1 figures as the result of the recent intense heat, according to the detailed Iowa weather crop summary. Private reports from the southwest claimed that unless rains came shortly Texas, Oklahoma, and Kansas would have a near crop failure. The unfavorable crop comments led to buying of futures early, but a bulge of ¾@1c led to profit taking and selling against offers, and later the local element sold on the weakness in wheat and prospects for showers and cooler weather over the belt. The finish was unchanged to ⅛c lower, with July, 80⅞@81c; September, 77⅛c, and December, 70⅛@70¼c.

No. 2 yellow corn at Kansas City sold yesterday at 81@81¼c, while No. 2 hard winter wheat brought 77¼@85c, and at one time the quotations on the blackboard at Chicago showed July corn about 6c under the same delivery of wheat.

Price of oats is so low that farmers are showing little disposition to sell to arrive, and one of the leading local houses that normally has 1,000,000 to 2,000,000 bu booked to come here at this season has less than 50,000 bu bought so far. It is figured that after freight and other charges, including harvesting and threshing expenses, that the producer will net only 20c per bu for his grain. Futures were firm early, but eased later and closed ⅛c higher to ¼c lower, with July, 34⅛c, and September, 36⅛c.

Spreaders bought December rye and sold wheat and there was also short covering. The market showed independent strength and closed ⅝@1¼c higher, with July, 49⅝c, and September, 52⅞c.

ASK STOCKHOLDERS TO DEPOSIT SHARES FOR NORTHERNS' MERGER

New York, July 17.—(AP)—The stockholders' committee for the merger of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railways sent a notice to stockholders tonight advocating that they leave their shares on deposit so that the committee may continue its efforts to complete the consolidation, despite the delay imposed by the failure of the house of representatives to act on the Couzens resolution before adjournment.

The notice, which was made public at the offices of J. P. Morgan & Co., announced that stock and certificates of deposit would be made freely interchangeable for a period of at least three months, and thereafter until 40 days after the committee has reached a decision on a modified merger plan to comply with conditions imposed by the interstate commerce commission.

GRANTS RIGHT TO SAUNDERS STORE CHAIN RECEIVER

Memphis, Tenn., July 17.—(AP)—Federal Judge Harry B. Anderson today granted Leslie M. Stratton, receiver for the bankrupt Clarence Saunders Stores, Inc., permission to apply to judges of other federal districts for appointment as receiver of each of the 153 stores scattered throughout the south. Stratton said the move today was a technical one to enable him to direct the stores in each federal district.

Saunders announced today that he made plans to inaugurate a new system, based on "new ideas" which he would not divulge in detail.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Heavy hedging sales of wheat futures against purchases in the southwest and in the middle west encourages bears to sell wheat in all bulges, regardless of unfavorable weather and crop conditions in the northwestern spring wheat sections on both sides of the international line. This pressure remains in the pit and proves a weight on the market that the trade is unable to absorb. The short interest was said to have been greatly reduced on the early advance and the constant fear of rains intimidates all but the strongest operators to take the buying side except on sharp breaks.

"It is quite true that the crest of the movement is already over in Texas and Oklahoma," says the Uhlmann Grain company, "but new territories are taking their places. Omaha had very heavy receipts and Nebraska will furnish large quantities of wheat for a long time. Northern and western Kansas will enter into competition with other states, the crop there being late."

Sanford Evans, the Winnipeg statistician, says Canadian crop prospects have altered to some slight extent since their last detailed report on July 14. Since that time the hot weather, unrelieved by appreciable rain, has prevailed, and will accentuate poor conditions in dry areas. Further damage must have been done in south and parts of central Saskatchewan, southern Alberta and if relieving rains are not experienced soon, these parts will show losses, but the Peace river and parts of northern Saskatchewan would be benefited by a limited amount of heat.

RAILROAD EARNINGS

ILLINOIS CENTRAL.

June net railway operating income is estimated at about $1,400,000, or only slightly under net of $1,494,383 in June, 1929. June gross was about $12,300,000, a decrease of almost $2,000,000 from gross of $14,282,226 in the same month a year ago. The decrease in gross was almost entirely offset by continued drastic reduction in expenses. June gross last year showed an increase of almost $500,000 and net an increase of over $300,000, as compared with June, 1928. With June estimated six months gross was about $78,600,000, against $89,032,016 last year, and six months net railway operating income was over $9,700,000, against $12,856,810 in the like 1929 period.

CHICAGO AND ALTON.

Reports gross operating revenue for last month of $2,017,746, or $335,855 below June, 1929. Net operating deficit for the month was $60,921, against net operating income of $267,864. Deficit after charges at $438,287 was over four times the deficit reported in the same month last year. This is a poorer showing than that made for May of this year.

For the six months, gross operating revenue of $12,315,130 was a drop of $1,636,630 from the first half of 1929. The road managed to come through with net operating income of $103,191, a slump of $1,300,864, but went in the red after charges with a deficit of $2,286,192, over twice the deficit for the corresponding 1929 period.

FEEDING LAMB FUTURES

The first bid on the new feeding lamb futures market, which opened at Chicago Wednesday, was made yesterday at $7.50 on medium wool mountain stock averaging 57662 lbs. for delivery during the first half of August. The buyer, an Illinois feeder, was willing to take upwards to 1,200 head at this figure, but there are no offers below $8.00, and few are willing to bid that figure. There was considerable inquiry around $7.00 for good light weights for August and September delivery, but no sales were made.

Top yesterday, $10.75; average, $9.85.

A substantial decrease in receipts yesterday brought the hog market up mostly 25@30c, both the top and general average prices showing 30c gain at $9.80 and $8.75, respectively. Better grades cleared quickly at the full strength, while others closed slow after urgent orders had been filled. However, salesmen held a stronger position and were keeping some hogs off the market on the strength of the light supply estimated for today.

Chicago expects only 14,000 today, against 20,786 last Friday. Yesterday's arrivals at 18,000 were 11,000 smaller than a week ago and compared with 22,010 a year ago.

Hog Futures Higher.

Hog futures ruled strong to 10c higher yesterday, with volume of trading larger than on preceding sessions this week. Buying again centered on September contracts.

Light weights for that month sold at $9.55. Mediums opened at $9.45 and closed at $9.50 and heavy grades for September were sold at $9.30. July mediums were offered at $9.50 and bid $9.30. December light, mediums and heavy were offered at $8.50 and carried bids of $8.25, $8.30 and $8.40 respectively, at the close.

A shortr un of cattle blocked further price cuts yesterday and bulk of offerings met the outlet at the recent sharp loss. Prices were $1.00@1.25 under the close of last week in most instances, with some yearlings off 50@75c for the week.

Top at $10.50 was paid for choice weighty beeves, but few were good enough to bring more than $9.75. The bulk sold at $8.25@9.50, some plain quality 1,368 lb averages going as low as $7.70 and common 1,111 lb beef steers at $6.50.

Cows and heifers were dull at the week's $1.00@1.50 decline. Calves declined 25c, selling $1.50 under the high point Tuesday. Stockers and feeders were slow and weak.

Lambs Slump Again.

Another break of 25c carried lamb prices fully 75c below the high point Tuesday. The $11.00 quotation went on the "shelf" when top western range lambs dropped to $10.75, the bulk going at $10.25@10.75.

Closely sorted natives sold largely at $10.25, only a few "hand picked" finds to city butchers reaching $10.50. Aged sheep and yearlings were scarce and unchanged. Feeding lambs sold steady to uneyenly lower.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 1,500 cattle, 14,000 hogs and 11,000 sheep, against 2,711 cattle, 20,786 hogs and 5,514 sheep on the previous Friday and 1,272 cattle, 14,960 hogs and 11,056 sheep a year ago.

LARD PRICES ADVANCE

Lard futures were sold in the early trading yesterday and later the same brokers were good buyers, with some export buying. Hogs were up 15@30c, with receipts lighter than a week and a year ago. Despite the late break in grain, lard closed 5@15c higher. Bellies were offered more freely and had a break of 42½c in July and 15c in September. Prices follow:

COTTON AVERAGE HIGHER

Buying of cotton was erratic yesterday and prices moved up 15 points early as Liverpool was strong and the weather map showed no rain. In the later trading there was selling by operators who thought they saw evidence of showery conditions in Texas and prices eased. Business in all was light and the close of new crop futures in Chicago was at net gains of from 5 to 10 points and other markets up from 6 to 12 points. Liverpool closed with gains of from 4 to 6 points with spot sales 3,000 bales. Spot markets in America were mostly steady. New York being unchanged at 13.55c, New Orleans advanced 10 points to 12.80c, Galveston 12.70c, and Houston 12.60c. Pessimism continues to dominate trading. Prices follow:

OUR USED CAR SALES ARE GREATER THAN LAST YEAR

That is a remarkable record, but here is the reason for this situation: We purposely reduced our prices so they would be considerably under competitors' figures. We realize that this is a buyers' market, so we made it our business to have our cars be the outstanding values in Chicago. Investigate our wonderful bargains now during our

PROSPERITY SALE!

STUDEBAKER COACH. Std. Six that will make an ideal vacation car. Has many valuable extras, chromium finish, and dandy tires. $185.

PACKARD SEDAN. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, spotlight, shock absorbers, spare tire, bumpers, etc. The upholstery, finish and motor are in splendid condition. $350.

NASH SEDAN. Adv. Six 4 dr. that we sincerely believe is the best Nash buy in Chicago. Motor is A1 and the finish is bright and shiny. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $450.

BUICK SEDAN. This late 27-47 Mast. 6 was owned by a prominent manufacturer. The finish, upholstery and tires are in the original new condition and the motor runs very smoothly. Equipped with 4 wheel brakes, shock absorbers, bumpers spare tire, etc. $385.

STUDEBAKER PRESIDENT. 1927 Big Six 7 pass. Sedan that will please the most exacting buyer. Oiled and greased every 500 miles by the original owner. In wonderful condition now. 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $485.

CHRYSLER SEDAN. This six is equipped with 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. Has a sweet running motor. $95.

OAKLAND BROUGHAM. This car must be seen to be appreciated. The finish is bright and shiny and the upholstery appears unworn. 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $195. Also a 1928 OAKLAND COACH, like new, for $395.

STUDEBAKER PHAETON. Special 6. Has thousands of miles of unused transportation. This is an ideal vacation car and will be sold at once at our special price of $95.

CADILLAC VICTORIA. Was given unusual care by the original owner, so it will please you in every particular today. Has a wealth of extra equipment. Special for $85.

HUPMOBILE SEDAN. 1928 that you will be proud to own. It's in A1 mechanically and every detail of the interior appears new. 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, spare tire, bumpers, etc. $595.

STUDEBAKER SEDAN. 1927 Commander finished a smart color. This car was chauffeur driven and the cushions are in top notch condition today. 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $285.

FORD 4 DR. SEDAN. 1929 with very low mileage. Livery feature is in the original new condition. Offered at a big saving.

MARMON SEDAN. Late model little 8 that your neighbors could tell from a brand new car. The finish, upholstery and tires are A1 in every respect. Motor is very efficient. $425.

STUTZ 8 SEDAN. Late model with very low mileage. This is now ultra fast and has a world of power and pep. Has hundreds of dollars' worth of valuable equipment. $545.

GRAHAM-PAIGE SEDAN. 1929 that was driven only Sundays and evenings for pleasure purposes, so it's in wonderful condition today. This car is the last word for snappy line performance and attractive appearance. Special for $485.

BUICK COUPE. 27-28 four pass. Victoria. The finish, upholstery and tires are all in splendid condition. Has 4 whl. brakes, new tires and many extras. Special for $285.
